Every New Season...

Sporting her stylish frames is senior Ali Shaffer. Sexy specs are apparently a new trend at Kilbourne!

Wearing the trend of the season, Brad Davisson proves that not all guys have bed-head. With his blond-tipped spikes and slick-gelled look, this senior is definitely in style!

With her comfy fleece vest, freshman Ashley Shroeder not only stays warm in the cold weather, but she sports a popular new fad of this season.

House of Style

From baggy jeans to mini-skirts, the trends at Kilbourne have come a long way. With fashions constantly changing from week to week, it's hard to keep up with one style before the next one takes over. While some students strictly dress to impress, the dress of others simply projects their personality, mood, and spirit. This year many girls came to school sporting their favorite jeans, fitted pants, three-quarter length skirts, and shirts with all kinds of fancy necklines and varieties of sleeve lengths. While most guys entered the doors of Kilbourne dressed in their undying style of baggy pants and T-shirts, others came decked out in trendy new attire including fleece vests, turtlenecks, and fitted shirts. Anyone walking down the halls of our school will realize that Kilbourne is definitely packed with style!

...Comes With a Trendy Style

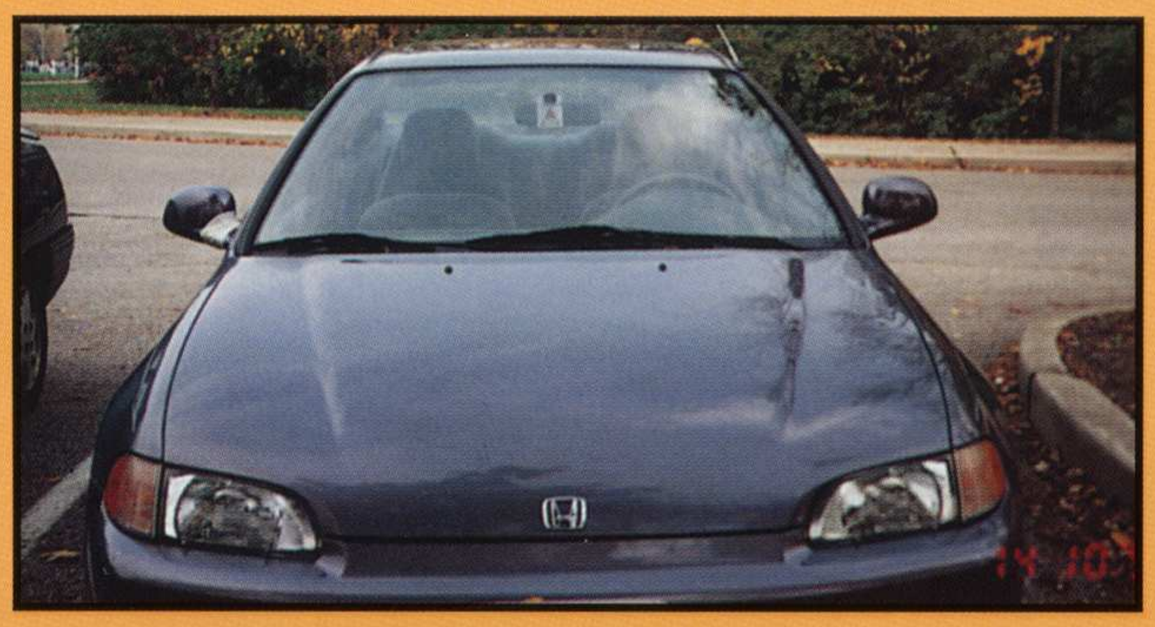
Every New Day. . .



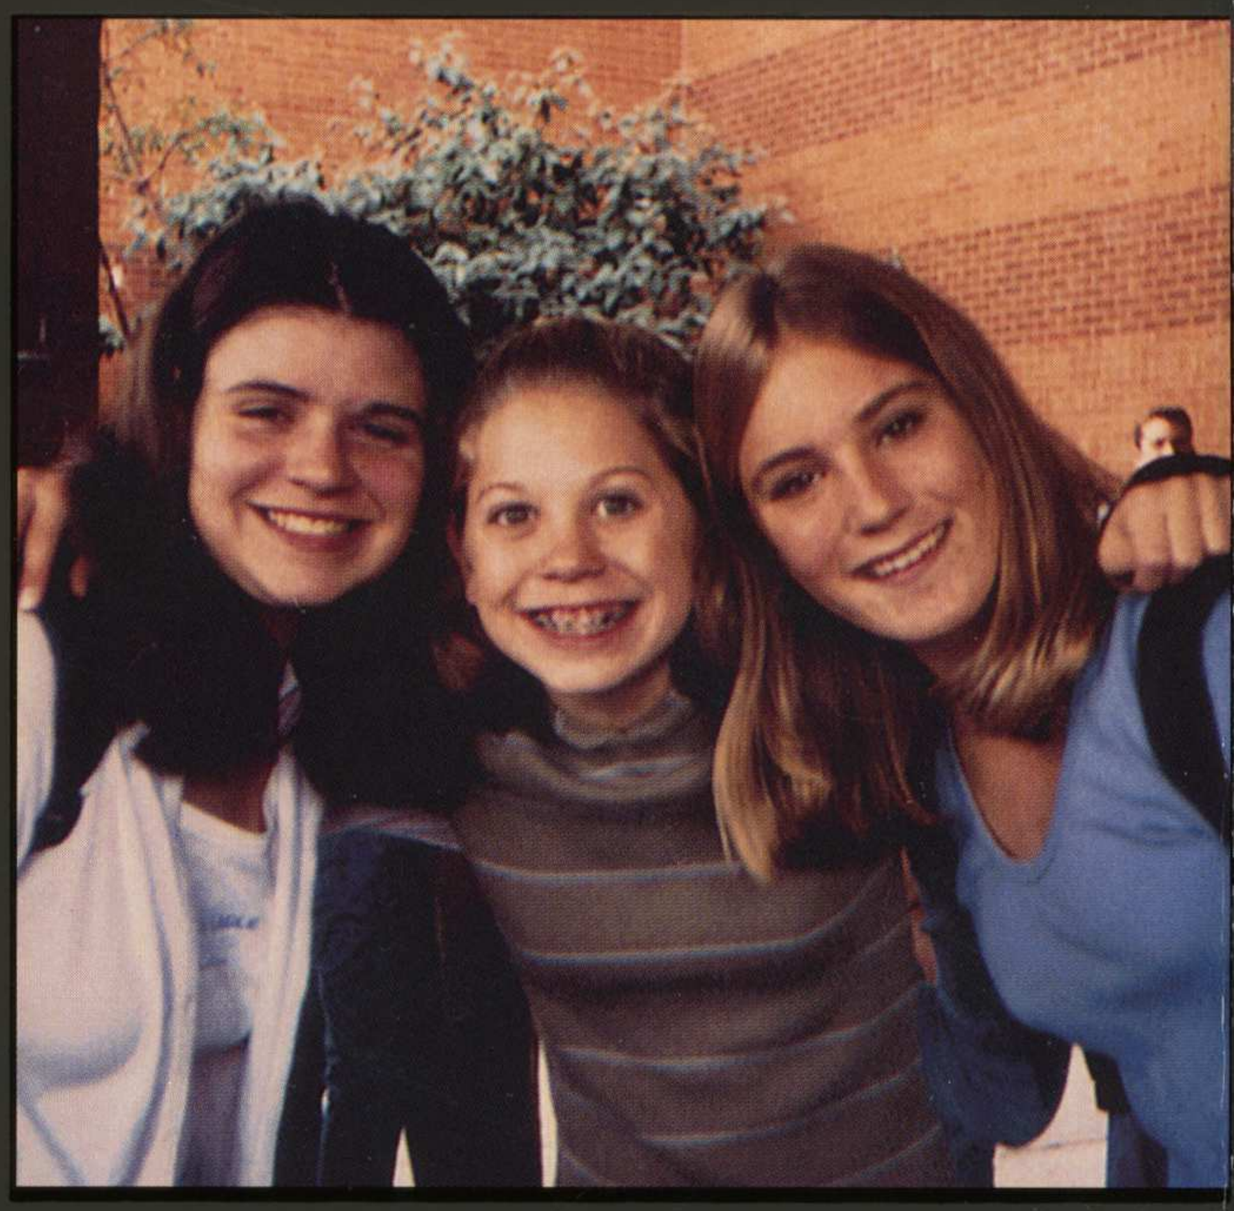
By far, the Honda Civic is the most popular car driven by Kilbourne students. The Honda Accord and Toyota Camry tie at a close second with the Ford Mustang taking third.

Here's one of Kilbounre's five trendy little Volkswagon Bugs. These retro cars made an unexpected comeback a few years ago after their huge success in the 1960's.

King of the parking lot, Papa Stevens, reigns over his car kingdom. Directing traffic every morning and afternoon, the lot would be chaos without him. Students were glad to have him back after his absence early this year.

After school, juniors (left to right) Melissa Holm and Julie Weber think that "this traffic is horrible! It wastes gas!" 58% of Kilbourne students buy their own gas while 35% never do. The other 7% "borrow" their parents' gas card when they need to fill up.

Waiting for the bus can be a time for socializing, as demonstrated by these three friends: (left to right) sophomores Shannon Brouman, Katie Kidwell, and Lara Buros.



Whose Plate is it?

Waiting in traffic is no time to complain! (Left to right) Junior Jason Bowman and senior Link Staffen know that it's a perfect opportunity to pick up girls with their stylish sunglasses, rolled-down windows, and loud bass.

Facts about Kilbourne driving:

-17% of students paid for their own car, 75% put some money into the purchase, and a lucky 8% paid nothing at all.

-69% of Kilbourne drivers have been fortunate during their lives in the fast lane, but 31% have been in at least one accident.

-74% of drivers follow the rules, 21% have suffered a ticket, and 5% claim that they've charmed their way out of getting into trouble with the police.

The Low-Down on Parking

Driving is a huge component of high school life. Here at Worthington Kilbourne, the school day usually begins and ends with a traffic jam, except for those juniors and seniors fortunate enough to have late arrival or early release. Complaints about our parking system range from the size of the lot to juniors taking senior parking spaces to the madness after school. Be grateful though! Yes, the rumors are true; next year the lot will lose sixty to eighty spaces because of construction on Hard Road. How much worse is the traffic going to get?

By Elise Schadler

Every New Week...

These freshman girls certainly don't have the "can't-drive-yet blues!" (Front to Back), Molly Ellifnitz, Amanda VanDoorn, Lauren Rusk, Lindsey Rusk know how to have a good weekend even if they're stuck inside.

Weekend Daze

Looking forward to the long-awaited weekends is a habit we all share. The Wolves winning football team filled many fall weekends as we all followed them to the next game. If a weekend did not offer sporting event, many students "hung out" at the Dublin AMC Theater or at one of the eateries at the Crosswoods. Others were just content to spend time with their friends. Students also attended many of the high school dances, often spending endless hours organizing groups, costumes, and accompanying activities. By Sunday the Worthington Library became "the place to be" as many of us researched or worked on the upcoming projects or papers. No matter what the weekend promised, most of us spent endless evenings preparing for those unstructured, precious weekend days that lay ahead.

Comes After an Exciting Weekend

Every New Semester. . .

For some, group studying proves to be the most effective way to prepare. Junior John Henderson and senior Julie Brown seem to have mastered this skill as they use flash cards to review for their exams.

Turning in his Enriched FST exam, sophomore Neil Gardner gives a look of confidence. "The test wasn't easy," he said after finals week, "but the Gardner-man pulled through like always!"

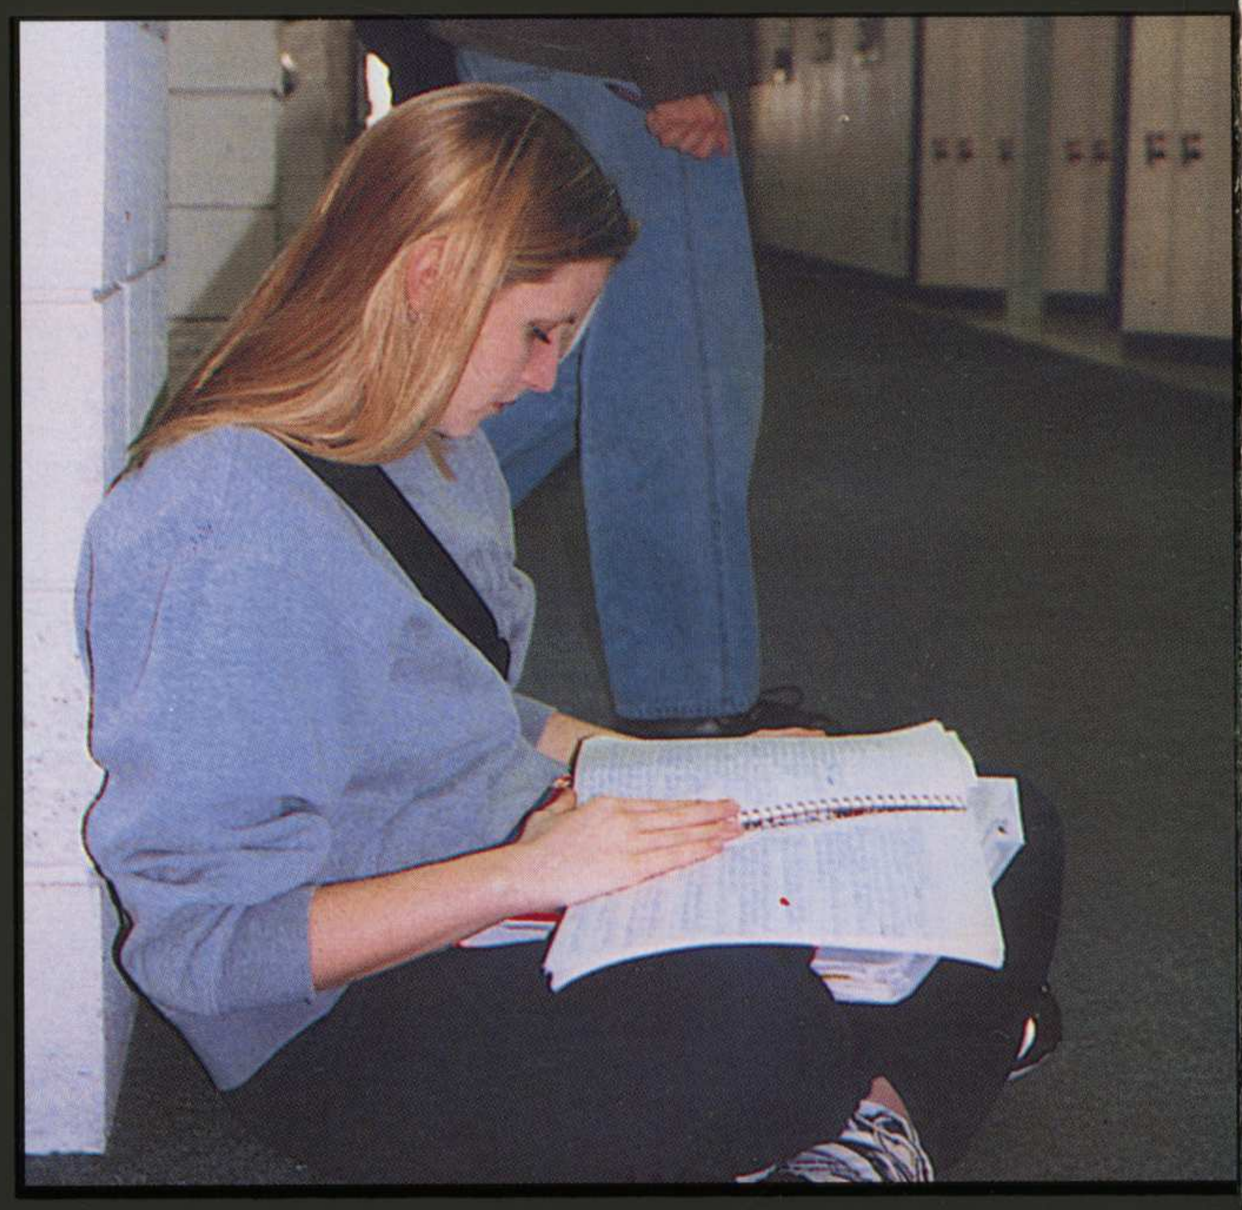
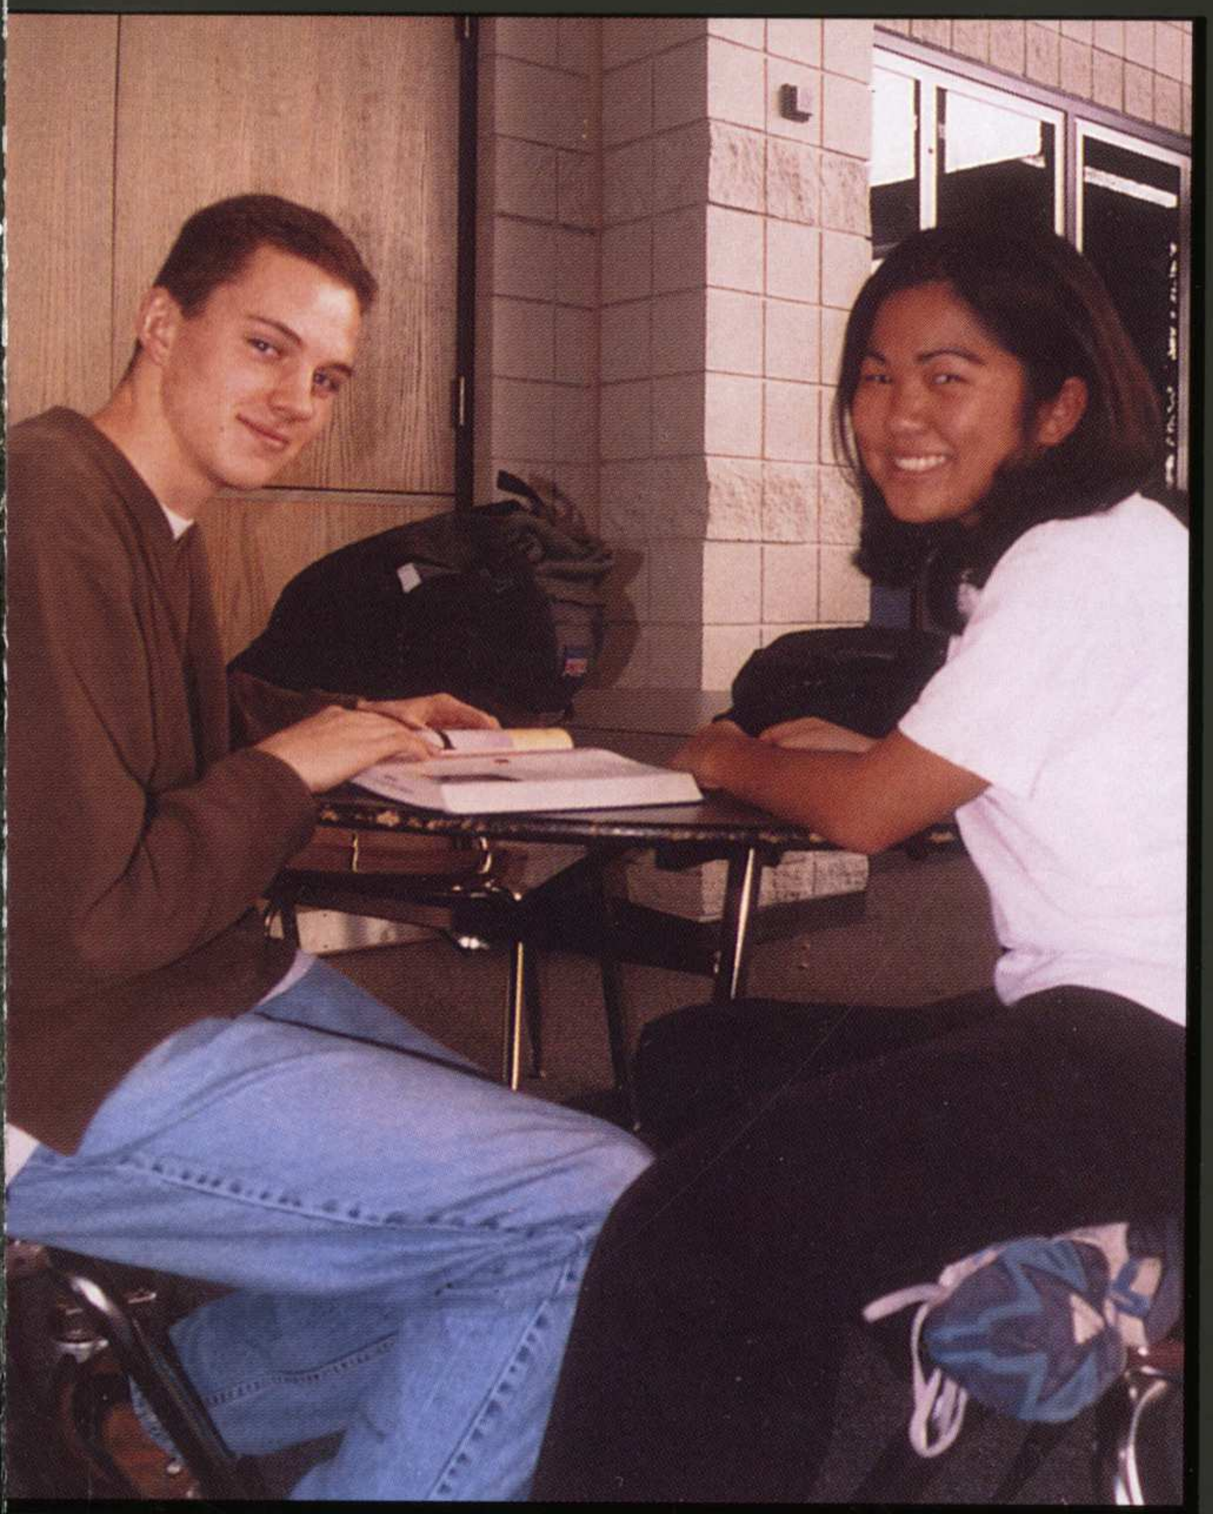
See, juniors Chris Mallory and Shelly Given show us that exams aren't really as bad as they may appear to be. Their smiles are as big as ever!

Amidst the chaos of the upstairs hallway, senior Sarah Grant manages to concentrate on her notes before one of her exams.



Even during exams romance isn't dead. Junior Chris Cook and senior Hatsuho Seino know that they can count on each other in any situation, even during the stressful week of semester finals!



Wait, is there someone hiding behind that pile of books? Yep, it's junior Larisa Tran! During the periods when Kilbourne students didn't have an exam and didn't have a way to get home, many of them gathered in the commons like this workaholic. "I've learned that it's pretty useless to study at home when I can use the commons," she said. "You just gotta cram!"

The Millenium's First Exams

Accompanying the cold weather of January, 2000, were the first semester exams of the new millenium. As always, finals weeks consisted of three days of two-hour exams, sophomores with temporary parking passes, and an atmosphere of stress. The difficulty and importance of each class's test varied, as did the study habits of Kilbourne students. Sophomore Hunter Allen said, "I'm not real big on the whole studying thing. I figure I know what I know and no amount of last-minute cramming will change that too much. So I prefer to relax a little and just glance at the material. It's worked just fine so far." On the other hand, many students pulled all-nighters and attended group study sessions to prepare. Despite how much they studied, every student's dream came true when snow postponed the third day of finals. Everyone enjoyed the respite: a day of sledding, sleeping, and extra hours for studying.

. . . Comes After a Week of Exams

"Yes! I'm done with my last final!" screams junior Mark Ashbaugh. It's time to celebrate! Walking out of Kilbourne for the last time at the end of exams week is a great relief for most everyone.

'Every New Tradition...

Nearly overwhelmed by the growing piles of canned foods, student council members (left to right) Kara Freudeman and Ellen Saslaw contribute their time to package the generous donations.

These lucky students had their birthdays go public! We can always count on our friends to remember our special days!

Showing some brotherly love, Kyle Riddle embraces sister Colleen Riddle after both siblings accepted the honor of homecoming attendant.

Surrounded by the hundreds of gifts for Adopt-a-kid, senior Clement Cheng shows that Christmas isn't just for kids! Generosity and compassion have become tradition at Kilbourne in the past few years.

New Traditions Bring Life to Student Body

From the bright flames of excitement at the homecoming bonfire to the impressive piles of gifts for Adopt-a-kid, we see evidence of the deeply-grounded traditions all over Kilbourne. Rarely do we go a day without being welcomed by a birthday sheet hanging in in the student parking lot or being blinded by the eye-catching clusters of senior shirt groups as they congregate around the balcony. Recently, our school has adopted the tradition of the four themes of sportsmanship, compassion, respect, and honesty, which have helped to shape our character and influenced our integrity. Although Kilbourne is a relatively new school, traditions are not only prized and long-lasting, but they continue to evolve from the creative minds of students every year.

Sitting high on its throne in the student parking lot is our beloved rock. From sporting events to birthdays, this monument is one of the best places to find out what's going on at Kilbourne.

"Aloha!" these seniors greet the school as they show off their school spirit and their love for a more tropical climate. Hawaiian Day took over Kilbourne as students came decked out in bright, floral print and leis galore! We can always count on Holly Trott and Andy Wagener to never miss a spirit day! Their spirit and enthusiasm is a great example of the traditional excitement that accompanies spirit week which leads up to the big homecoming game.

"Kilbourne Football Rules!" cheers Lindsay Lorello as she decorates a spirited poster for her homeroom door before homecoming.

Getting ready to pump up the crowd, Lobo (aka Chris Blackwell) stands on the sidelines, preparing his next cheer.

Spirit Week

As always, spirit week was an exciting time. "Spirit week should be every week," claimed senior Matt Davidson.

Pajama day kicked off the theme dressing. Students did not even have to change clothes to come to school this Monday morning. Tuesday brought Decade day as students adorned themselves in clothes from their favorite decade. On Wednesday, the school heated up with Hawaiian day. Many caught the spirit by wearing hula skirts, colorful flowered skirts, and leis.

Wednesday night was the traditional bonfire including activities such as the pumpkin toss, tug-o-war, relay races, and musical and dance entertainment provided by the band and drill team. Kyle Riddle and Laura Richardson announced the attendants to the spirit-filled crowd: seniors Sarah Davis, Steve Goodall, Kyle Riddle, Jamie Martino, Tabitha Kidwell and Jordan Stockwell; juniors Ellen Saslaw and Demetri Michaelides; sophomores Colleen Riddle and Steve Romanoff; and freshmen Julie Sharpe and Sam Kendall.

On Thursday, teachers were doing double takes with Twin day. Kristen Jensen said, "I loved dressing up with my friends." Last but certainly not least, students wore blue and black or their senior shirts to school on spirit day.

During the homecoming assembly on Friday, king Jordan Stockwell and queen Tabitha Kidwell claimed their thrones. Spirit week kicked off a fun-filled homecoming dance and game we will all remember.

We Will Remember...

I Will Remember, the first formal dance of the year and last of the century, will be one of many events seniors through freshman will always remember. Senior Tina Nyongesa said, "I had a really good time at homecoming this year, but I wish I would've gotten there earlier. Yet being the last homecoming of the century, it was all the more memorable."

The dance served as the climax to an exciting spirit week complete with fun-filled festivities. The night was full of romance for all couples. Student council transformed the commons into a beautiful display of sparkling lights and musical bliss. The handsome king Jordan Stockwell escorted the elegant queen Tabitha Kidwell down the main staircase. After they made their grand entrance, the couple promenaded to the theme song, I Will Remember sung by Madonna. Later, Tabitha Kidwell commented, "Being elected homecoming queen was quite an unexpected honor and a memory I'll carry with me forever."

By Kristen Jensen

"Ok, but this is the last one," say juniors Jenna Gueth, Mike Shirey, Kara Freudeman, and Jordan Cohen.

Celebrating their coronation are king Jordan Stockwell and queen Tabitha Kidwell.

Dancing close, Tyron Jackson puckers up to Devin Dickinsin.

While enjoying the dance, students make homecoming a true success.

Monster Mash

Kilbourne held its first Monster Mash, a huge success. Students wore costumes ranging from the Wizard of Oz to traditional monsters. The cafeteria was decked out in orange and black with the dark lighting setting the spooky scene. The commons glowed with skeleton candles lighting the refreshment table. Students had a blast dancing the night away in the Halloween atmosphere. Sophomore Nicole Gibbons exclaimed, "I hope this tradition continues."

The student bands were part of the reason the Monster Mash was so successful. "Dancing to live music made the dance more fun," said junior Kristine Phillips. The bands which included Skamunist Party and Schmeernie played on stages, but students ended up dancing on them too. We all look forward to continuing this Halloween celebration next year.

By Shannon Mallory

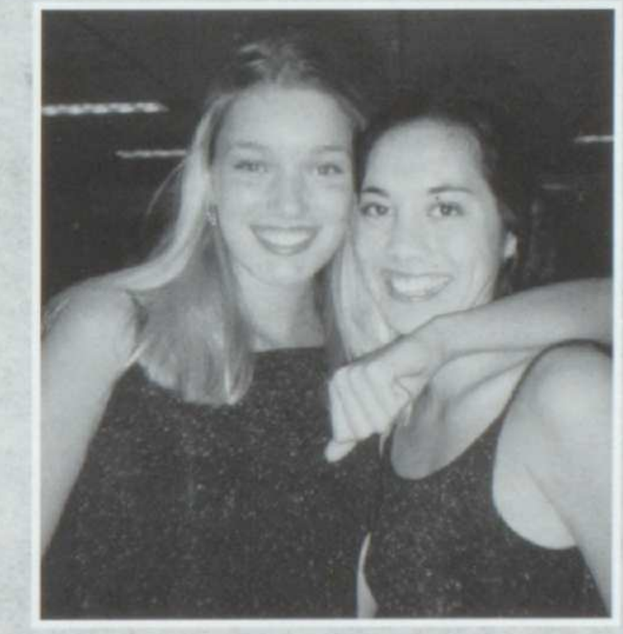
Entertaining his crowd is Tom Kalgreen.



Don't mess with these girls, (left to right) Larisa Tran, Amy Zink, and Elise Schadler. They are ready to party! Elise comments, "I really like the idea of this millenium dance. It's so fun to dress up! The live band was a great idea too!"

The Millenium Masquerade was a chance for students not only to ring in the new year but also to ring in the new millenium. Although the dance took place after another Kilbourne football victory and no costumes were required, shiny and sparkly seemed to be the theme for the dance. "Outfits were very creative," observed sophomore Megan Watts. Girls covered themselves in body glitter and wore their most reflective outfits. To go along with the festive mood, several disco balls hung from the ceiling.

Once again dancers enjoyed music by student bands. Skamunist Party played cover songs from many popular albums. Commenting on playing at a school dance, Mike McGaughy said, "It was more fun than a bag of squirrels." Celebrating the millenium with a fun-filled dance was something Kilbourne students could not pass up.

Millenium Masquerade

Jingle Jam

Sparkling lights highlighted the mad number of glittery bodies enhanced by the bright red lipstick that every girl was wearing. As the celebrating began in this most exciting dance of the year, our Romeos gathered kisses from all the Juliettes. Students arrived with their groups of friends dressed in matching outfits. The most popular choices were leopard skin dresses; feathers and fur, also a favorite, were more punkish than Elizabethan.

This dance has always been one of the best attended dances. "Every year this dance turns out to be a blast because no one has to worry about having a specific date. People just go with their friends and have fun!" explained Becca Forte.

Theresa Blackwell, the major coordinator of this year's Jingle Jam, added a number of new categories in the costume contest. Groups could not only be voted as best dressed but also the wildest or most festive, new divisions of the competition. With the wide range of ensembles that attracted attention, we all could tell that friends had been planning for weeks in advance. Proudly, Theresa said, "All the energy put into that night really paid off because everyone at Kilbourne had a great time." The great music joined with the ambiance to create the best Jingle Jam ever!

Those snowy days with a little festive spirit is what Winterfest is all about. When the temperature is too cold to go out, staying inside becomes a daily ritual. During Winterfest, students enjoy singing karoke, dressing up, staging their talents, and helping those less fortunate by donating blood to the American Red Cross Association.

On Monday, the talent show kicked off the week of fun. Dancers, singers, and bands provided a fantastic show. Senior Rebecca Kovacs sang, I Will Rest in You, and commented, "I love to sing more than anything in the world and to sing in front of my peers and family is an honor."

Wednesday brought over fifty students out of their classes or lunch periods to assist the community. Jessica Leahy who donated blood said, "Although this was my first time giving blood, I thought it was really interesting, and I would be happy to give the gift of life again." What a great act of kindness! After school, a crowd turned out for the long-awaited student-staff basketball game. Although the staff defeated the students this year, it was a exciting game for everyone.

Lastly, on Friday, during all the lunch periods, students had the opportunity to display their singing skills with the karoke machine.

Drawing a crowd as he gives his rendition of Garth Brooks is Mike Rigo.

Valentine's Dance

Every February brings another opportunity for students to demonstrate their charitable spirits. This year the senior nominees were busy raising money for the Ohio State James Cancer Society and Solove Research Institute. Students raised a combined total of $5,372.37 which was donated in honor of Linda Daniel, mother of Kyle and Alex. The king and queen were announced during halftime at the varsity basketball game. This year's king and queen were Linda's son Kyle Daniel and Lindsay Broadfoot. Lindsay stated, "It was really exciting. It was good to be queen for a day."

On Saturday night couples filled the commons for an unforgettable Valentine's dance. This year's theme was "Everything I do, I do it for you..." Rose petals romantically surrounded the entrance to the dance. Twinkling lights and sparkling disco balls also made the evening enchanting. "I will never forget that evening. It was perfect," commented Sara Stanley. Kilbourne students enjoyed making memories which would last a lifetime.

St. Patrick's Day has been a celebrated event for many years. At Kilbourne we also join in the celebration by attending the Leprechaun Leap. Although students are not required to follow a formal dress code, many chose to coordinate costumes in matching green attire with their friends. The outfits matched the decorated commons and cafeteria which were decked out in the festive colors as well. As the DJ played the latest hits, students danced the evening away. Diana Stobart enjoyed the dance along with all her friends. "I had a great time dressing in matching green dresses with my friends," Diana commented.

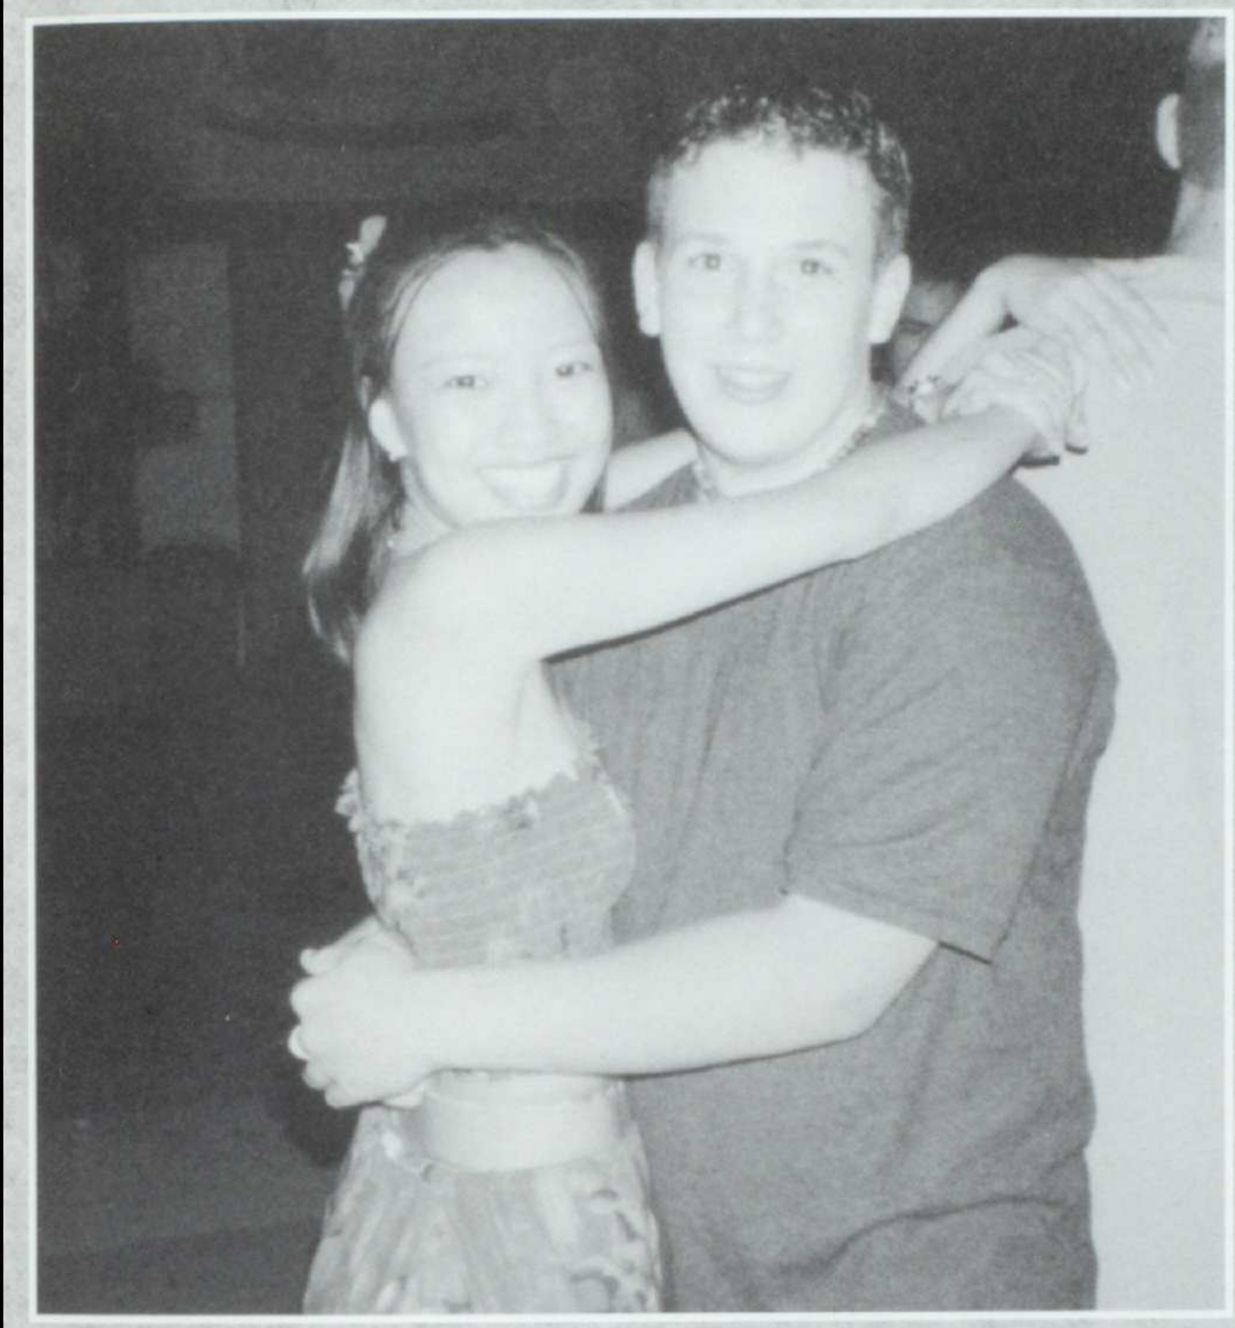
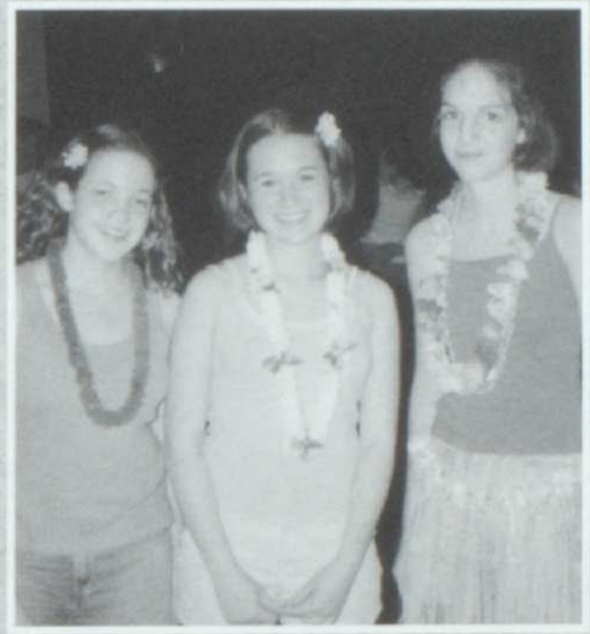
Swaying slowly to the beat of a Hawaiian tune is so romantic. Vy Trinh loves being in the arms of T.J. Dubil on such a fun-filled night.



Dancing while hula hooping is tons of fun. Just ask Alicia Warden and Brandon Ballinger.



This year brought a new tradition to Kilbourne for the underclassmen. Because only a few freshmen go to prom, this dance serves as a celebration for their class. On May 5, 2000, freshmen arrived at school clothed in their most festive Hawaiian attire. Boys preferred the exotic shirts while the girls wore grass skirts, and all who attended received a lei.

The commons appeared to be an ocean. Multiple colored fish hung from the walls and ceiling. Surfboards dotted the scene, and the entire area felt like a wet wonderland. Students enjoyed dancing with their peers to the hip hop music provided by the DJ. The class representatives as well as the teachers should be thanked for creating such wonderful memories for the entire class of 2003.

More Than Words

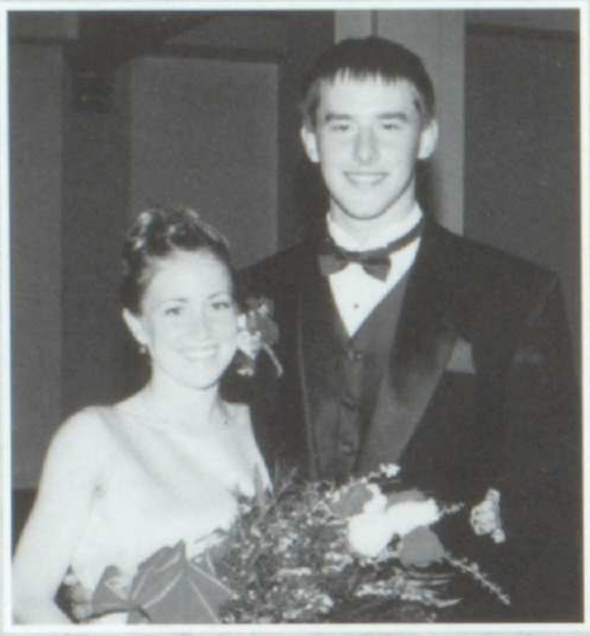
From eight until midnight on May 6, 2000, juniors, seniors, and their dates enjoyed a fantastic prom at the Columbus Athenaeum. The ballroom atmosphere created an aura of romance and fun for everyone. Flowers and lights hung from the balcony which over looked the gigantic dance floor. "Fine feathers made for fine birds": the girls looked elegant in their fancy dresses and the guys were handsome in their tuxedos. A big screen television broadcast live shots of people all over the hall. DJ Matt Capsul provided popular music that encouraged students to join others on the dance floor. Sophisticated prom-goers socialized and enjoyed the catered finger foods and desserts. "Prom was a great," commented Aaron Himmel. "I will always have good memories of it."

The highlight of the evening was the crowning of the king and queen. The crowd anxiously awaited for Demetri Michaelides to open the envelope announcing the winners. Ellen Saslaw and Alison Campbell awarded the winners, Theresa Blackwell and Kyle Riddle, their crowns. The king and queen danced to the theme More Than Words by Extreme.

The night didn't end after the dance though. Most headed to After Hours held at Sawmill Athletic Club. Raffles, bingo, volleyball, swimming, karaoke, human pinball, big foot basketball, and munching on all the great food were just a fraction of the activities. After Hours served as a wonderful ending for seniors' last dance and will surely provide splendid memories.

By Kristen Jensen

Cuddling close are Brian Guth and Sara Rockell.



Accepting a bouquet of flowers as runners-up for king and queen are Joni Baker and Mike Morris.

As the newly reigning king and queen of Prom, Kyle Riddle and Theresa Blackwell now dance to the theme song More Than Words by Extreme

What a match made in heaven! Megan Grindstaff and Phil Sisson pause together to cherish a perfect moment.

Enjoying the romantic setting are the two love birds Ben Haueisen and Tiffany Wallace.

Hoping their last prom will never end are Ann Heys and Marcus Goodman.

This will be a night Sarah Rymer and Phil Tipton will never forget.

Has Jess Moore been defeated by the powerful Melissa Liebert at after hours?

Romance is in the air at Prom 2000 for Dustin Meadows and Ellen Mills.

This year's prom took place at the elegant Columbus Athenaeum.

Arts-in-Action

Arts-in-Action is always a time for Kilbourne students to display and share their artistic talents. Art created by students adorned the halls and commons during the entire week of May 15.

On Tuesday, May 16, the vocal music students displayed just how talented they are at the Spring 2000 concert. Preceding the concert was a dinner where several members of the choir sang solos of their choice.

On Thursday students and parents enjoyed a blockbuster Arts-in-Action concert. The band, orchestra, and choir performed selected pieces and concluded with all the groups participating in a performance of The Battle Hymm of the Republic.

Friday was a very exciting day for students who had several activities to participate in and enjoy. Matt Tipton won the championship of the third annual potter's wheel throw-down. "This year's competition was rough," he stated. Other activities included ring making, scuplting, face painting, story-telling, and poetry reading. In the gym, students had fun jumping in a the Jupiter Jump. Performances by the Jazz Band, Encore, and Acafellas helped to create the festive atmosphere that makes Arts-in-Action so much fun. The scents of cotton candy and Subway subs filled the hallways at lunchtime. Arts-in-Action provided something for everyone to enjoy.

The Octette Bridge Club

The theater production opening the millennium season, The Octette Bridge Club by P.J. Barry, is a touching story of eight sisters played by Laura B. Vary, Rachel Ramsey, Erika Harvey, Laura Kunkle, Lauren Krogh, Joelle Gotwals, Ellen Zedella, and Kavita Mudan. The cast portrayed the feelings of pre- and post-World War II American women. "I loved having fun with all my sisters," said Laura Kunkle. These eight Catholic siblings shared hardship, funny stories and many of life's lessons, all over a game of bridge.

The conflict in the story escalates when Besty, one of the sisters played by Erika Harvey, is committed to a mental institution for severe depression. The other sisters have problems dealing with Betsy's illness; thus, the bond of sisterhood begins to deteriorate on the thirteenth anniversary of the bridge club. The revelation of long-hidden secrets by Martha played by Laura B. Vary and a touching speech by Rachel Ramsey as Mary resolves the conflict. Ultimately, the sisters realize each other's importance. Portraying women facing such problems was a challenge. "It was a lot of hard work, but it was worth it in the end," said stage manager Jessica Kinnan.

Inherit the Wind

The intense courtroom drama Inherit the Wind by Jerome Lawrence and Robert E. Lee plucks the sleepy town of Hillsboro from obscurity when biology teacher Bertrum T. Cates, played by senior Alex Earle, faces trial for violating the anti-evolution law. Matthew Harrison Brady, a three-time presidential candidate played by senior Mike Diamond, comes to town and volunteers himself as a prosecutor for the case. Matched by defense attorney and agile legal mind Henry Drummond played by junior Jason Parrish, the two fight the legal battle of the century.

During the chaos of the trial, Bert Cates faces a dilemma. He must choose what is more important to him, the love of his life, Rachel Brown, or his principles. Bert and Rachel's love is put to the ultimate test when Brady calls Rachel as a witness to testify against Bert.

When the defense calls witnesses to explain evolutionary theory, the outraged Drummond is ready to return to Chicago until he sees a glimmer of hope. As Drummond puts Brady through a battery of questions, the prosecution crumbles and spectators see through Brady's case. Nevertheless, the jury finds Cates guilty and the court sentences him to pay a fine of one hundred dollars. He has not, however, lost in all ways because has made a joke of the law and paved the way for the next person to stand up.

A story of love and courage, Inherit the Wind stresses the importance of the individual human mind and every person's right to think.

Charlotte's Web

The WKHS theater repertory kicked off the new millennium with Charlotte's Web, a delightful romp in the barnyard, .

Wilbur is the runt of a new litter of pigs. Mr. Arable is planning to kill him when his daughter Fern, who is trying to "rid the world of injustice," stops him. Fern then adopts Wilbur and takes it upon herself to care for him. The day comes, though, when Wilbur must go to live with Fern's uncle, Homer Zuckerman.

In his new home, Wilbur meets a score of new barnyard animals. Shortly after he arrives, they tell him that he is designed only for the frying pan. Shocked, he faints; once revived, he and the other animals devise a plan to keep him off the breakfast table.

Charlotte, a friendly spider, comes up with the idea to write words in her webs to describe Wilbur. First comes "Some Pig," followed by "Terrific" and then "Radiant." The mysterious words send Wilbur to the fair where he is marveled at as "Zuckerman's Famous Pig." Charlotte spins the final word "Humble" into the web and the crowd is stunned. Though Wilbur does not win the blue ribbon, he does win a special award because he is so unique.

As they are leaving the fair, Charlotte tells Wilbur that she is too weak to go back. Wilbur carries her egg sack to the farm where he carefully watches over it. Much to Wilbur's dismay when it hatches, they all float away, or so he thinks. Three of them stay in the barn with Wilbur and the other farm animals.

The Mousetrap

The Mousetrap is a classic murder mystery by the famous suspense author Agatha Christie. A murder is committed at 24 Culver Street in London, and no one knows who the culprit is. The murdered woman, Mrs. Maureen Lyon, is an abusive foster mother of three small children. One of the children has died by her hand and the others disappear when she goes to prison. Found at the scene of the crime by Sergeant Trotter are a piece of paper saying, "This is the first," set to the rhyme and music Three Blind Mice, and a notebook including two addresses. One address is the crime scene and the other is that of a guesthouse in the country called Monkswell Manor.

Little do they know, but the guests who are just arriving at the house are stepping right into a murder investigation. Nobody is willing to cooperate when Sergeant Trotter arrives to question them because all the visitors at the house have shady pasts that ultimately make them suspects. Even the Ralstons themselves are suspects because both Mollie and Giles had gone to London secretly on the day the murder was committed.

As it turns out, Mrs. Boyle is the judge that sent the three children to the abusive home. Sergeant Trotter ends up being the missing brother, and as he tries to murder Mollie Ralston, Miss Casewell who is really the long-lost sister catches him in the act. To add more, Major Metcalf is actually an undercover police officer. With all the murders and conspiracies going on, it's a wonder that they all live happily ever after.

Fiddler on the Roof

Fiddler on the Roof has been a part of the American culture for nearly three decades, and its songs have become household names. The WKHS theater and music students put on a great performance of this Jerry Bock, Sheldon Harnick and Joseph Stein musical on February 18 and 19 in the main auditorium.

Fiddler on the Roof takes place in the impoverished village of Anatevka, mostly populated by Jewish families in Czarist Russia in 1905 on the eve of the Russian Revolution. When the lights come up, we are introduced to Tevye, the dairyman of the village. He is a humble man trying to raise his five daughters according to the holy scriptures.

As the story continues, the matchmaker Yente announces to Golde, Tevye's wife, that she has found a match for their oldest daughter, Tzeitel. Yente tells Golde that the wealthiest man in the village, the butcher, wants to marry Tzeitel. Golde is delighted with the match

After a long day of work, Tevye returns home before the Sabbath pulling his heavy cart because his horse has thrown a shoe. Exhausted, Tevye sinks down on the cart and addresses God, asking, "Would it have been so terrible if I'd had a small fortune?" Dreaming about another life, he sings "If I Were a Rich Man." Tevye then encounters Perchik, a young student from Kiev. Tevye agrees to allow Perchik to teach his daughters the ways of the Good Book in exchange for food.

The following evening Tevye pays a visit to Lazar Wolf at the inn. Tevye thinks that Lazar wants to buy his milk cow, whereas Lazar is asking for Tzeitel's hand in marriage. When the confusion is finally sorted out, Tevye, who does not like Lazar, reluctantly agrees and gives his blessing; meanwhile Tzeitel is promising her own hand to Motel, a poor tailor. When the young couple informs Tevye of their plans, he is shocked that they have gone against centuries of tradition, but after much thought, he decides that Motel's and Tzeitel's love is genuine and he gives them his blessing.

Their wedding is a joyous occasion for all as dancers perform feats of athleticism such as balancing bottles on their heads. Everything is going fine until Perchik breaks another tradition as he dances with Hodel; soon after, everyone breaks into dance. The interruption of the Russian soldiers, who destroy the gifts and decorations, halts the celebration while setting the mood as the story continues.

Act II opens two months later. Model and Tzeitel have been happily married and now, Perchik informs Tevye that he and Hodel want to be married. Tevye faces yet another dilemma, but love prevails once again and Tevye gives his blessing. Tevye and Golde must now face an even bigger loss though. Their other daughter Chava asks for permission to marry Fyedka, a Christian. Tevye knows they are in love but says no. "Chava is dead. We will forget her!" Tevye tells Golde. Tevye concludes that he cannot turn his back on his faith by accepting the two of them.

The town of Anatevka receives its greatest blow. An order from the Czar says that all Jews must leave. The villagers sing of their home in Anatevka as they prepare to leave. With only a few belongings packed in a cart, Tevye and his family say goodbye to their friends as the final curtain falls.

A Thurber Carnival

A Thurber Carnival is a collection of nonsense skits, scenes, and monologues. The characters in this play step right out of author James Thurber's short stories and cartoons and come alive on stage. James Thurber, a Central Ohio native who attended the Ohio State University and wrote for newspapers such as the Columbus Dispatch and the Chicago Tribune created these whimsical tales.

The characters and scenes transport us from Thurber's own office to Appomatox Courthouse, Virginia, and also offer comical views of Ulysses S. Grant at the end of the Civil War. There we see unicorns and talking wolves, then we're off to visit a remote island by the Florida Keys to hear tales like no others of mermaids and goldfish-grabbers. We see the story of Walter Mitty, an everyday man with a boring everyday life.

Walter daydreams to keep from going insane. He fantasizes an incredible life as a heroic fighter pilot, a renowned surgeon, and even a hard-bitten soldier, but nevertheless Walter is constantly reminded that he is nothing more than an average person living an average life.

Blithe Spirit

One night Charles and Ruth Condomine have their friends, George and Violet Bradman, over for dinner and to endure one of Madame Arcati's seances. After dinner Madame Arcati calls on the spirits and finds someone from the other world wanting to talk to Charles. While she's in a trance, Charles hears the voice of Elvira, his deceased wife. The Bradmans and Ruth find the whole episode amusing but after everyone goes home, Chares finally sees Elvira.

The next morning Ruth is extremely upset at Charles. She thinks he made it all up. He eventually agrees that he must have imagined it until Elvira returns again. When he tells Elvira to make Ruth see her, Elvira makes a disaster of the house causing Ruth to think Charles is master minding a trick.

Elvira tries to kill Charles to get him all to herself but accidentally kills Ruth when she disengages the brakes on the car. Charles is mad at Elvira so he asks Madame Arcati to get her back, but Madame mistakenly turns Ruth into a ghost. When Charles has had enough of both dead wives, Madame Arcati has séance after séance to send the ghosts back to the other world. Eventually, Madame Arcati realizes that someone else brought them; the culprit is Edith, the Condomines' servant. Charles eventually lives happily ever after with this improbable force, Blithe Spirit by Noel Coward.

About Color Guard

Because the color guard is a part of the marching band, the purpose and goals for the two groups are similar. The color guard practices tediously day in and day out during the marching band season, adding color and beautiful images to the shows they create. But more importantly, the color guard is a group in which the members learn about dedication and teamwork. They learn how to work hard for themselves and their friends who surround them on the field every day. As with the marching band, the color guard learns Personal Responsibility in the Development of Excellence.

About Drill Team

The drill team is a hard-working group of girls who love to perform and compete. After becoming independent of the marching band a few years ago, they now attend many competitions on their own. The members practice hard to prepare difficult and entertaining shows. The drill team still performs during halftime shows with the marching band during football season. They are a dedicated group of girls who work hard and deserve all of our support and respect.

About Dance Team

First in the state, fourth in the nation, the dance team at WKHS never ceases to amaze us. With each member having a great love of dance and devotion to the team, it's no wonder they have soared to such high heights in their accomplishments. Practicing every day after school and participating in a competition almost every Sunday throughout the winter, they have no time to take their work lightly. When they performed at the Arnold Schwarzenegger Classic downtown, Arnold himself introduced them.

About Marching Band

Over the years the marching band has not only taken its responsibility to the school very seriously, it has set forth goals to mold its members into hard-working and caring individuals who know the real meaning of teamwork. The purpose of the marching band is twofold: to help motivate the fans and to show their spirit and commitment to our team, school and community. Also to instill a sense of unity, integrity, and positive work ethic to achieve true excellence among its members who develop countless new friendships every year. While the Steppin' Wolves are proud to be part of the Worthington Kilbourne community, its members are also working hard every day to develop their own Personal Responsibility in the Development of Excellence.

About Jazz Band
The 1999-2000 Jazz Band is composed of five trombones, five saxaphones, four trumpets, three percussionists one string bass and one electric guitar. All in all, they equal twenty different talented musicians who together make an awesome jazz sound that Kilbourne loves to hear. The members are chosen through audition at the beginning of the year, and the band performs at regular concerts. Because of so much interest in joining this musical group, the Jazz Band has branched off to form a new and younger group called Jazz Band Too!

About Wind Ensemble
The Wind Ensemble, composed of mostly upperclassmen, is the most prestigious group in the band program, selecting only the most advanced players by audition. This year the band has decided not to attend contest but rather to concentrate their efforts on playing a higher standard of music than ever before. The group is focusing harder than ever on playing with expression and musicality. The Wind Ensemble is planning an out-of-state trip to meet with other schools of equally advanced band programs to give them a chance to hear other bands and to be heard themselves.

About Symphonic Band
The Symphonic Band is made of many talented musicians chosen by audition. Like the Wind Ensemble, the group is playing more difficult music, trying to play at a higher level technically and musically than they did the year before. The band is composed of musicians of all grade levels and performs at regular concerts throughout the year.

About Jazz Band Too!
Jazz Band Too! is a brand new group this year. After widespread interest in joining the Jazz Band, this band formed. In the Jazz Band Too! the members begin to learn to play jazz and hope to advance to the Jazz Band. The Jazz Band Too! gives performances in many school concerts throughout the year.

About Concert Band A and Concert Band 1

The concert bands, directed by Mr. Clark, are composed of freshmen through seniors. Only last year did the band program become so large that the group split into two. The groups concentrate on building musical skills the members will need to audition in the spring when they have the opportunity to advance to symphonic band or wind ensemble. They perform at regular concerts throughout the year.

About Orchestra

The orchestra, directed by Mrs. Wright, is an advanced group. Every year the orchestra showcases talented musicians through many concerts, some of which are paired with the wind ensemble and choirs, such as for Arts-in-Action. The orchestra boasts advanced musicians who audition for the All-State Orchestra, and every year Kilbourne students are accepted. The orchestra has grown enormously since the opening of Kilbourne.

About Percussion Ensemble

The percussion ensemble, composed of twelve members, is better than ever this year. The group, which formed only a few years ago, has already made a name in Columbus, being invited to perform at many prestigious events. No percussion ensemble member could forget Mr. Dan Hostetler, the instructor, who has helped make the group into what it is today. The ensemble never ceases to entertain us with their catchy Latin rhythms as well as their expressive and emotional playing.

About Freshman Band

The freshman band, an everchanging group of students, is where it all begins for some musicians at Kilbourne. Coming from middle school, most students find a comfortable place in freshman band. Mr. Taylor, the director, is known for helping the young students tremendously in their first year of high school. The musicians experience their first taste of the awesome music program and develop their individual skills while they also learn how to create a beautiful sound as a group.

About Acafellas

Acafellas is a group of advanced male vocalists who never seem to stop having fun. Singing acappella, Acafellas members practice three days per week. Their fellow students admire them for the hard work, expression and excitement they always put into the music they rehearse and perform.

About Concert Choir

Concert Choir is composed of both male and female vocalists who, with the help of Mr. Griffin, work on choir skills that are later mastered in Treble Ensemble and Men's Chorus. Concert Choir performs in many concerts throughout the school year.

About Bold

Bold is the newest singing group at Kilbourne this year. Always trying to convey a positive and inspirational message to their fellow students, Bold often performs Christian hymns, slow rhythm and blues and bee-bop, all acappella. Bold members practice three days per week, always incorporating emotion, beauty and spirit into their singing.

About Encore

Encore is a group of advanced female vocalists who are looking for more than just what they find in regular choir class. Encore practices one time per week, forming not only a tightly-knit group of acapella vocalists, but also very beautiful and fun acappella music that they share with their fellow students at Kilbourne through concerts and assemblies.

Even though fifth grader Calvin Griffin does not attend WKHS, he has still made a big impact on the lives of many students and staff members here. Son of Kilbourne's head choir director, Mr. Griffin, Calvin has struggled with cancer this year. To Calvin and his family, we give you all our hope and support. Calvin Griffin has certainly shown us what strength, courage, and faith are all about.

About Symphonic Choir

The Symphonic Choir is a group of the most advanced vocalists at our school. The choir sings in many concerts throughout the school year, and they always cast a spell over the audience as they perform the "Procession," during which they descend the stairways of the auditorium while singing a powerful hymn.

About Women's Chorale

Women's Chorale is composed of freshmen, sophomores, juniors and seniors. They perform a variety of pieces, always in top notch form. The members for this choir are selected from auditions held the previous spring. The Women's Chorale always works to reach the highest standard of achievement in vocal performance.

About Men's Chorus

The Men's Chorus is open to any tenor or bass voice who wishes to learn the production of a good singing voice. The Men's Chorus performs at regular concerts throughout the year while also making some outside appearences. Their performace pieces are always chosen to highlight the strengths of this all-male vocal group.

About Treble Ensemble

Treble Ensemble is a choir composed of all female vocalists and is open to treble voices in the ninth through twelfth grades, regardless of past experence in vocal music. The group performs in regular concerts throughout the year with some outside performances.

STUDENT OF THE MONTH
Purpose
To honor students, the Academic Boosters organization sponsors The Student of the Month recognition program. Teachers in each department nominate students who display qualities of leadership, good citizenship, positive attitude, effort, academic improvement and/or excellent overall performance. This is a significant accomplishment since only a select few receive the honor each month.

SOCRATIC SOCIETY
Purpose
To honor teachers, staff, and students, faculty members nominate students and colleagues as candidates for Socratic Society. Students who qualify are distinguished learners who demonstrate a positive attitude, display exemplary citizenship, concentrate efforts towards an improved academic or behavoiral performance, and maintain a helpful and cooperative spirit when working with others in our school community.

In the end, it's extra effort that separates a winner from second place. But winning takes a lot more than that, too. It starts with complete command of the fundamentals. Then it takes desire, determination, discipline, and self-sacrifice. And finally, it takes a great deal of love, fairness, and respect for your fellow man. Put all these together, and even if you don't win, how can you lose?

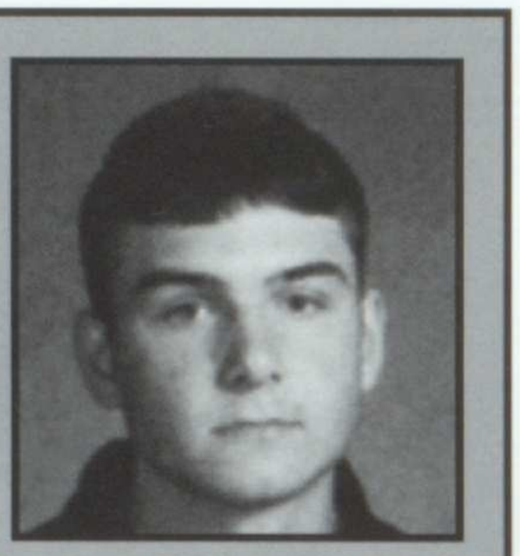
WE BELIEVED...AGAIN

Wolves Win Regional Championship

After a less than a desirable season last year and the loss of key players such as Ryan Sprague, Micha Faler, and Obi Chukuhumah, many fans were asking questions about the upcoming season. With high hopes and expectations, the team opened with a scrimmage win over Marysville. With each successive win, the questions disappeared, and belief in the Wolves became visible.

With players' skills complementing each other, opponents stopped the Wolves only once during the regular season. The boys flew through the first nine games unscathed until their last game against also undefeated and number one rated Grove City. Only one touchdown made the difference, but senior captain Kyle Riddle said, "The loss made us want to get our revenge and beat them in the post-season."

To re-match, our team had to first defeat Westerville North which had been one of the closest regular games of the season, but the second game proved to be the opposite. The Wolves dominated in a 42-0 shutout. Next came another re-match with rival Upper Arlington. "They had improved a lot and came to get revenge, but we improved also and came to play. We just wanted it more," said offensive linemen Shawn Ritzenthaler after the 35-31 win over the Bears. So their drive for sweet revenge came the following week. Because of the large number of fans, we played in the Crew Stadium where sixteen thousand plus fans watched what was said by many to be one of the best match-ups and best played games of the year. Both teams came to play football that night; the Wolves just came up on top. It was a close game, but the Kilbourne defense kept us in it until the offense could step up. Achieving a 21-7 win over the Dawgs, Jordan Stockwell said, "Yes we wanted to be OCC champs, but I think regional champs will do just fine. I would rather walk away with that trophy than the OCC one." Next, we traveled to Dayton Welcome Stadium to play Hubert Heights in the state semi-finals, the farthest the Wolves have ever gone in the playoffs. Too many mistakes and too little luck resulted in a 12-10 loss.



"We all must decide how much the team means to us. This decision will affect the way we live and determine the success of our season."
-Mike Stasko

With the end of the season four weeks later than expected, the players were nevertheless pleased with the outcome. Although the team will lose many seniors this year, the Wolves should have yet another outstanding season next year and hope to go just as far, if not farther. The players will have big shoes to fill but then again, they also had wonderful role models who have shown them how to succeed. Senior Dan Freel left his underclassmen teammates with this: "Keep up the hard work and never lose the heart. May you follow your dreams and succeed in all you do in the future. Good luck, Wolves."

STOMP AND SHAKE IT

Leading the Team to Victory

The WKHS cheerleaders had a great season this year. With their strength and spirit, their echoing voices encouraged the players and the crowds of fans. These cheerleaders have added to Kilbourne's school spirit and supported the football team on its quest for victory.

During the summer the girls went to camp held by the Universal Cheerleaders Association at Bowling Green. The experience filled all of the squads - freshman, JV, and varsity - with excitement for the season to come. Coach Shawna Dunbar said, "This camp was the best bonding experience for all of us. Not only did we do a great job, but we had a lot of fun."

Besides cheering on the football players and building enthusiasm in the fans, these girls worked hard perfecting their competition routines. This was the first year the cheerleaders had both cheer and dance competition squads. "It was a lot of hard work, but it all paid off in the end," said junior Lisa Lloyd. The Kilbourne cheerleaders also have many other responsibilities. They involve the student body at pep rallies and keep them pumped until the night of the big game. These ladies walk around with positive attitudes and smiles on their faces.

Losing eight seniors from the varsity squad is sure to leave a big void that needs to be filled, but the underclassman will step up to this challenge. The cheerleaders will continue to represent Kilbourne in a positive manner and lead them to another year of victory and school spirit.

TEARIN' UP THE FIELDS

The Soccer Team Goes for the Gold

After a slow start, the Kilbourne guys soccer team worked hard to achieve a fine record. The tough loses at the beginning of the season only helped strengthen their desire to win. They got it together and impressed many soccer fans at Kilbourne. "They were a very strong team, and I knew they could do it from the beginning," said senior Jordan Salyer who attended all of the games. This year's team won the OCC Championship for the third consecutive season. These guys worked hard to defeat DeSales at districts. They fell only a tad short of advancing to states when with a loss to Westerville North in an over time shoot out. "Even though we won our first district championship this year at Kilbourne, I was still disspointed with our tournament finish because we had the best team in the state," said next year's captain Danny O'Rourke. Coach Vincent agreed, "This was our best year for Kilbourne soccer. We won the OCC and district championship finishing 13-4-3 overall."

"This season has been an overall success. It has been a great four years."
-Kyle Daniel

These guys had many close games, but with determination they always seemed to pull ahead. Losing six seniors will be leave a large void. Next year's players will step up and lead the soccer team to victory. Senior Justin O'Neill commented, "This soccer season was great, and I'm sure the upcoming seniors will carry on the winning tradition of the soccer program." The players' hard work and dedication as well as their positive attitudes will make the season in 2000 even better.

OVERCOMING OBSTACLES

Girls Fight Hard Throughout Their Season

The girls were hoping for better luck than last year when injuries plagued the team, but they were disappointed as early as pre-season as they suffered the same recurring nightmare. With key players such as juniors Mary Beth Young, Kate and Ann Basom and senior goalkeeper Jessica Leahy on the injured list, they faced a difficult road ahead. "With all the injuries the young players had to step up and assume a lot of responsibility," said coach Chris Moles.

They opened the season with a 3-1 win against Hilliard Darby, but from there everything slid down hill. With only two wins in the next eight games, the girls sought improvement. With a 4-3 comeback win against Dublin Coffman, the Wolves regained their confidence.

Even though their hopes for an OCC title were demolished, they relished their role as the spoiler, knocking Pickerington out of OCC title contention. By the middle of October, the Lady Wolves pulled it together. "I am very proud of the way we finished our season. We played well against Watterson, but unfortunately, things did not go our way," reflected Alison Harper. Still, the girls completed their season by winning two out their last three game. Senior captain Joni Baker and junior captains Mary Beth Young and Kim Chianese lead the girls to an 8-8-2 overall record. They had a first round bye in the tournament, then traveled to Olentangy. Beating them 2-0, they advanced to the district semi-finals where they suffered a disappointing 1-0 loss to Westerville North. "We had a good team, and we worked hard, but our injuries set us back," said Jenny Dryer.

"Our record does not show our hard work and dedication that we had this season."

-Joni Baker

Kim Chianese was rewarded by making Second Team All-District and First Team OCC. Joni Baker proved herself by making Third Team All-Distinct and First Team OCC. Other awards went to Mary Beth Young and Blyth Irwin, who earned Second Team OCC recognition with honorable mention going to Ann Basom.

"We had a tough schedule. Hopefully with all the returners, we can use our experience and build on it for next year," hoped Kim Chianese.

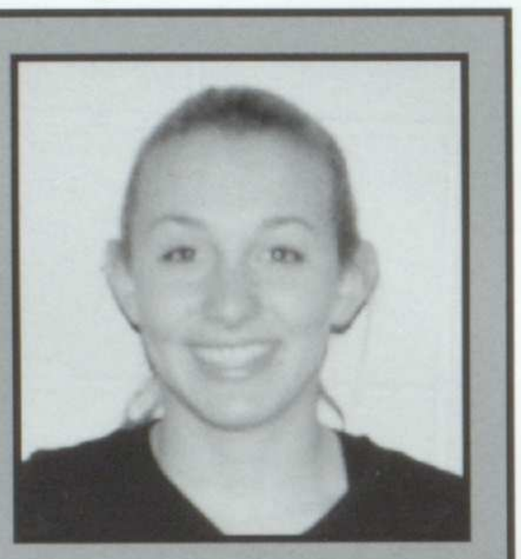
"SETTING" TO VICTORY

Girls Volleyball Team Wins Sectionals

The Lady Wolves opened their season strong, winning their first two games, but from there things went down hill. The question of team unity was not an issue. With a team trip to Deer Creek Lodge in the beginning of the season, the girls were seeking other answers. "Every year we set our sights on improving our skills," said Coach Rice. "There are certain stats we look at- passing, setting, and hitting. When we have success in those areas, our number of wins will improve."

Lead by senior co-captains Cassie Peterson and Kristen Columan, the team completed play with a 10-14 record as they fought their way to the district finals. The girls wanted to prove not only to themselves but also to everyone else that they could succeed. They made their point by upsetting the 11th seed DeSales in the first round of the tournament. They proved that the win was no fluke with a victory against No. 10 seed Hilliard Davidson. Unfortunately, the team had a disappointing loss to the No. 1 seeded Watterson in the district finals. "Our tournament success demonstrated our future potential and showed future teams how to win," explained coach Rice.



"We finshed strong at the end of the year, I know next year is going to be even better."

-Kristen Coulman

Not only did the girls prove themselves as a team, but they also had many individual honors. Kristen Coulman earned 1st Team Central District and First Team All-OCC. Lindsay Walton received Second Team All-OCC, with Honorable Mention going to Christina Fallon.

HITTING HIGH GOALS

Stickin' with It Results in Victory

"This year was so exciting because we came out of it with a winning record," exclaimed senior Emily Walters. The field hockey team accomplished a variety of goals in 1999. One of the most rewarding aspects of the season was finishing with a winning record, something the players have not accomplished in over four years. Beating long time rival Thomas Worthington, 2-0, reflected how their play rose to a higher level. A final reward was coming out victoriously over Upper Arlington for the first time in years.

"We had many talented players which led us to success throughout the entire season," sophomore Kim Holzaepfel commented about her teammates. The team was fortunate to have captains Katie Kirkpatrick, Lisa Nagy, and Emily Douglas to lead them. Goalie Mary Eck and defensive midfielder Lindsay Hall were both rewarded with the major honor of making the Ohio All Star team. Other post season awards went to Lindsey Groves and Katie Kirkpatrick, First Team OCC, and to Julie Mearhoff and Lisa Nagy, Honorable Mention-OCC.

"We were very proud of our record. The team was close on and off the field."
-Katie Kirkpatrick

The 2000 field hockey team is losing twelve outstanding senior players. Although the skills of those seniors will be greatly missed, the new leadership of Andrea Richardson, Julie Mearhoff, and Ellen Saslaw will help the team achieve all the major goals that they set. They are planning to work very hard in order to be just as successful next season. Junior Yo Feheley stated, "I am looking forward to next season, but I will miss my senior role models at the same time."

LOVING THE SWING

OCC Championships for the First Time

The 1999 girls tennis team was in the right swing of things this season. Last year's young team had plenty of time to mature from 1998 to 1999 and had a little fun doing it, too. "We went to Van der Meer's Tennis University in Hilton Head for a camp during a week over the summer. It was very fun!" exclaimed junior Kara Freudeman.

The girls worked extremely hard to hit all the goals set forth. One major goal accomplished was winning the OCC tittle. The victory in the final match gave Worthington Kilbourne its first OCC title ever. "It was an outstanding tournament with a very exciting finish. We beat the two-time champion Dublin Coffman," claimed Traci Rusk. The team won the third singles, first doubles, and second doubles championships. Although they entered the OCC championship as the underdogs, they came out on top in the end.

"We had a wonderful season. I will miss everyone. Good luck next year!"
-Kari Krantz

Individual talent was a key asset in the success of the team. There were several honors given to some of the players. Third Singles OCC went to Manya Gupta; Mindy Price, OCC Second Place First Singles; Katie Cunningham, Third Place OCC and Second Singles; Traci Rusk and Melissa Wong, OCC First Doubles champs; Jenna Gueth and Kara Freudman, OCC Second Doubles champ. Senior Manya Gupta was Kilborne's first ever individual tennis champion.

The 2000 team will miss seniors Kari Krantz and Manya Gupta but are looking forward to another successful season.

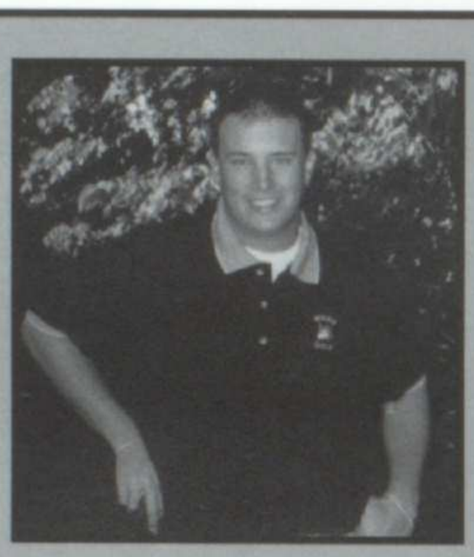
AIMING FOR THE GREEN

Guys Start Season with Great Potential

The Worthington Kilbourne boys golf team has grown into one of the top teams in the O.C.C. over the past eight years of its existence. But this year, coach Bob Prichard believed that his team's potential was greater than ever before. The Wolves began their season with great optimism as they returned five letter winners: senior Nash Dykes, First Team O.C.C.; junior Doug Christopher, First Team O.C.C.; senior Jeff Harp, Second Team O.C.C.; junior Trent Weiser, and sophomore Brian Elsea. "We had a really good chance at doing well this season, maybe even making it to states," said junior Doug Christopher.

With a lot of hard work and determination, the Wolves played their hearts out. The highlight of their season came at the sectional tournament at Bolton Field. The Wolves stole the show shooting a 229 and placing first in the tournament. "It kind of let everybody know that we're still around," said coach Bob Prichard as the Wolves' performance qualified them for the district tournament. The Wolves drove and putted their way to districts as the No. 2 seeded team, and they finished eighth. The Wolves really pulled together as a team, encouraging and helping each other at every tee.



"We had a a good season. Next year we will be even better.

-Lee Harrington

Several members of the boys golf team earned individual honors this season including Doug Christopher, First Team O.C.C. and First Team All District; sophomore Brian Elsea, First Team O.C.C. and Second Team All District; Nash Dykes, First Team O.C.C. and Third Team All District; and junior Dan Cramer, Second Team O.C.C. Brian Elsea also carded the lowest score of the season, shooting a 69 at the Worthington Invitational.

PLAYING WITH HEART

Girls Golf Welcomes Five Freshmen

At the outset of the 1999 WKHS girls golf season, some analysists thought the girls would have a tough year against their competition in the Mid-Ohio Girls Golf League (M.O.G.G.L.). The team, coached for the second year by Brian Riegel, welcomed a number of freshmen but included no seniors. "We had a very young team," coach Riegel said. Yet, the girls had high goals for themselves. Led by junior captain Bethany Davis and sophomore standout Christa Nadler, they set out to achieve these goals.

The girls fought with grit and determination and shocked many people. During the third round of M.O.G.G.L. play, they fared well, finishing third. Then during the fourth round of league play, the Wolves surprised everyone again with a fourth-place finish. The girls also defeated rivals Dublin Scioto and Thomas Worthington in a triangular (three-team) match.

"I had a fun time this year."
-Bethany Davis

Still, the team wasn't expected to fare well at the district tournament, especially against powerhouses Upper Arlington and Dublin Coffman, but the Wolves led the entire field after nine holes. Unfortunately, the girls finished in fourth place behind UA, Coffman, and Westerville North, so they did not qualify as one of the top two teams to advance to state-level play. Nevertheless, they felt they had proved to everybody that they could do well with young talent. They also believed they had achieved their goals. Junior Bethany Davis said, "I think I had a great year."

Next year's team expects to be even better because they will be returning three seniors. The golfers, the coach, and the fans will have a lot to look forward to in the autumn of 2000.

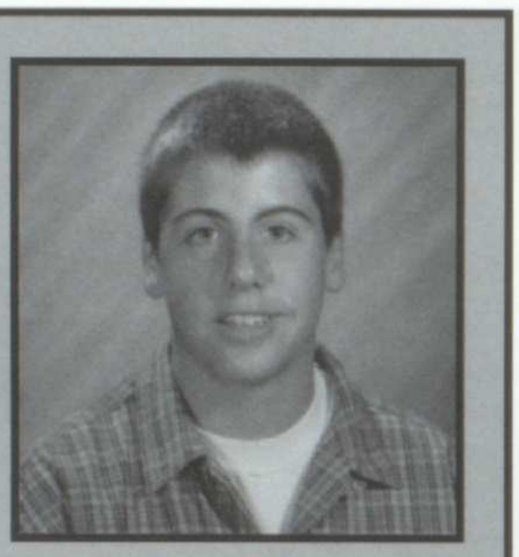
FINISHING WITH A SPLASH

The Boys Have Their First State Win!

Kilbourne boys water polo team's new coach, Geoff Gear, was expecting big things from a large senior class. "One of the strengths of a team is its experience, and we had a very deep group of players with long time experience," Gear said. The boys certainly did improve from their last season's 8-12 record to this year's 10-11 record. Advancing to states and coming in fourth was a reward for hard work.

Disappointment came when they lost two close state games. One was 11-9 in semifinals against UA, and the other was 13-12 in consolation finals against Sycamore. "Although we lost these games, we did well and were very pleased to come in fourth at states," claimed Jon Bradley. Individual honors achieved by some of the swimmers included Jess Moore, First Team All-State; Greg Bowne and Link Staffen, Second Team All-State; Jon Bradley, Blake Brawn, and Chris Cook, Honorable Mention.



"We had a merry season. I was gay everyday, especially when we won states."
-Jess Moore

Next year the boys will miss several seniors including the captains Greg Bowne, Jon Bradley, Jess Moore, Link Staffen and Jeff Hollback, as well as Clement Cheng. Although everyone on the team had great talent, experienced seniors saw most of the action in the water, except for Chris Cook, who excelled in many games and was essential to the varsity wins. "I hope the sophomores can replace us seniors," commented Jess Moore. They do have big shoes to fill, but with practice, anything is possible. Hopefully, the 2000 boys water polo team will be able to rebuild and accomplish a winning record.

FIGHTING WITH DETERMINATION

Girls' Water Polo Team Fills Big Holes

The Worthington Kilbourne girls water polo team had high expectations for this season despite losing six seniors from the 1998 squad. "We were fortunate enough to get a lot of replacements for the seniors we lost," junior Molly Lehner said. The girls were coached by Jim Callahan, Amy Hummel and Geoff Gear. The team fought with a lot of grit and determination. They took great pride in their hard work. Led by juniors Jill Collins, Alison Campbell and Emily Moore, the Wolves went through a roller-coaster season, finishing regular play with a record of six wins and nine losses. The team went to the state tournament with high hopes of doing well. At that tournament, the team faced some tough games, but the Wolves fought hard. After being the state runner-up in 1997 and 1998, the girls took fourth place in the tournament this year. The girls were recognized for their hard work. Emily Moore made Second Team all-State, while Amy Zink, Jill Collins, Lauren Krogh and Alison Campbell earned all-State honorable mention.

"Our team finished stronger than I thought we would."
-Molly Lehner

Everyone on the team was pleased about the season, especially junior Elise Schadler. "This season we did a lot better than I thought we would. We improved so much, and we had so much fun," she said. Emily Moore, Alison Campbell and Jill Collins will be leading a big class of returning juniors. The team also has strength in their returning sophomores such as Allison Riddle and Alex Cordray. The girls water polo team is looking forward to a great season in 2000.

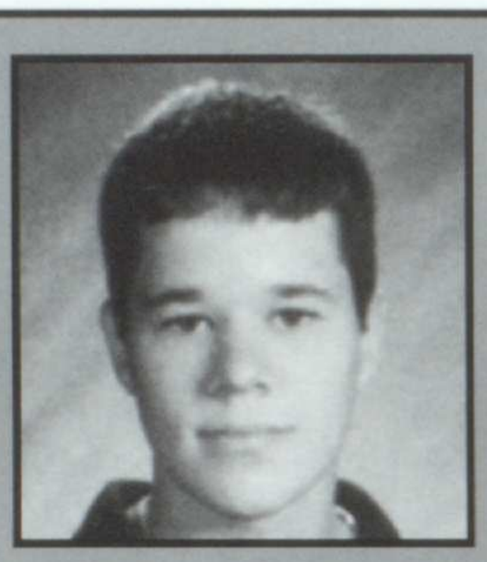
WOLVES ARE RUNNING WILD

Kilbourne Sends One to State Meet

After losing key runners such as Joel Estes, Brenden Luft, and Joe Huffman to graduation, the boys cross country team still had great senior leadership from the four captains, Matt Baumbush, Scott Robison, Scot Teti, and John Warner. Although they didn't have the season they desired, they were young and grew as athletes. The runners included the four captains as well as Andy Bittner, Emaunel Glason, Aaron Himmel, Chris Hobbs, Christopher Mitchell, Kevin Mitchell, Joshua Montenaro, Richard Wilson, and Brett Van Bourgendien. Although they did not place at regionals, they still did very well, certainly the best they could.

Sophomore Andy Bittner represented the Wolves at both districts and states this year, the only WKHS participant at both. He had an incredible season, finishing fourth at districts and eighth at regionals, thus qualifying for the state meet. "I never expected to do so well. I just went out there and ran my best. That was all that was expected of me anyway," he said. Sadly, Scott Robison ended his season prematurely due to a back injury.



" We set our expectations high, but the cards didn't fall our way at the end."
-Matt Bamboush

Although the cross country team has lost key seniors and Andy Bittner to a family move, they are a young team that will continue to strive. Sophomore Richard Wilson encourages his team with this: "We're young. We did well and have a lot to learn in the future. Next year we should finish much better. Yes, this was supposed to be our year. It just didn't work out, but it will in the future."

A SEASON OF REBUILDING

New Faces in Girls Cross Country

Hope for success in 1999 for the girls cross country team rested on three talented freshmen, Brittney Fries, Megan Smith and Leslie Horn, after four-year lead runner Bethany Gaskill graduated. Even with a small number of girls, the team had aspirations and strived for the best. Senior captains Emily Kissel and Kelly Spiers encouraged the runners through their own hard work and dedication during the pre-season sunrise practices and by overcoming the difficulty experienced in the first race. When Kelly, a top runner, fell victim to injury before the first race, she demonstrated her leadership and support from the sideline.

With the motivation of their excellent coach Melanie Williams, the girls ran strong in the opening race, Thomas Worthington's Quad meet.

"This season taught me the meaning of hard work and dedication."

-Anne Strombotne

They decided to run as a pack and in doing so, the girls pushed each other, dropping their times and developing a close bond as a team. They also demonstrated their top performance at the Eisenhart Invitational as every individual set a personal record; thus, they anticipated O.C.C.'s and districts. The team arrived at districts with the hope of qualifying for regionals but failed to do so in the cold, rainy weather. Still, they were content with their performance as a team.

The girls cross country team demonstrated a season of dedication and hard work, but much of their success evolved from being there for each other. The twelve girls combined to make one individual team.

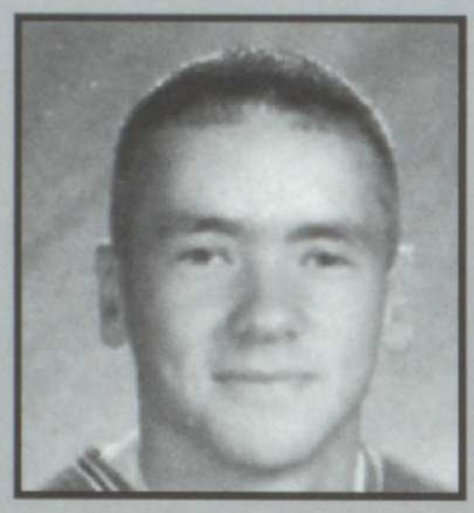
HOOPSTERS BUILDING FOR FUTURE

Grove City Win Highlights Season

"Luck certainly wasn't on our side this year. No, not at all," said sophomore star A.J. Gafford regarding the 1999-2000 basketball season. Although we had an excellent team of experienced athletes with incredible senior leadership, the season didn't turn out as hoped. The varsity team consisted of seven seniors, one junior, and four sophomores. It took awhile to gain the closeness they wanted, but about midway through the season something clicked and their individual strengths seemed to mesh as a whole. Darren Hicks explained, "Considering the circumstances and throughout the hard times, we remained pretty close although it was hard to keep our spirits up with the high number of losses. I believe we all had the same main goal, and we did all that we could to reach it."

Even with the losses, the outcome of some games surprised everyone and softened criticism. Grove City was a prime example. Going into that game, many fans commented on how good the Dogs were and how we had no chance against them even with the home court advantage. Regardless, Kilbourne fans ready to cheer on their team packed the stands. The players didn't listen to pre-game commentary but focused on what needed to be done and pulled off an exciting victory. In all four of the seniors' previous years, they had never defeated Grove City so they felt a sense of accomplishment. Another game that brought that feeling of pride was against Chillicothe. "It was the first time that we really had fun in a game. By the second half it was all about that, about having fun, and we played well too," senior John Mann explained. "Our record in no way reflected the hard work we put in or the talent we had. It's amazing how many games we lost by only one or two points and how many ended in overtime," Mann stated.



"Our record in no way reflected the hard work we put in or the talent we had."

-John Mann

Although the varsity's record did not represent their work ethic, the junior varsity's did. They finished at 14-7 and have high hopes for the upcoming year. Three of the four sophomores that dressed varsity played J.V. the majority of the time so only sophomore A.J. Gafford and junior Kyle Vanetta will be returning as letter winners. "Although experience may be a factor, the J.V. played well together. The good thing about being so young is we have two more years. I see a lot of hope in our future," Gafford said about his class of basketball players. Kyle and he will make great leaders for the upcoming varsity team. Four players, Mike Lorello, Chris Woelever, Josh Montgomery and Ben Woerth, also put a lot of hard work and dedication into the season and look forward to next year.

ALL THE WAY TO THE HOOP

Girls Basketball Has A Strong Season

After the loss of three key seniors from the 1998-1999 squad, no one knew what to expect this year. Coached for the fifth year by Sheila Sferrella, this year's team had four seniors, including co-captains Jaime Martino and Becky Roeder.

The girls opened their season with two exciting overtime games which they split. Their competitive spirit continued as they fought hard all year long. " I think our team had a lot of energy this season," Lisa Ream said.They completed play with a record of seven wins and thirteen losses. "Our team never gave up, despite our record," said senior Lisa Ream. The high scorer, averaging nearly sixteen points a game, was freshman Brittany Roeder. "Getting Brittany was so good for our team because she is a good post player and we were lacking height on our team," Lisa Ream said.

In the first round of the sectional tournament, the Wolves met Gahanna Lincoln whom they soundly defeated by a score of 60-40. It was the Wolves' first post-season win in three years. In round two, they faced two-time defending state champion Pickerington. The Wolves gave the Tigers all they could handle. Unfortunately, the season ended with a 47-40 loss. "I think that the game with Pickerington was our best game of the season because we played them so well when everyone expected us to get blown away," Jaime Martino said.

"We had a fun year. I will miss everybody."
-Becky Roeder

Brittany Roeder made First Team All-OCC, while her sister Becky Roeder made Second Team All-OCC. Sophomore Courtney Wilson earned honorable mention All-OCC, while Jaime Martino picked up the OCC Scholar Athlete award.

SPIRIT HITS THE COURT

Basketball Cheerleaders Pump It Up

The enthusiastic shouts from the 1999-2000 winter cheerleaders encouraged the basketball team throughout the season. "Achieving our main goal, to support the team, was a great accomplishment," claimed Melissa Liebert. By being together so much for practices and games, the girls were able to bond, which is important in cheering. The spirit they showed helped boost the confidence of the basketball boys.

Not only did the cheerleaders follow the boys to every game, urging them to victories, but they also took on other important responsibilities. The girls participated in school pep rallies, helping the student body get involved and pumped up. To top it off, they delivered goodie bags to the players on game day as a token of good luck. "It's our job to get everyone fired up for games. It just makes things more exciting!" exclaimed Colleen Riddle.

The season was a lot of fun, we all became very close.

-Erin Kensinger

The cheerleading squad once again was invited to the OCC competition. Although they did not do as well as they would have liked, they had a lot of heart and patience. "It was an honor just getting to compete, and hopefully, next year the squad will do better. I'll be cheering for them although I will no longer be here," commented senior Holly Trott. The major goal for the next competition is more practice and extreme focus.

Two talented seniors, Holly Trott and Erin Kensinger, will be leaving and be greatly missed. But many will be returning to lead the boys to even more victories while pumping up the devoted fans.

MAKING A BIG SPLASH

Wolves Swim to Another Great Season

The boys swim team began their season with the leadership of ten seniors including Greg Bowne, Kyle Riddle, Jess Moore, John Bradley, Clement Cheng, Chris Kozimer, Kevin Loughin, Nick Owings, Link Staffen, and John Warner. And it sure showed as the Wolves "kept working and kept pushing through all the ups and downs of the season," says coach Jim Callahan. "This was a great group of seniors who added sheer quantity and quality to the program."

The Wolves worked hard to end on a note of success. The guys proved that they could do anything if they set their minds to it. They gradually closed in on rival Upper Arlington as they tied them in their dual meet on December 3 and later captured their first O.C.C. title (393.5-384.5) over Upper Arlington. At districts, sophomore Mike Joyce won the 500 free (4:31.91) and placed third in the 200 free, while junior Chris Cook captured a title in the 50 free (21.96). The boys swim team finished the season earning second in the district and thirteenth at states.

Also, coach Jim Callahan was named boys Coach of the Year for the third time in his career. With great coaches, excellent senior leadership, and strong swimmers, the boys swimming and diving team made a big splash and raced to a successful finish.

Girls Swimming Their Way to Success

The girls swim team had a great 2000 season. After losing an awesome group of seniors last year, they really didn't know what to expect. They pleased us all when they pulled through to be competitive within the league and district.

These ladies started training in early November with an hour and half morning practices and three hour afternoon practices. As junior Elise Schadler said, "We had a hellish Thanksgiving training." These swimmers also went to Ohio University over Christmas break for the annual hard training trip. What a nice Christmas gift!

All of their hard work and dedication paid off at OCC's where these girls placed second overall. At sectionals and districts everyone placed really well and were pleased with their outcome. They set many personal best records, and twelve people qualified for states. Freshman diver Tyne Feheley placed tenth in the state meet which was held at Canton. "Everyone told me to relax, concentrate, and go at it like practice. All I can say is that it is a lot harder to do when you actually get there," said Feheley. Jim Callahan, the Wolves and Cards swim coach said, "The key at the state meet for both coach and athelete is to refocus and not be satisfied with what they accomplished at districts."

These ladies enjoyed team unity. Schadler explained, "We were like one big family because we spent all of our time together." Maybe that is the key to success! With all of their accomplishments, the strength of the team is sure to make next season even better!

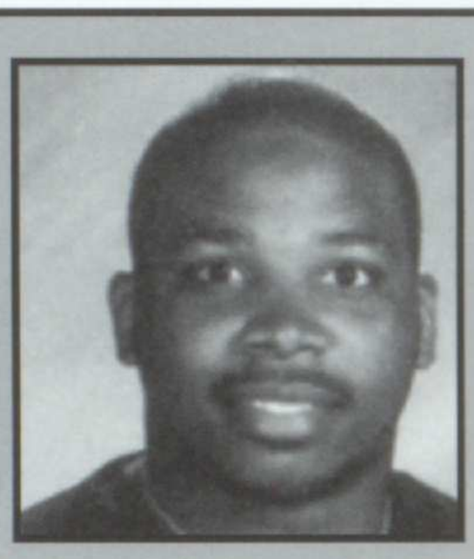
HARD WORK PAYS OFF

Wolves Finish Third in Conference

The hard work and dedication that goes into being a wrestler is unknown to all but the wrestlers themselves. The guys wake up every morning at dawn to go to practice or lift, then come back after school to have a grievous practice. The boys must also follow special diet plans provided by the coaches. Although it is a lot of hard work, it all seems to be worth it. "When we work hard, we can expect success," explained Van Daniel.

The Wolves had a rocky start, finishing in last place at the DeSales Classic, but looked at their defeat as a chance to rebuild. Injuries also plagued the team early in the season. Top wrestlers Tony Schonhardt and Pat Gerke were both on the injured list. With the majority of the boys being underclassman, the team lacked experience and depth. "We had a real young team," said Van.



"We had a slow start. but finished strong. To next year's boys: if you work hard, you can expect success."
-Van Daniel

"There were about five or six sophomores and one freshman starting." The only three seniors, Van Daniel, Tony Schonhardt and Brad Schonauer, had to set the tone and guide the way for the underclassmen. "As the season went on, things seemed to fall into to place. We had more experience to work with, which I think helped a lot in the long run," recalled sophomore Hunter Allen.

The Wolves finished strong winning their last five meets. The guys were rewarded with many individual honors. Shawn Ritzenthaler and Dustin Rike were state qualifiers, and both received First Team OCC. Shawn also received First Team All Metro. Van Daniel, and Jim Kissel earned Second Team OCC.

TUMBLING TO SUCCESS

Gymnastic Team Finishes Third in State

The girl's gymnastics team approched the season with high expectations. With key returnees such as Tiffany Bunting and Lisa Lloyd, who both made it to states last year, the girls were looking to succeed. Led by senior captains Tiffany Bunting and Megan Grindstaff, the girls progressed in skill and gained a lot of confidence which improved their routines. As they prepared together, they clicked. The Wolves earned their first ever OCC championship beating long time rival Dublin Coffman. "Winning is great, and what's great about it, is it's such a good meet where the girls all know and like each other. We've struggled through the season here and there...but we have improved on what we've done. That's where the satisfaction comes from," reflected coach Fushimi.

Next came districts. "We had gotten this far. Why should we give up now," joked sophomore Katie Kidwell. The Wolves had another first when they captured the district title and set a new school record with a team score of 144.425. Freshman Dayna Goen proved herself, finishing third in the all-around competition. Other qualifiers include Lisa Lloyd, Katie Kidwell, and Tiffany Bunting. Kilbourne reached the state competition as a team for only the second time in history and finished third. Tiffany Bunting lead the team, capturing second on the bars. "We came in wanting to have a good meet, and we did that," Bunting said. "We had a couple of bobbles, but to get through a meet perfectly is hard. It was an exciting meet, and we're really glad we placed as high as we did."

"We have put a lot of work in since the beginning of the season, and it really paid off."
-Tiffany Bunting

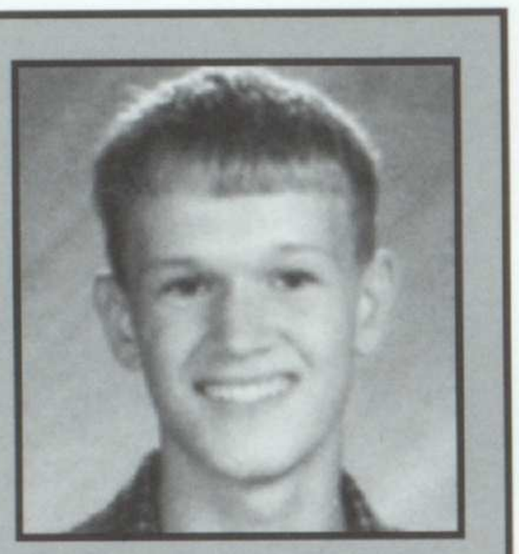
SHARP SKILLS ON THE ICE

Kilbourne is #1 in Central Ohio

With only four seniors, the leadership of upperclassmen was surprisingly strong during the 1999-2000 ice hockey season. Fighting back from disappointing losses last year, finishing 5-20, the Wolves managed a much improved record of 16-13-4. "We won a lot more games, grew closer as a team, and the experience and skill was so much greater," said senior Neal Davis about the difference from last year. Last year was still just the beginning. "It's still a new program. We have some things to work out, but all in all we're doing pretty well. The improvement from last year was incredible," junior captain Joe Ambroshi stated. Joining him as captains were seniors Jim Ballantyne and Landon Ramirez.

The Worthington Kilbourne ice hockey team defeated Upper Arlington twice this year, making themselves the only team in the central Ohio to do so. The first game score was 3-2 and later in the season during the rematch, the Wolves beat the Bears, 3-1. Not only did they defeat U.A., but the Wolves were number one in central Ohio, a first for that title. They played three extra games in the state tournament and finished somewhere in the top sixteen in the state. "I can't say I was all that surprised. We worked hard for it, and we wanted it more than ever this year so it wasn't a total shock when we finished so well," said Ambrogi.



"I couldn't have asked for better teammates. We had a great season and a lot of fun"
-Jim Ballantyne

Because ice hockey is still so new at Kilbourne, everyone involved expects a vast improvement from year to year. Already new freshman are excited and interested in playing so next year is looking good. Along with the new players, the sophomores, juniors and seniors offer some excellent leadership with seniors Joe Ambrogi, Joel Cowgill, Josh Cowgill, Ryan Frederick, Chad Lester, Joe Long, Evan Sopko, and Rob Walker. "All four leading scorers are coming back next year. Ambrogi had 31 goals, sophomore Simon Foote had 20, Josh Cowgill had 17, and Joel Cowgill had 16. We are only losing four players, so I think the transition to next year will be easy. I can see us being pretty good," junior defenseman Rob Walker explained. Although sad to see the seniors leave, the rest of the team are excited for the upcoming season. And Jim Ballantyne leaves his underclassmen teammates with this: "Thanks for this season. It was awesome. There were so many good times and fond memories. I had a great time and will miss you all. Good luck."

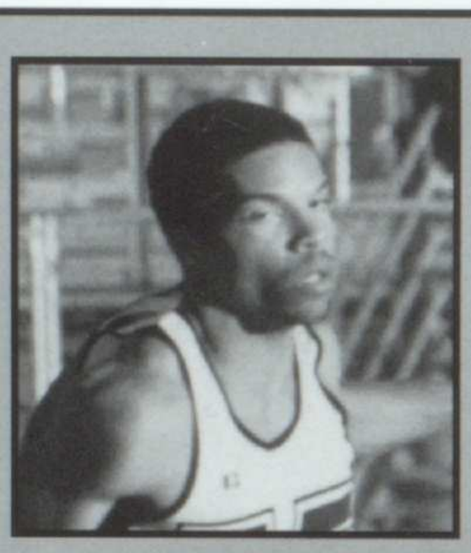
THE PASSION TO WIN

Guys Track and Field Is Moving On Up

The Kilbourne guys track and field amazed the fans this season with their hard work and determination. Everyday from February to May these athletes practiced two to three long hours. After stretching and warming up with a two lap run, they split up and went to practice their own events.

These guys had a very successful season as many individuals achieved their personal best. At districts, they earned the runners-up trophy. Junior Kyle Smith ran for first in the 400, while senior Brad Tarachuk placed first in the pole vault and Robby Rouault placed first in the 300 hurdles. Not only did these athletes do well at districts, but many also qualified for the state meet where the 4 by 4 placed 7th. "We worked really hard for this," explained Kyle Smith, one of the runners in the 4 by



"We had a very successful season and I wish everyone luck next year."
-Darren Hicks

4. As coach Chrispin suggested, "The only thing bigger than the K on their singlets is the size of their competitive hearts. Thank you, seniors, for your terrific leadership."

Several athletes also set some new school records. Robby Rouault, Kyle Smith, Mike Stasko, and Brad Tarachuk timed in at 03:22 for the 1600M relay. Brad Tarachuk also cleared 14 feet on the pole vault. These guys have raised the bar for the athletes to beat in the future.

The parents, teachers, and students here at WKHS are proud of their hard work and are looking forward to next year. Despite losing some key seniors, the underclassmen will pull through to make next season even better.

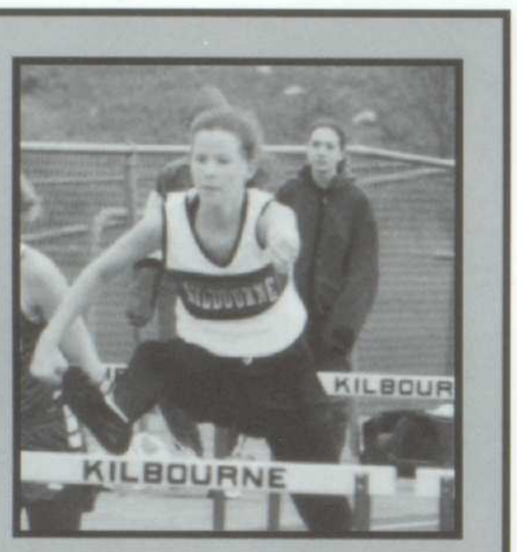
Girls Slowly Make Their Way to the Top

As snow flurries swirled and track conditioning began, 32 rookies, a huge number of girls who were new to the sport, decided to make a hugecommitment. The girls worked their hardest each and every day at practice and meets. Led by senior captains Melissa Ankrom and Tiffany Bunting, the girls were taught the importance of being a team and working together. They followed the motto "Can Do" as a positive outlook of optimism on and off the track.

Slowly but surely, their hard work and effort began to pay off as the girls more than doubled their regular season dual meet record. They improved at every meet, placing higher in each than they had the previous year and fought to place third in the OCC and advancing as many girls as possible to the regional meet became their goal, and they succeeded. The regional qualifiers included the 4x100 relay, Lisa Lloyd, Crystal Winfrey, Erin Ferris, and Erica Basinger; the 4x200 relay, Erica Basinger, Kasie Dyer, Crystal Winfrey, and Melissa Ankrom; the 4x400 relay, Erica Basinger, Melissa Ankrom, Crystal Winfrey, and Jenny Dreyer; the 200, Crystal Winfrey and Kasie Dyer; and the 400, Melissa Ankrom.



"We all did really well this season. We'll be good next year."
-Erica Basinger

Coach Chrispin relayed the message of an opposing coach who said, "You will be good next year," but the girls decided that it was this year that they were going to be good, for the seniors and for themselves. And they certainly were.

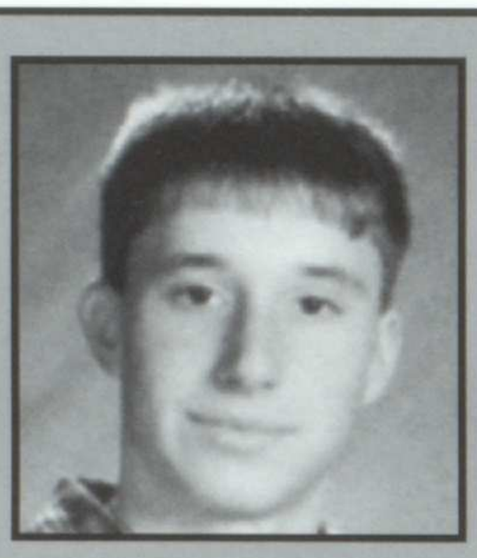
CRADLING TO SUCCESS

Third Straight Win Against Thomas

After such a strong season last year, coach Bill Wolford knew the void left from outstanding graduates would be hard to fill. Losing key senior captains, Ryan Sprague, Steve Block, and Brian Basom did not help the team any, but they did have strong leadership with twelve seniors on the team.

Time and experience improved their play. Filling the void were seniors Luke Rothermel, Kyle Riddle, Chris Newman, Kyle Turano, Mike Morris, Jess Moore, Jeremey Main, Calob Sasso, and Kevin Mitchell, but the underclassmen also did well. For example the WKHS lacrosse team relied on key juniors like Joe Ambrogi, Bill Werkehaven, Matt Bame, Mike Shirey, and goalies Rob Walker and Demetri Michaleties, not to mention, a few excellent sophomores, Cory Windle, Jeff Stack, Mike Lorello, and Forest Allread. The skill level of the team was incredible, getting the team to "click" as a whole was a challenge. "It was hard with so many new players in new positions to get used to each other, but eventually we got the hang of it," said captain Chris Newman.

Kilbourne clicked right around tournament time to win their bracket in the midwest, as well as to earn fourth place in the state tournament. "We knew we could win, we just had to do what was needed. We would win in streaks, 6 or 7 games, but then we'd lose the momentum. We just had to have it for the Thomas game, and we did," said senior Mike Morris. He was right; the highlight of the year was the first tournament game against Thomas Worthington. After a horrible loss earlier in the season, the rivalry was even greater. WKHS came out the winners, 8-6, after quite a game. This showed the Wolves' improvement from earlier in the season and was the third year in a row Kilbourne had been the champs of the Worthington match. "Winning against Thomas was so incredible, especially since the harsh loss earlier in the season. We knew if we went out and played our best, we would win," said leading scorer Joe Ambrogi with two goals in that game alone. The rest of the tournament games proved to be harder, especially after losing Ambrogi and the other two leading scorers, Windle and Stack, all three due to ejection from the Thomas game. Bill Werkehaven also could not participate, and Mike Lorello had to sit out with a knee injury. But Kilbourne was happy with doing that well under the circumstances.



"We worked hard to achieve our goals-beating Thomas was one of them."
-Chris Newman

Earning awards this year in the Midwest Lacrosse Assossiation were Kyle Turano, First Team Defense; Mike Shirey, Second Team LSM; Mike Morris, Honorable Mention Defense; and Chris Newman and Cory Windle, Honorable Mention Midfield. As for All-Ohio, Kyle Turano again received First Team Defense; Mike Shirey, First Team LSM; Mike Morris, Second Team Defense; Chris Newman, Second Team Midfield; and Cory Windle, Honorable Mention Midfield. Representing Kilbourne in the All Star Game were Mike Morris, Kyle Turano, and Chris Newman.

The story will be the same next year with the loss of twelve seniors. "I just hope we can click faster next year. The seniors brought us great leadership and skill; it will be difficult to replace that," said sophomore Cory Windle.

Senior star Kyle Turano not only defends the goal, but does his part on offense too. He takes the ball as far as he can down the field before passing it on to one of his teammates.

While playing against Hillard Davidson, Jeremy Main picks up a ground ball as Mike Shirey looks on to see if Jeremy needs help. Nice teamwork boys.

Girls Make It to States Again This Year

The 2000 girls lacrosse team struggled a bit but ended with a fair season. Although they worked very hard, the girls did not receive the results they anticipated. "The scoreboard did not show all the effort we put forth in all of the games. Hopefully next year, we will improve and win all our games!" commented sophomore Jenny West.

Although some of the scores were disappointing, the girls had fun while playing some great games. They all built long lasting friendships and created a bond that could not be broken. "We had the most fun during our sleep over at Jackie Mosure's house. We all stayed up all night talking about everything!" admitted junior Mika Kanai. The closeness these girls shared off the field played a big role in the teamwork on the field.

The biggest victory for the girls lacrosse team was their game against Hilliard Darby. This particular game was their ticket into the state tournament. Senior Mary Eck said, "We were so excited to be involved in the state tournament. We did our best and had a great time." Throughout the season and the tournament, the girls' spirits were high and their attitudes were positive.

"I had a lot of fun these four years and will miss everyone!"

-Sarah Hartong

Next year the 2001 team will miss five talented seniors including captain Sarah Hartong, captain Katie Kirkpatrick, Lindsey Groves, and goalies Mary Eck and Jackie Mosure. The top scorers, both seniors, were Lindsey Groves with 23 and Katie Kirkpatrick with 19. "We will miss the seniors' friendships and help on the field. Good luck to all the players next year!" said Brittany Matyas.

AT THE OLD BALL GAME

The Guys Swing Through a Strong Season

An essential part of a good team is leadership, and the guys baseball team had a lot of it this year with many seniors including John Mann, Andy Wagener, Ryan Lindquist, Marcus McBrien, Ryan Harris, Jordan Salyer, and Kyle Davis. The seniors all played with a lot of heart, teaching the underclassmen what baseball is all about.

Despite the early injuries to Ryan Bohn and Adam Welch who was out for the entire season, the team worked hard to finish with a league record of 4-6. Starting pitcher Ryan Lindquist had a outstanding performance against Newark to lead the team to a district win in the first game of the tournament. "As a team I felt we played really solid. I was confident with the defense behind me," he commented. They also beat seventh-seeded Gahanna, winning 6-5 on a home run in the top of the seventh inning. The Wolves went on to play Upper Arlington, which was seeded No. 2, but an unfortunate 7-3 loss cost them the district title. "I give our kids all the credit," coach Paliotto said. "They didn't get down early and take themselves out of the game...and we were able to put a big inning together."

The guys finished, 14-15, but they demonstrated consistent effort each time they took the field. They gave nothing less than their best. We're looking forward to seeing the guys play next year even though they will have a young team.

DIAMOND DOMINATORS

The Most Wins Ever for Kilbourne Softball

After a 1999 season that fell below their expectations, this year's girls softball team was anxious to have a better experience. Coached by Bob Lee, the girls set out to achieve a winning record. They opened with a win against Amanda-Clearcreek, 6-1. The Wolves played long ball in the victory, hitting two home runs.

Over spring break, the team played four games in Florida. After losing the first game, 6-1, they won the next three. This was the start of something big. When they returned from Florida, the girls looked unstoppable. They went on a rampage, defeating Westerville South, 10-2 and Dublin Coffman, 15-0. These were the highest run-producing games of the season for the Wolves. They outscored their next four opponents 16-2. Before they knew it, their winning streak had hit ten.

It came to a sudden halt when they lost a 1-0 decision to Hilliard Davidson. They did win their next two games, but unfortunately, they would win only two more games after that. Despite the disappointing end to the regular season, they achieved a winning record. A hopeful team headed to the tournament. As the seventh seed, they had a first-round bye, then played Westerville South in their first tournament game. The Wildcats had a no-hitter against the Wolves the last time they played each other, but in the tournament, it was Kilbourne who came out on top, 8-4. Unfortunately, play ended with the next game, a 5-2 loss to league rival Grove City. Despite the early end to a great season, the Wolves held their heads high. The 16-10 record was the best in school history. "We were really dedicated and it showed," said Alyssa Franks.

"We had a lot of accomplishments this year. I'm proud of our hard work."
-Jaime Martino

The softball team will lose four talented seniors, Jaime Martino, Emily Herner, Cassie Peterson and Ashley Shoemaker, but with all the returning talent they have including Jodi Metzmaier and Jessie Toney, they are eager for 2001, especially junior Jodi Metzmaier. "With all of our success this year, I can't wait until next year," she exclaimed.

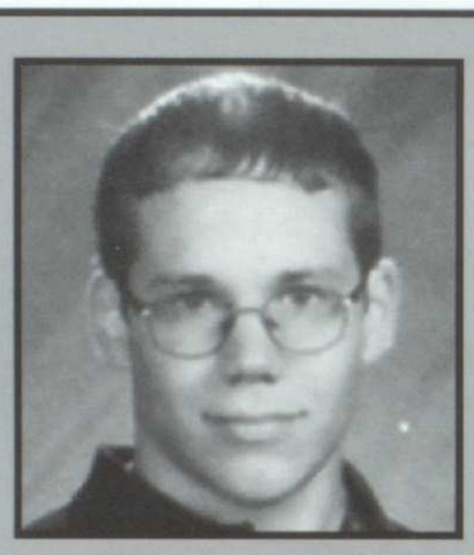
BUMP, SET, AND SPIKE

Boys Volleyball Wins District Championship

After a spectacular 19-6 season last year and the loss of a few key seniors, no one knew how far this year's boys volleyball team would go. Coached by Glynda Rice and led by captains Pete Wilson, Justin Wilson, and Kyle Vanetta, the team set out to accomplish high goals.

They opened with a second-place finish at the St. Charles Classic. Unfortunately, the team had a little trouble maintaining its intensity. They finished the regular season with a 12-12 record. However, they did place third in the OCC behind Dublin Coffman and Hilliard Davidson. The boys arrived at the tournament using their disappointing regular season as motivation to do better.

In the first round, they bumped, set, and spiked their way to a victory over Olentangy. In the next round, they met Upper Arlington, whom the Wolves had already beaten earlier in the season. In the tournament, the script remained unchanged as the Wolves ran all over them. It was on to the district final at home against Delaware. The boys received a stiff challenge from Delaware, but they sweated out a three-game victory for the district championship. Unfortunately, the boys' season ended in the regional semifinals with a loss to Watterson.



"My volleyball career at Kilbourne certainly went out with a bang."
-Pete Wilson

Despite that disappointment, the boys felt they had accomplished a lot. "We barely fell short in our run for the state title, but hard work and dedication took us as far as we went," said senior Mohammed Rahman. Even though they will lose six seniors to graduation, they should have another great team in 2001. Justin Wilson gave them encouragement, "Good luck to the guys next year. Yeah, Wolves!"

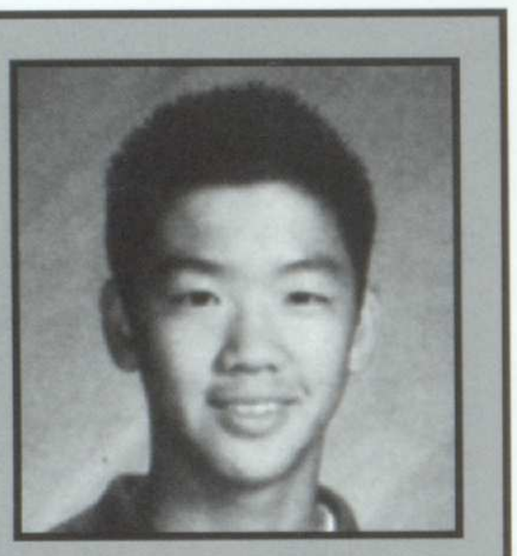
Boys Tennis Team Captures OCC Title

The boy's tennis team went above and beyond their expectations. Losing top players Matt Larsen and Drew McGill, the team questioned their future, but they stepped up to meet the challenge. With a combination of young talent and returning seniors, the Wolves proved they were in for the win. "We set our goals high. We knew this could be our year. We had a chance to have a very successful season and win the conference title," explained Jon Pedrick.

They opened out their season strong, winning their first three games, 5-0. The boys had a disappointing loss to arch rival Upper Arlington. "We didn't play as well as we hoped, but there is always next year," said Mike Hays.



"It felt really nice to win games againist teams we have not beat in a while."
-Gary Sun

The Wolves had their first loss to Dublin Coffman but avenged it by beating them in the OCC finals to capture the title.

Senior captain Robby Hays lead the team, finishing his season with an 18-4 record. Mike Hays also had an impact with an impressive record at first court singles. Junior Rony Sinharoy added many clutch wins and stepped up when necessary. The Wolves completed their season with a 12-3 record. "Next year should be even better. With six returning letterman, we will have plenty of young talent to work with. Our goal is to win the state tournament," reflected Rony Sinharoy.

Largest Book Award in the Country

Worthington Kilbourne's tradition of presenting books to juniors continued this year by honoring 165 juniors in the largest book award in the country. Private and public colleges and universities from coast to coast including Hawaii and Maine donated the books. Some students' books reflected their intended area of study while others were literary classics or faculty-authored. A committee of U.S. history teachers, counselors and Dr. Lindsay selected the recipients based on service, scholarship, co-curricular interest and various other talents.

This award is a great opportunity for juniors to be recruited by top colleges. Dr. Lindsay commented, "Kids feel good about a ritual that expresses the value of continued lifelong learning." The fourth year that Worthington Kilbourne has held the Junior Book Awards, it continues to honor the academic achievements of juniors.

Congratulations to Mr. Beck for receiving one of the ten state-wide Ashland Teacher Achievement Awards with a prize of $2500. He teaches HomeBASE, a course in which students learn at their own pace while building a house for Habitat for Humanity.

After spearheading our successful application for the Blue Ribbon Award for our school, Dr. Lindsay earned some well-deserved recognition herself. Named the only principal from Ohio as a National Milken Educator, a lifetime achievement award for contribution beyond a specific institution to the world of education, Dr. Lindsay accepted a gift of $25,000 plus a $10,000 tuition credit to go on-line to work toward a Master's degree. Selected as one of ten semifinalists for Principal of the Year, she will travel, all expenses paid, to the national convention where the winner will be announced in March if she becomes a finalist. One of nine educators and the only principal, she has been invited to join an all expense paid lecture tour to Russia. Congratulating her on the award are Dr. Sonedecker, board member Mrs. McNaughten, Dr. Asbury, and Dr. Yelman, State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Taking an Extra Step

Thirty-three students grabbed the unusual opportunity to explore options in their lives and do great things for the month of May through Senior Project. Some students traveled overseas while others stayed close to home, but all thirty-three students took the great leap into the real world.

The seniors and their projects were Joni Baker, Porter, Wright, Morrie & Arthur; Gregory Bowne, Executive Jet; Lindsay Broadfoot, Granby Elementary; Julie Brown, Tree of Life Christian School; Katie Calhoun, Sutter Park Elementary School; Kristen Cicero, Slate Hill Elemetary School; Amanda Corbett, Riverside Hospital, ER; Asegai Daniel, Physician's Telehealth Network; Marie Dickson, Cardinal Health; Kendra Doyle, Hardwood Flooring and Painting; Jennifer Feeney, Woodstock, NY; Rachel Green, Suburban News Publications; Jennifer Kazanjian, Kerrington; Rebecca Kovacs, Christian Missions, Argentina; Kari Krantz, Sexual Assault Response Network; Laura Kunkle, Southwest Indian Ministries; Jessica Leahy, Worthington Hills Elementary School; Man-Yin Lee, Stan Evans Bakery; Lindsay Lorello, Liberty Elementary School; Nathaniel Mackle, Assistant to Local Pastor; Tiffany Miller, Hillary Carlson's Horses; Jessica Mosier, Christian Missions, Argentina; Sarah Nelson, Limited Corporation; Courtney Noble, Opera Columbus; Rachel Ramey, Granby Elementary School; Laura Richardson, Medary School; Lindsay Rodgers, Fort Hayes Career Center; Ryan Schmaltz, Riverside Hospital, Cardiologist; Ashley Shoemaker, Ron Forth Advertising; Holly Trott, Petit/Gates Construction; Jamie Walter, Ohio Secretary of State; Erin Whitaker, Star 107.9; Stephanie Willams, Oakland Park School.

Thank you to all of the volunteers and the faculty members who made this activity possible. Good job, seniors.

Lending a Helping Hand

The thirty-three students in HomeBASE met every other afternoon during the week and every Saturday for the entire school year. They built a Habitat for Humanity house in Delaware for a single mother and her three children. "I decided I wanted to get something special out of my senior year," said Holly Trott.

As well as building the house, the students earned an English and a government credit. The advisor for HomeBASE is Mr. Beck, the winner of the 2000 Ashland Teacher Achievement Award. Mr. Beck stated, "We are the only school in the country to integrate this into the curriculum."

The teachers tried to involve students as much as they could which is what the students really like. Anyone visting the job site saw students hard at work with nails and hammers. They all enjoyed a sense of accomplishment for a job well done.

The students built the house for Shirley Shaw who also worked at the site. She was required to put in 200 hours with an additional 50 hours of work from her family and friends.

All the students, teachers, volunteers, and helpers should be very proud of themselves for buliding a house for such a good cause. A big pat on the back goes to Mr. Beck and the other teachers, Mr. Jordan and Mr. Buford, who made this all possible.

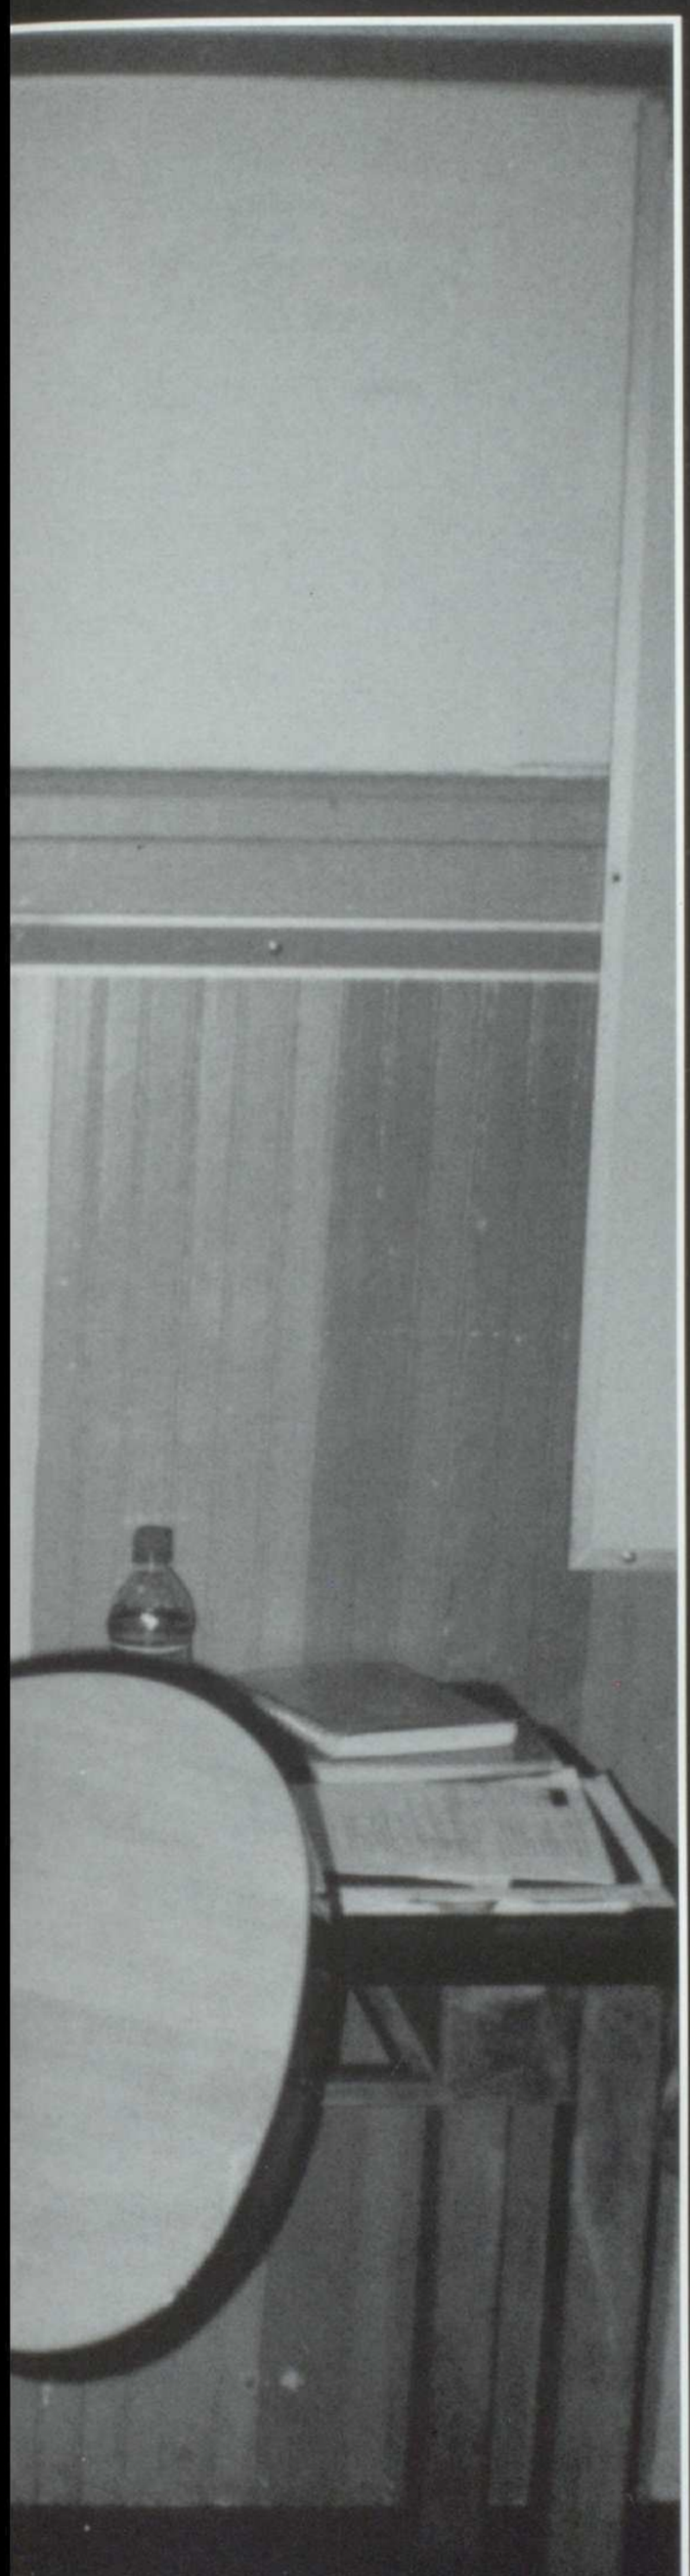
Many have talents at Linworth. Takeshi Sasaki shows his love for his guitar.



Up to a point a man's life is shaped by environment, heredity, and movements and changes in the world about him; then there comes a time when it lies within his grasp to shape the clay of his life into the sort of thing he wishes to be...Everyone has it within his power to say. "This I am today, and I shall be tomorrow."

LINWORTH

When some people think of Linworth, they associate the alternative school with words like different, weird, and eccentric. Yet the kids who attend the school are very bright, self-motivated students who take responsibility for their own education and are enjoying their learning experience.

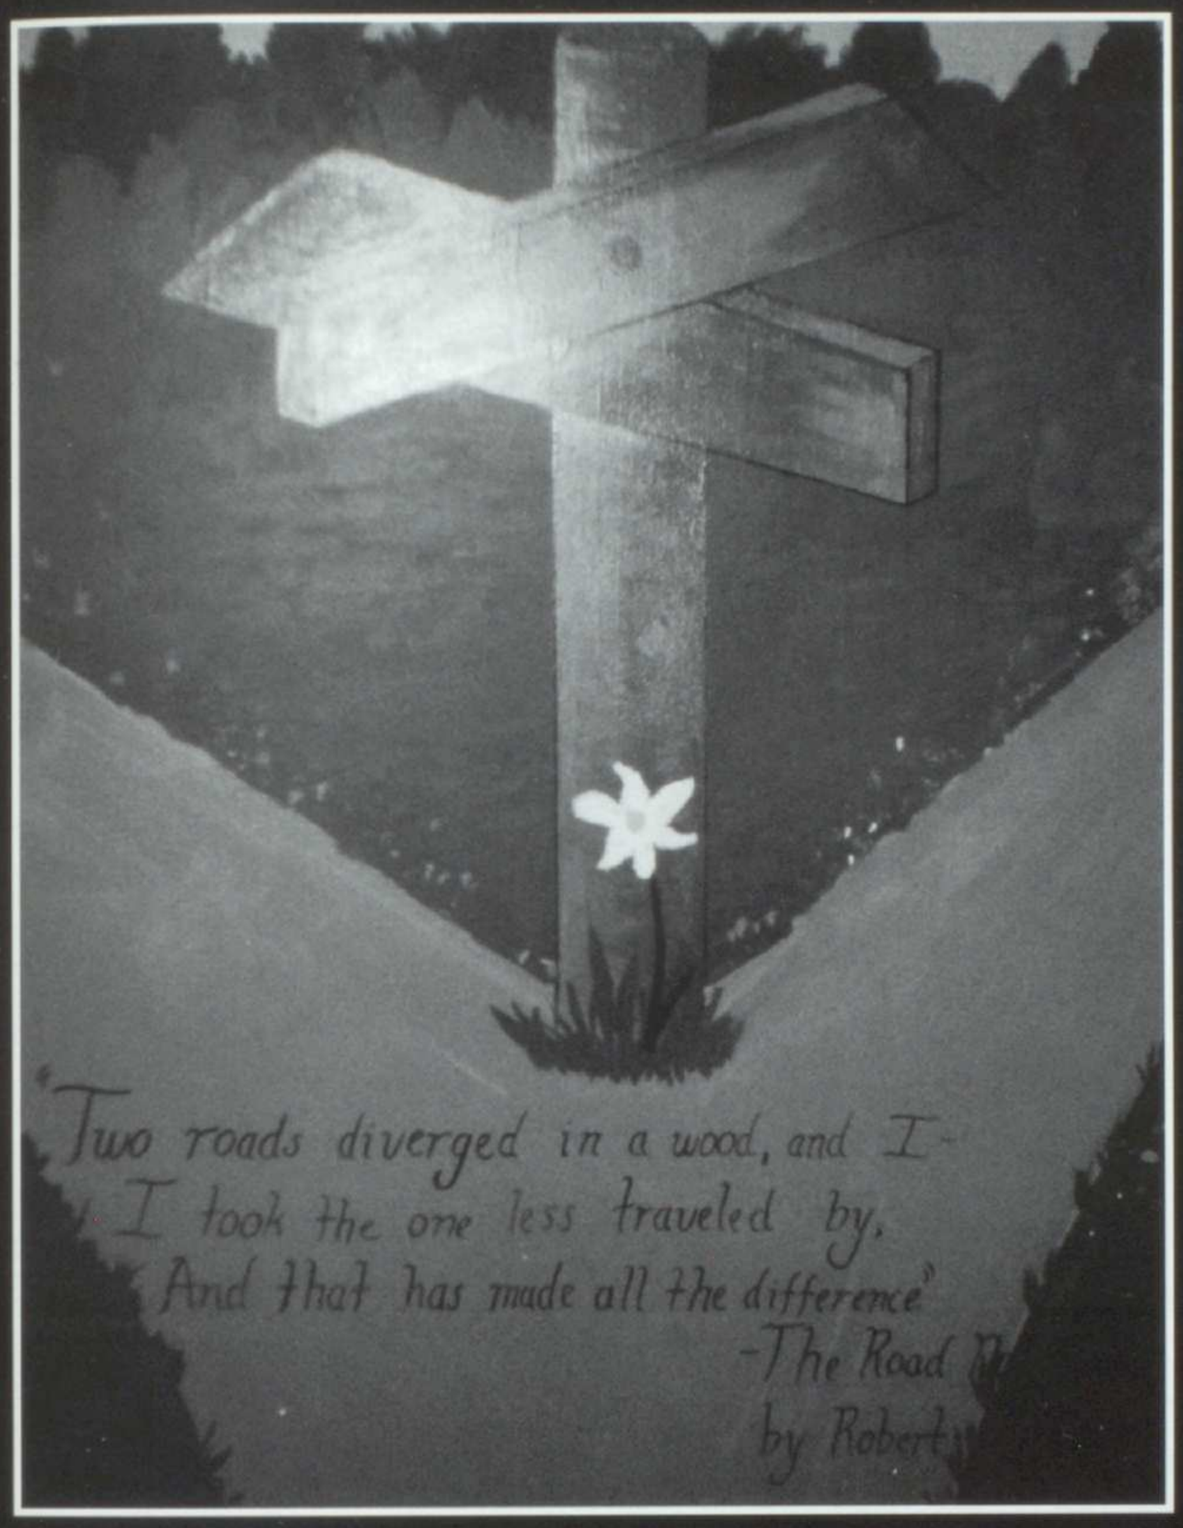
Ever since the opening of the Linworth Alternative Program in 1973, students have had the freedom to make decisions for their school. Every week they hold a town meeting in their commons area, appropriately called the "Big Room." During the town meetings the students and teachers come up-to-date on the week's up-coming events, as well as work out problems between the students and teachers. These town meeting also let the students make up rules they feel are necessary and abolish rules they do not feel are helping the student body.

The small size of the school helps the students and teachers to have a more intimate setting. The smaller class sizes and the block scheduling allow students to have more one-on-one time with the teachers. "I like the smaller size school. I feel closer to the students and teachers here. At Kilbourne, I am more of a small fish in a big sea," explained Claire Fazio, a junior at Linworth.

Another unique aspect of Linworth is the safety and security felt by all. None of the colorfully decorated lockers have locks, so at Linworth trust and honesty are definitely the best policy in this small college-like atmosphere.

The Linworth Alternative Program is a school based on honesty, trust, and responsibility. Fazio also says, "This has been a wonderful experience that most students have not been lucky enough to participate in." The school does face minor problems like any other school, but Linworth has proven to be an excellent alternative for all students to learn, grow, and mature.

By Kirstin Auestad



This dragon gracing on the wall is one of the many student-generated murals painted in the halls throughout Linworth.

"Two roads diverged in a wood, and I- I took the one less traveled by, and that has made all the difference." This is a line from a famous Robert Frost poem, with which a student chose to explain his experience at the school.

On the colorfully decorated lockers through out the school, we can see everything from singers like Bob Marley to the Little Mermaid. Students have a lot of trust since they don't lock their lockers. It would never work at Kilbourne.

Disguising his face on the way to the "Powder Room" is Jason Farrington. I guess he just wants to freshen up a bit.

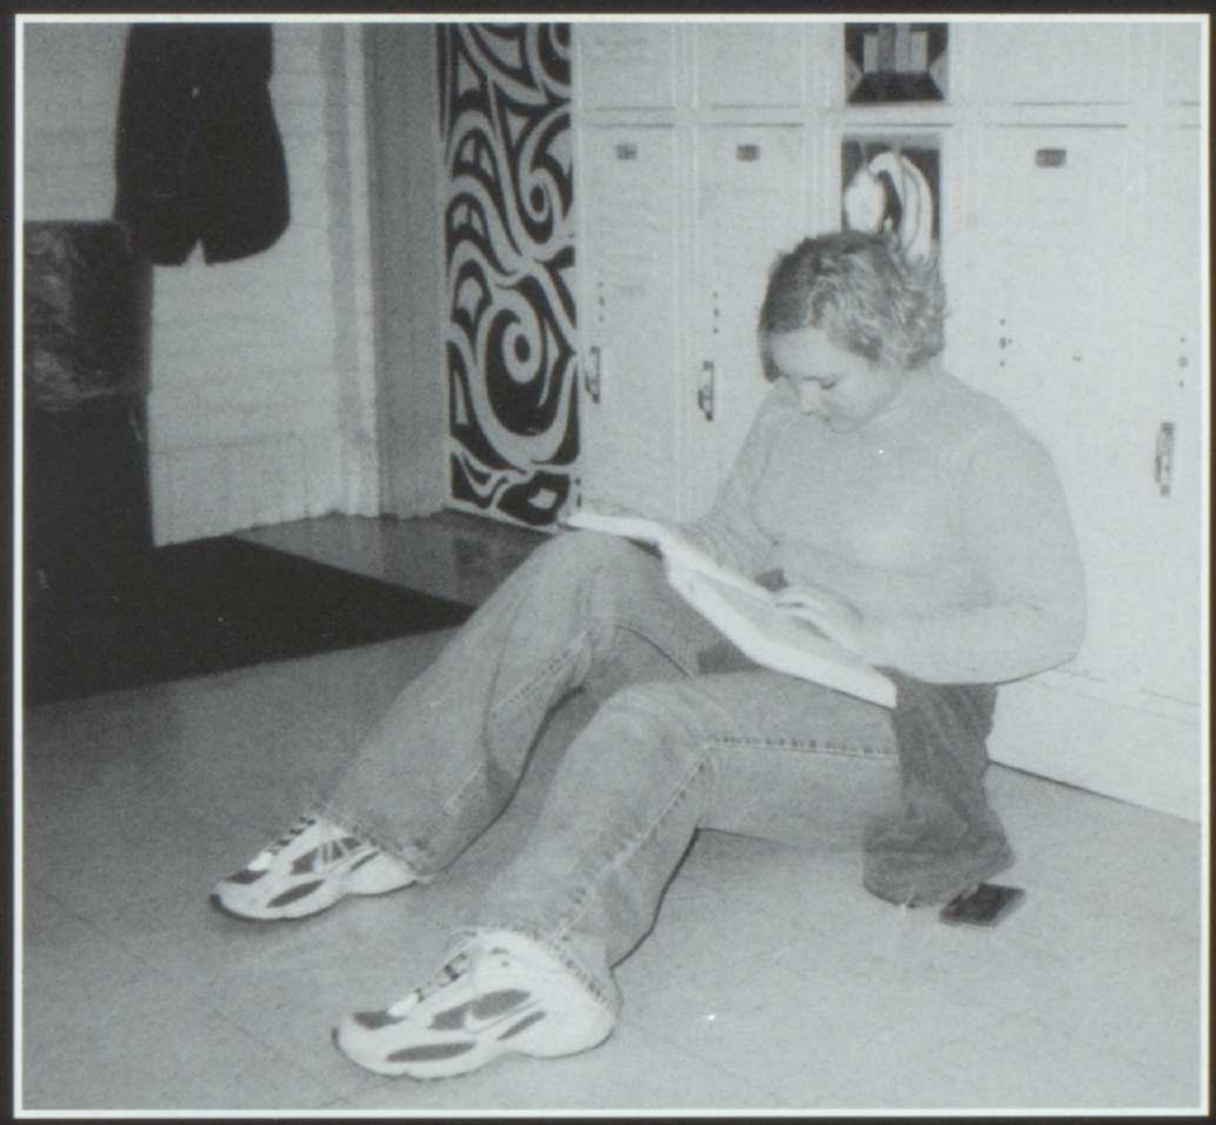
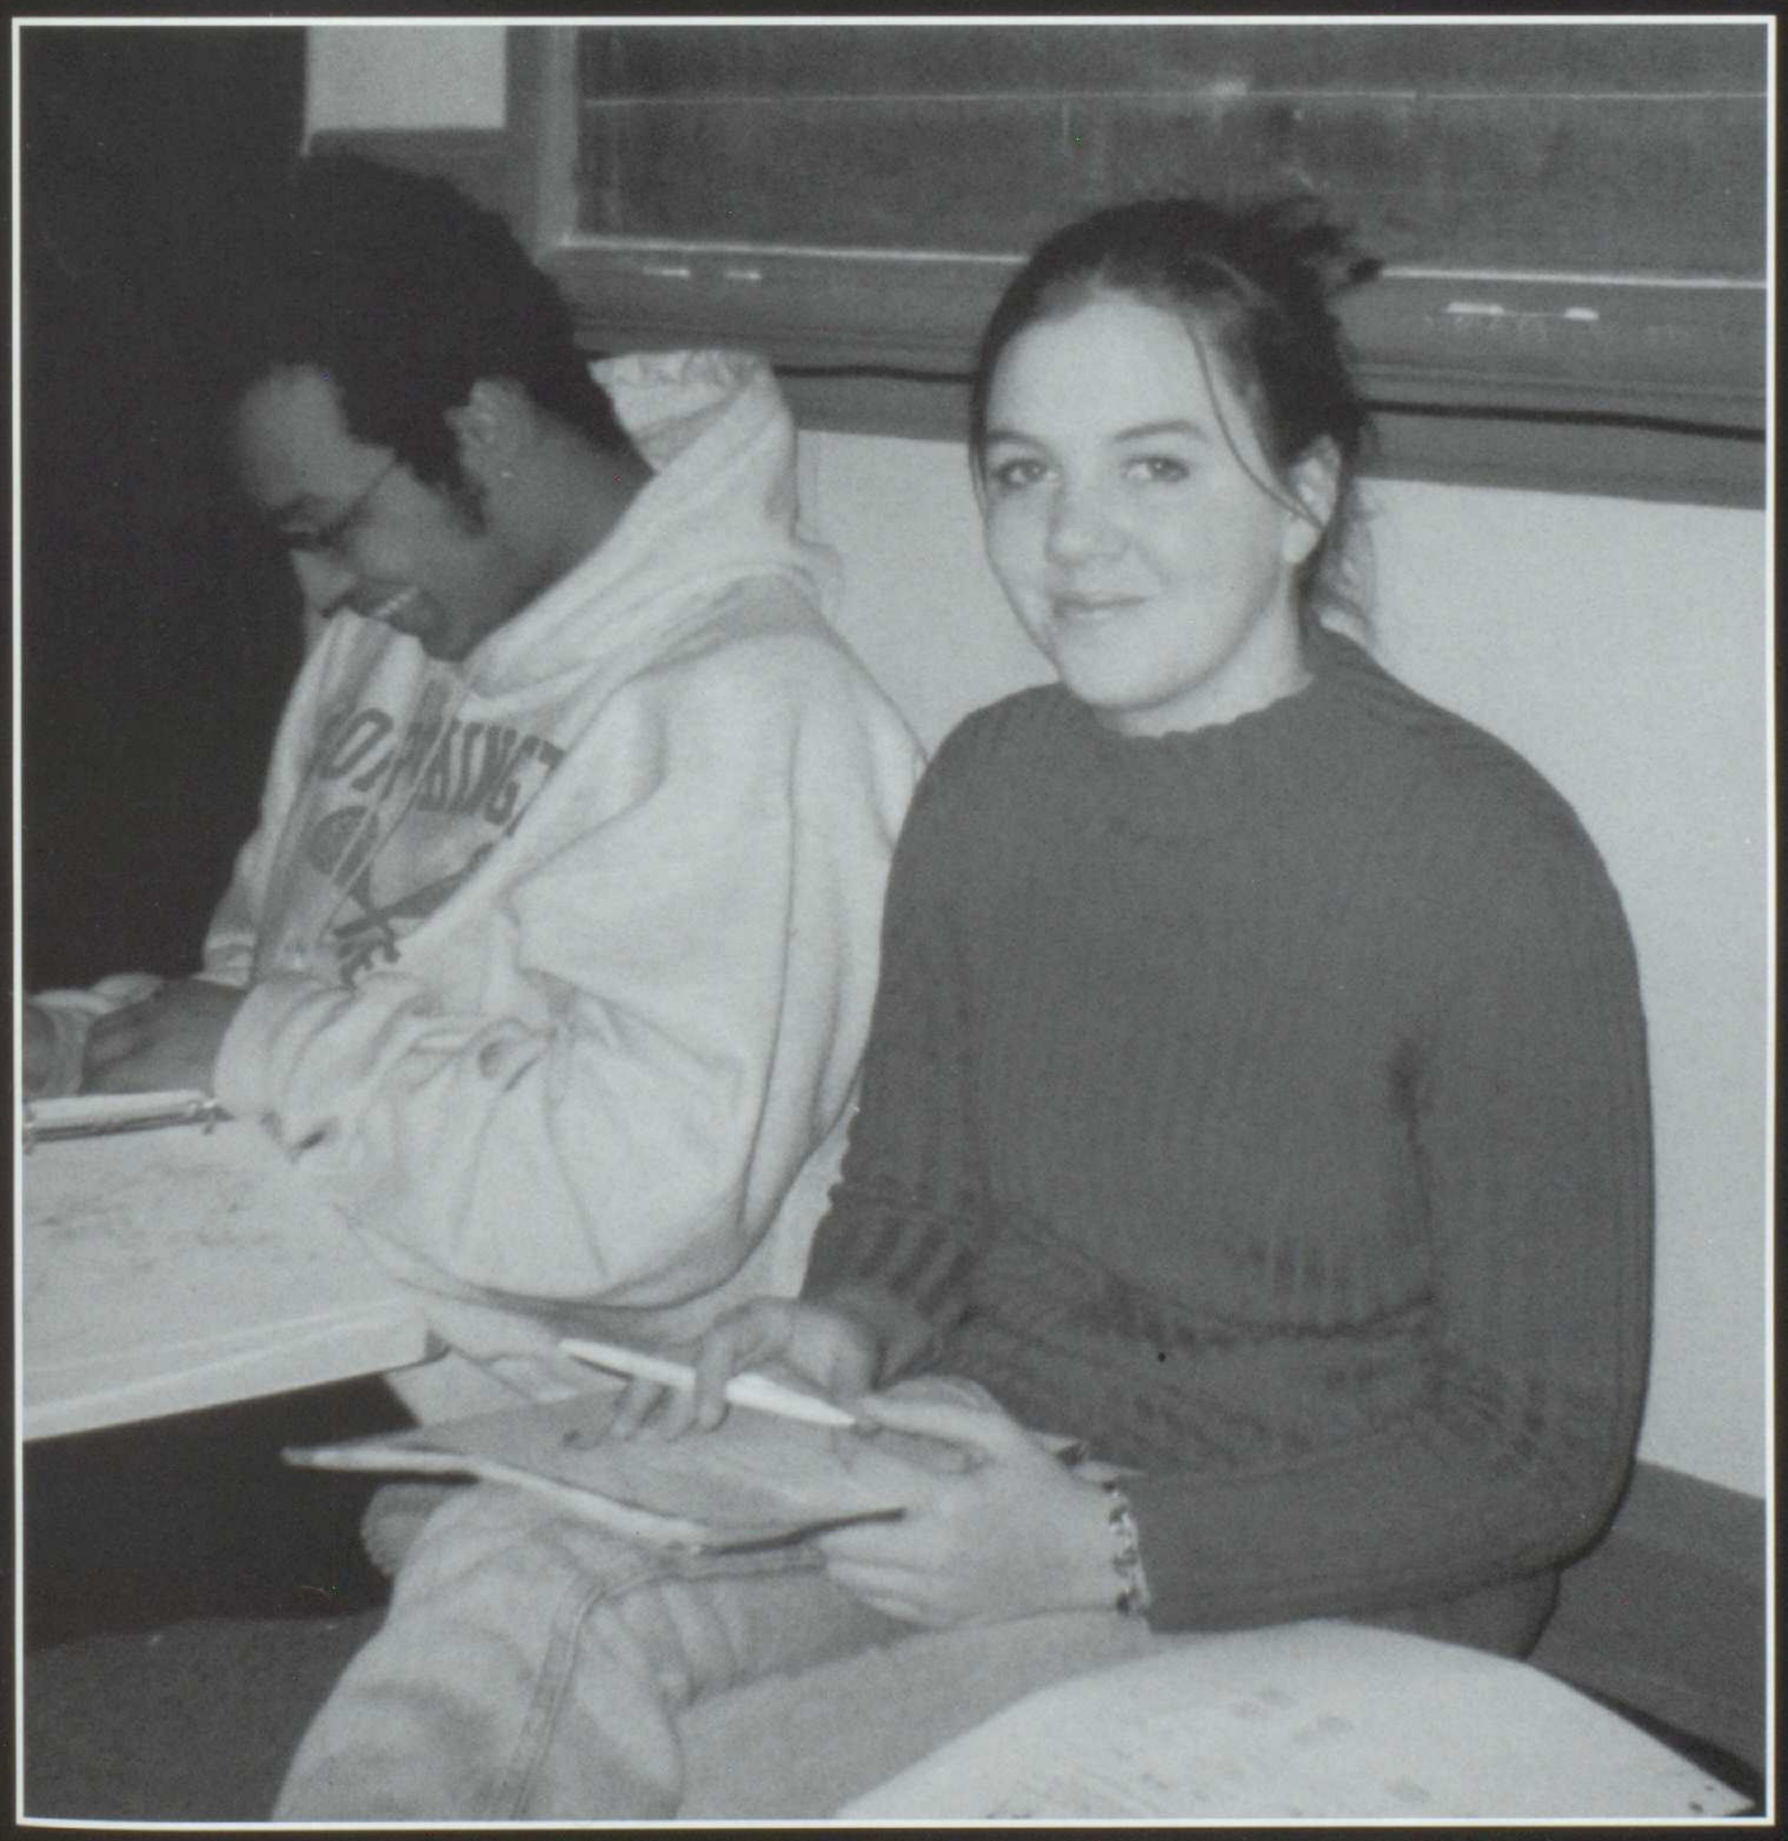
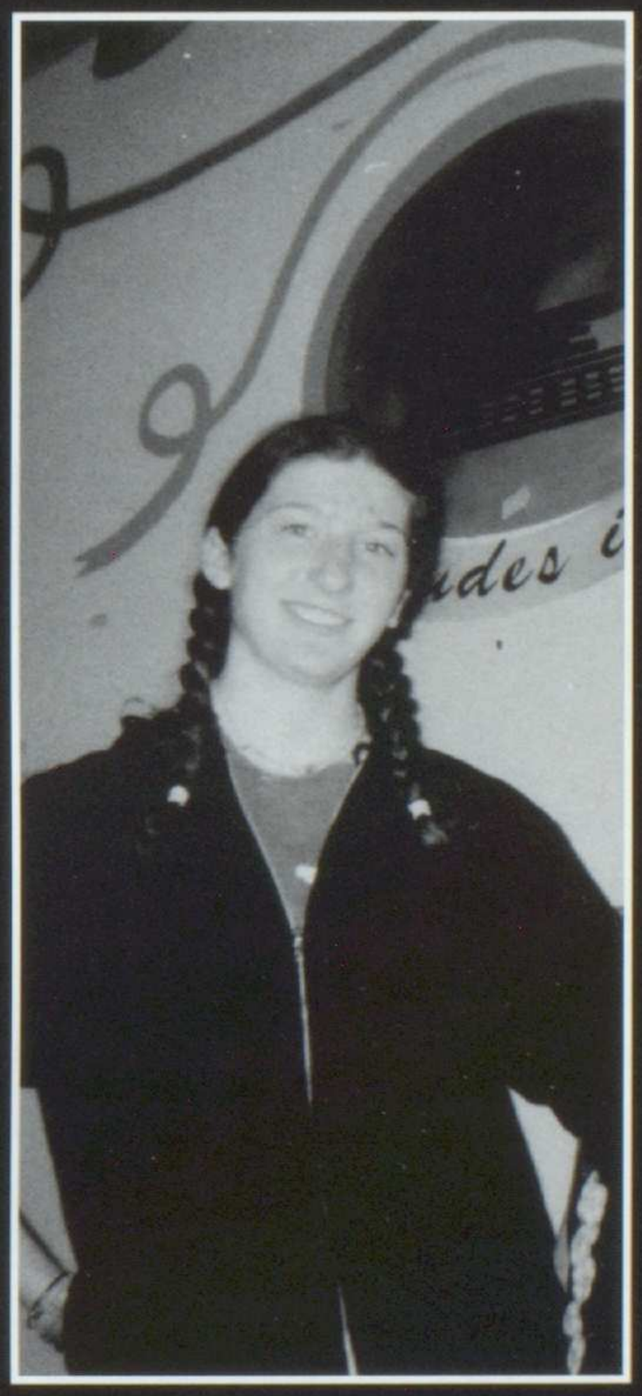
Studying hard for a test is Clare Fazio. At Linworth they seem to keep academics at the top.







Standing confident and happy to be at Linworth is Natalie Bensman.

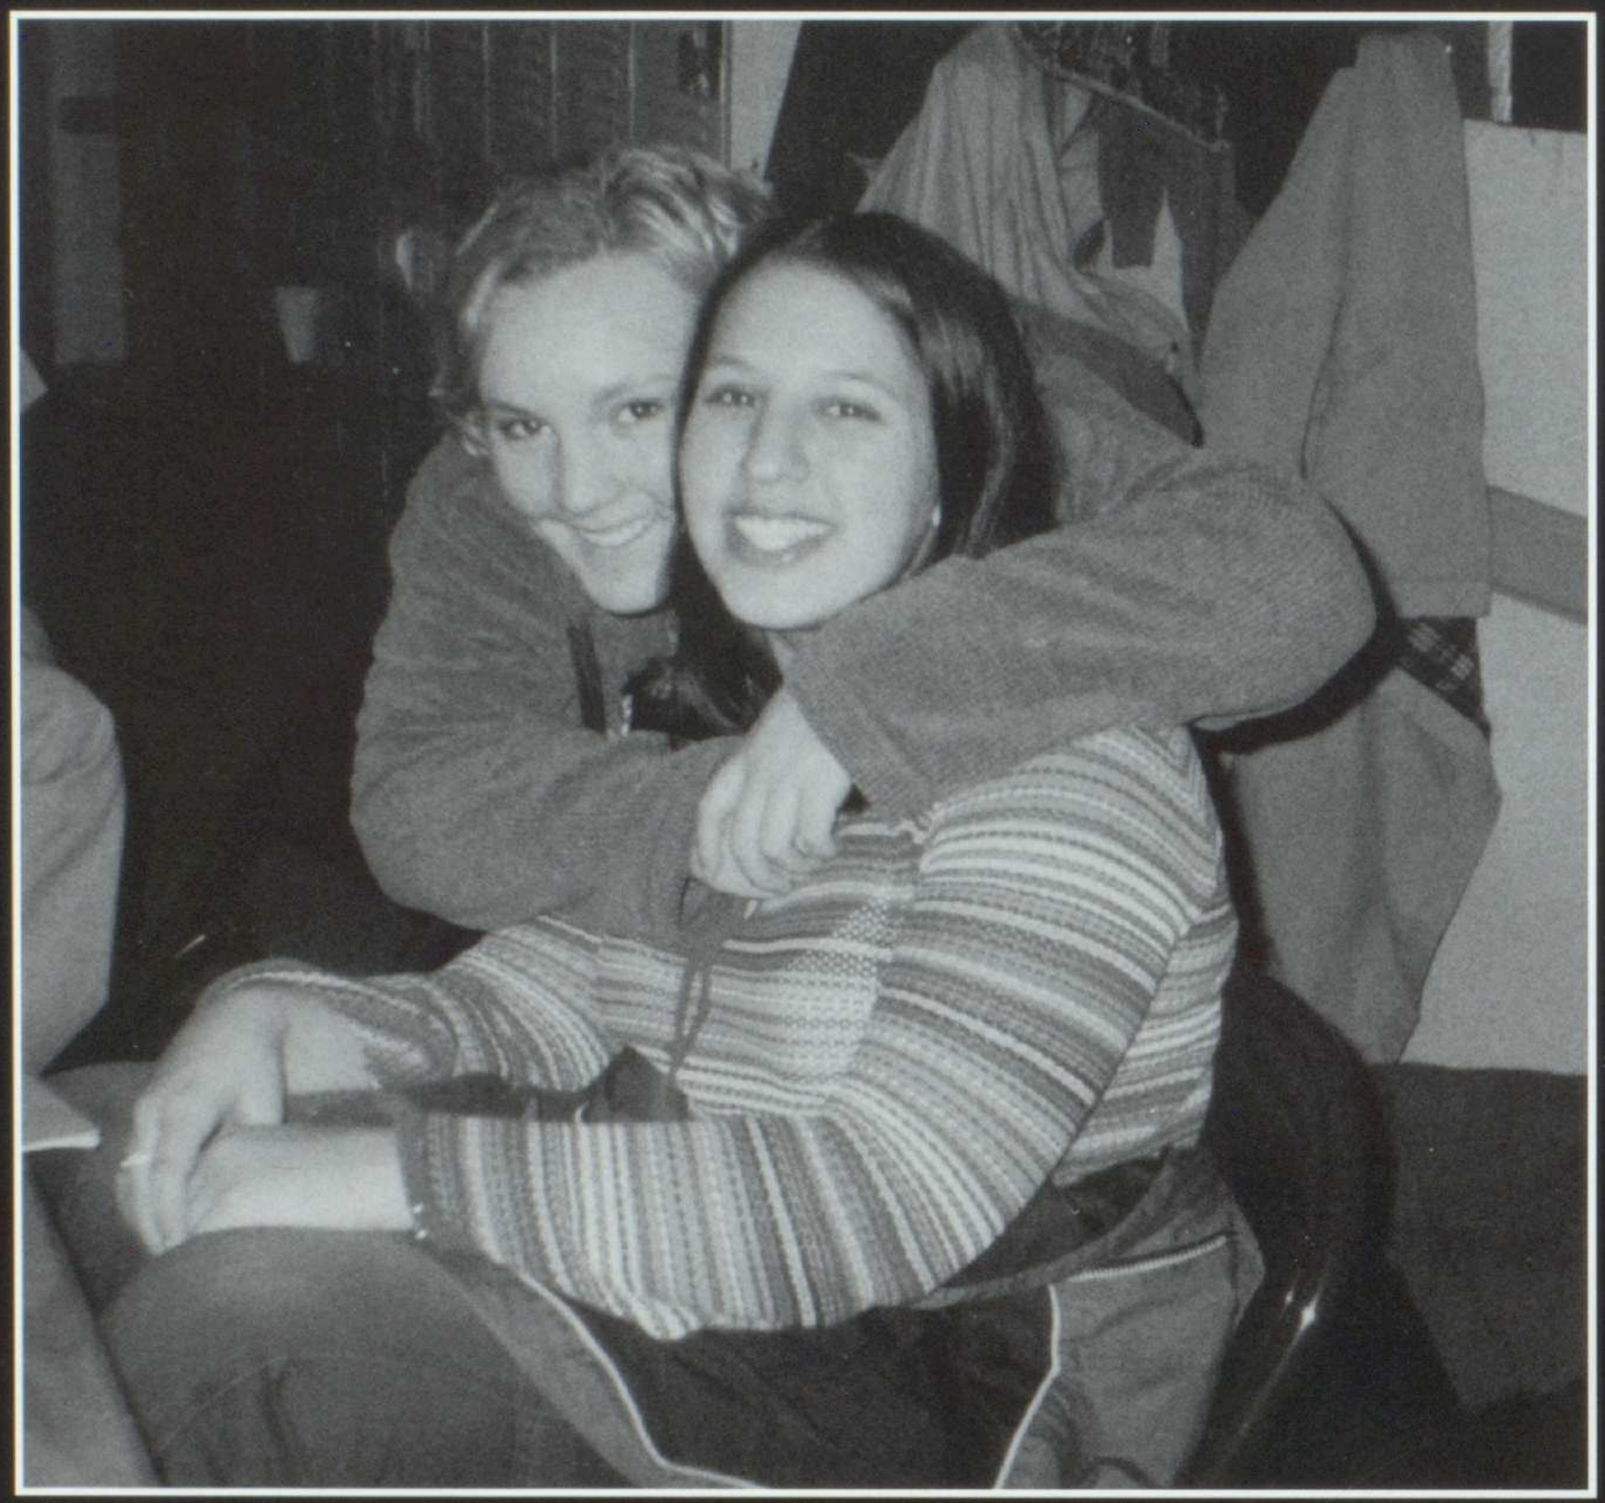
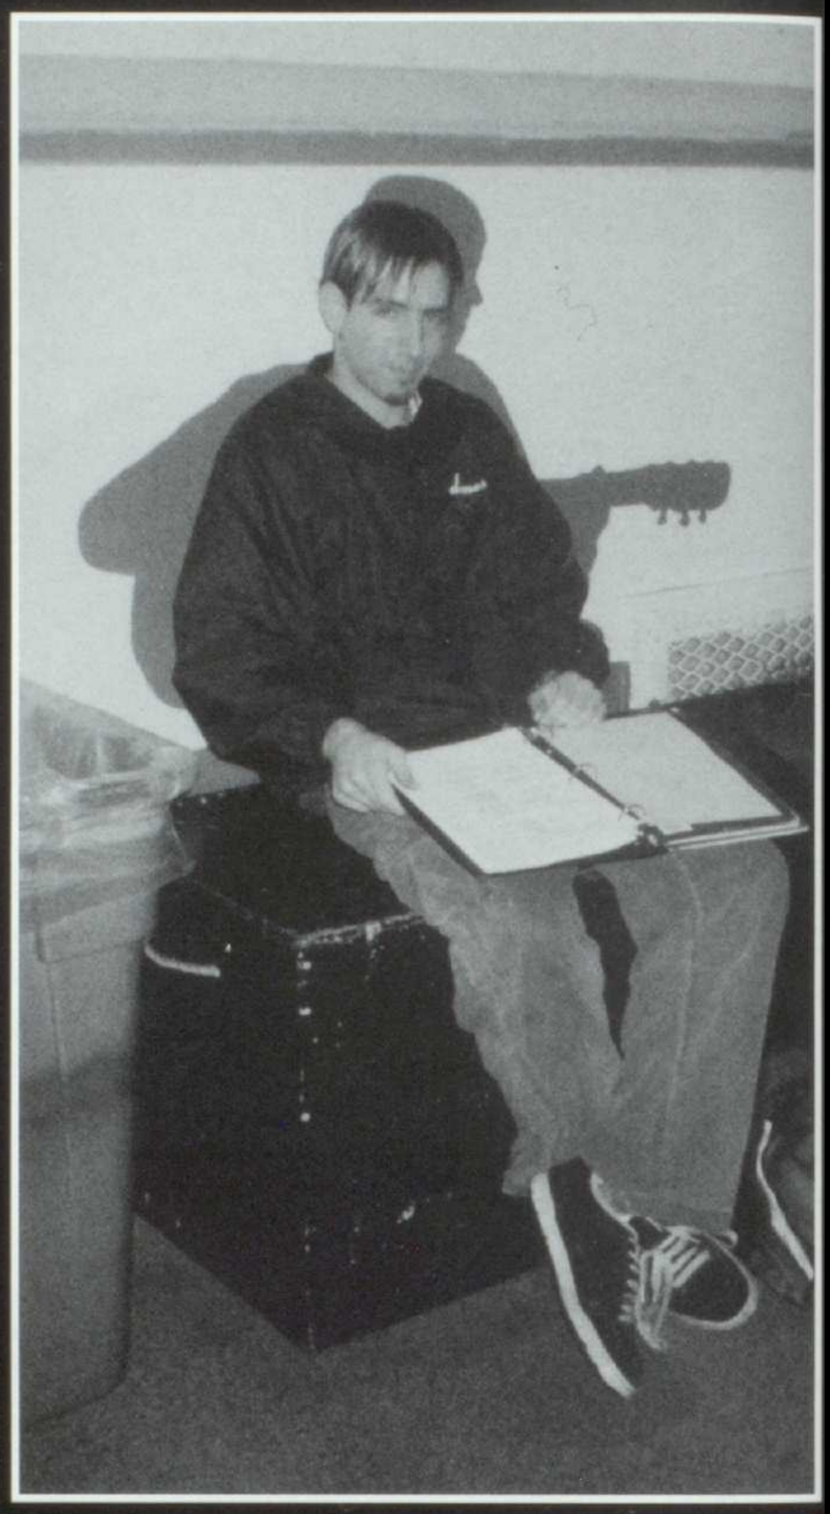
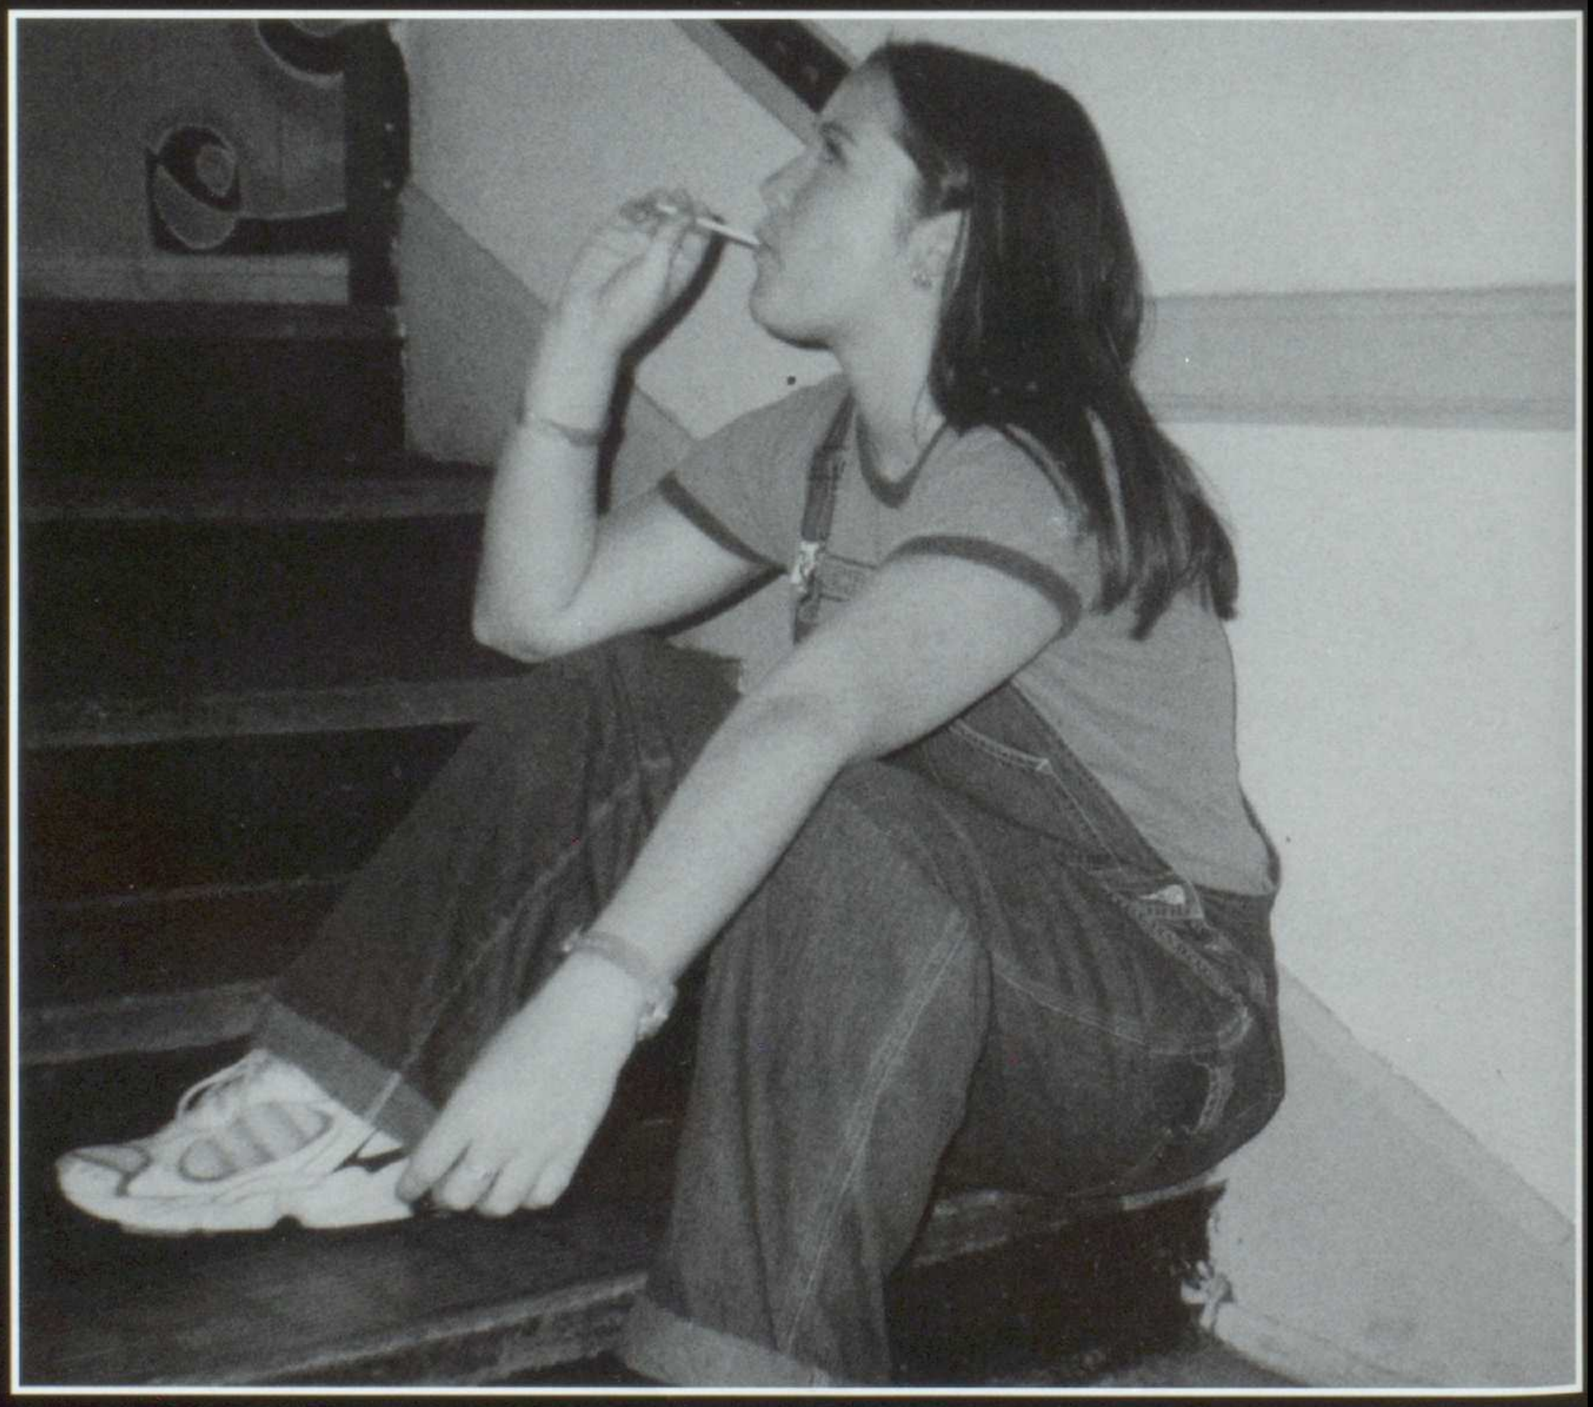
Taking a break from their studies for a little bonding time are Clare Fazio (left) and Shellie Bensman. "We love the relaxed atmosphere here at Linworth. It takes away so much pressure and allows us to get more accomplished," says Clare.



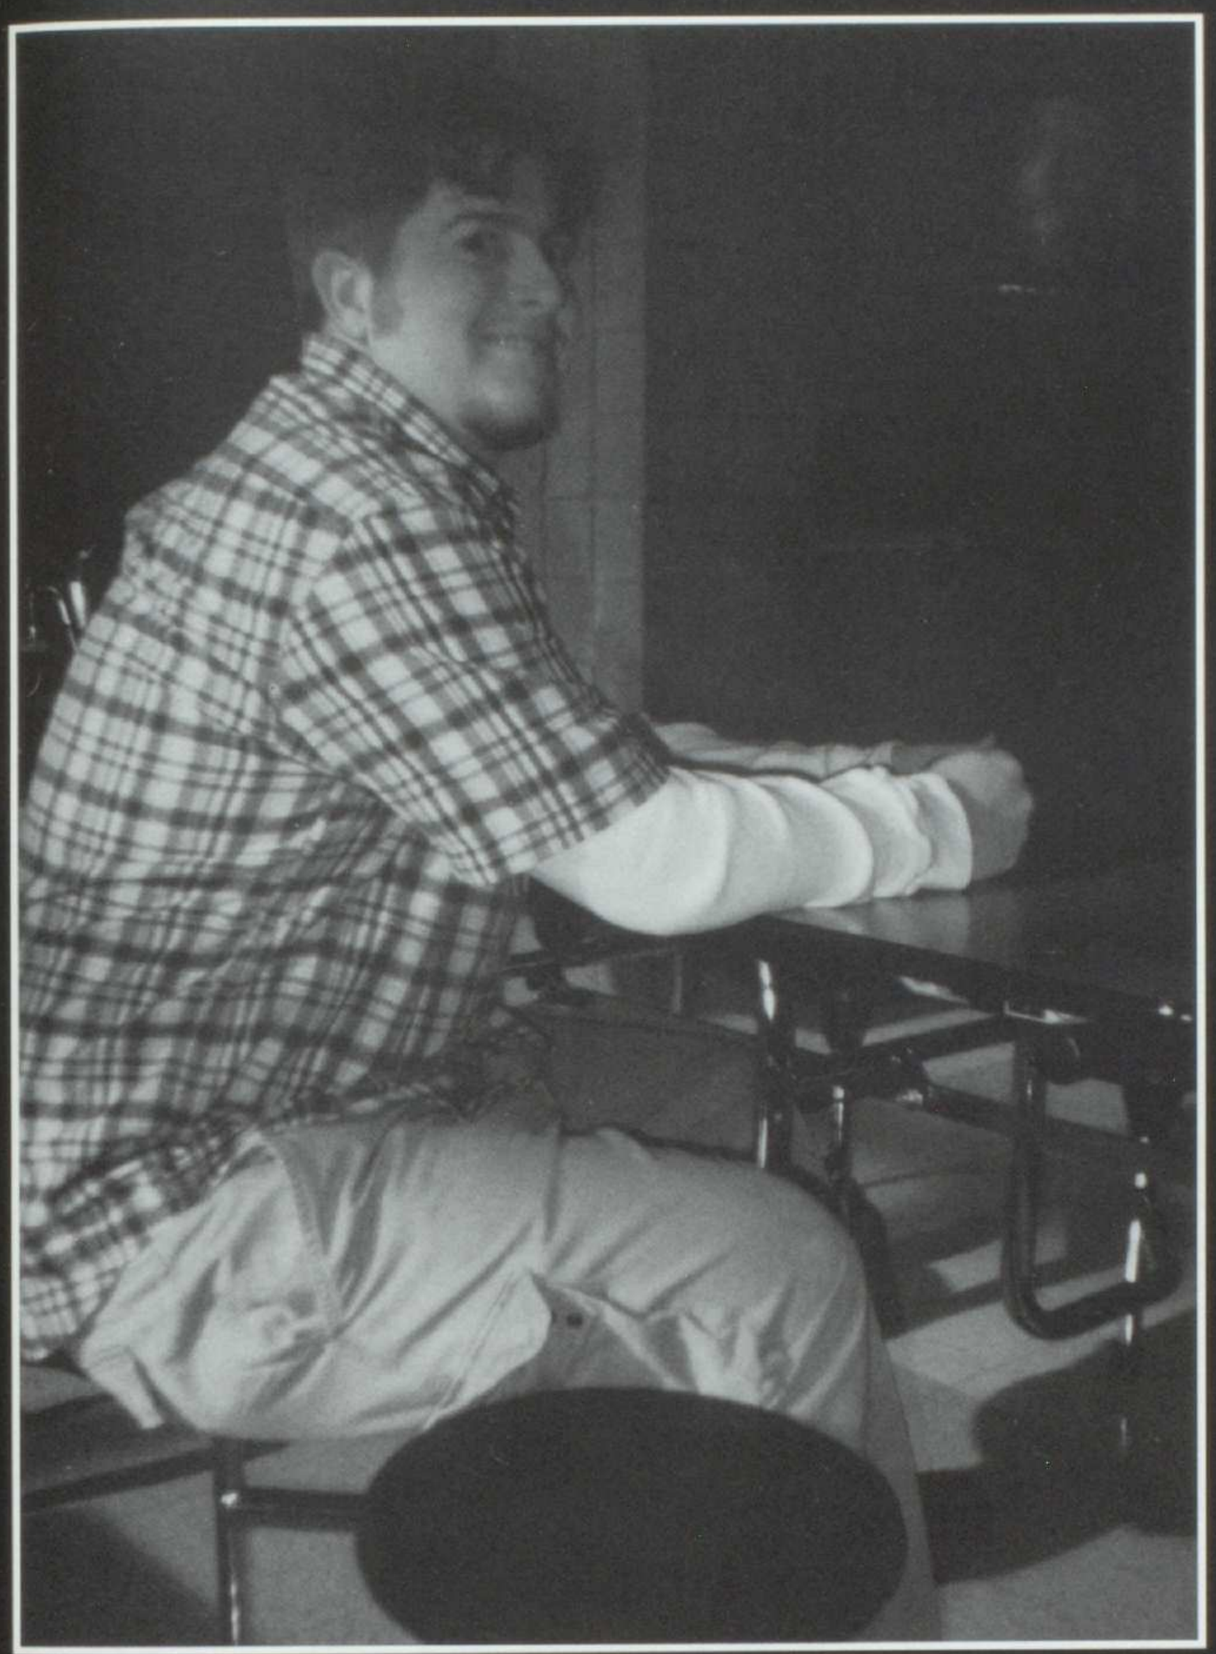
Is that Ian Loomis playing the guitar during his free time? No, that is just one of the many wall paintings decorating the halls of Linworth.



Standing next to one of his good friends, Kermit the Frog, is Nate Gay. It's too bad Nate left his banjo at home today or they could put on a concert for the other students at Linworth.



Thinking about how she is going to spend her summer break is sophomore Alison Baker. Where do you think she is going? Hopefully, somewhere warm and exciting.



Sitting in the cafeteria at Kilbourne is Linworth student Nolan Saunders. He is enjoying his break from his busy "walk-about" schedule.

Working hard, taking notes in her class is Marie Sato. We have no doubt that she willing to stay focused in class despite the destractions all around her.

Intent reading an article for his next class is Matt Petruso. I wonder if Matt's teachers know just how dedicated he is to his studies?

Friends for so long and still as close as ever are Asia Peterson and Brandon Dixon.

Wishing they were still in bed...but participating in Pajama Day for spirit week are Jenny Linley (left) and Hollie Witchey.

Brandon Kilgore looks desperate as he pleads for others' help in the homeroom activitiy.

Martino, L. Groves, and K. Kirkpatrick.

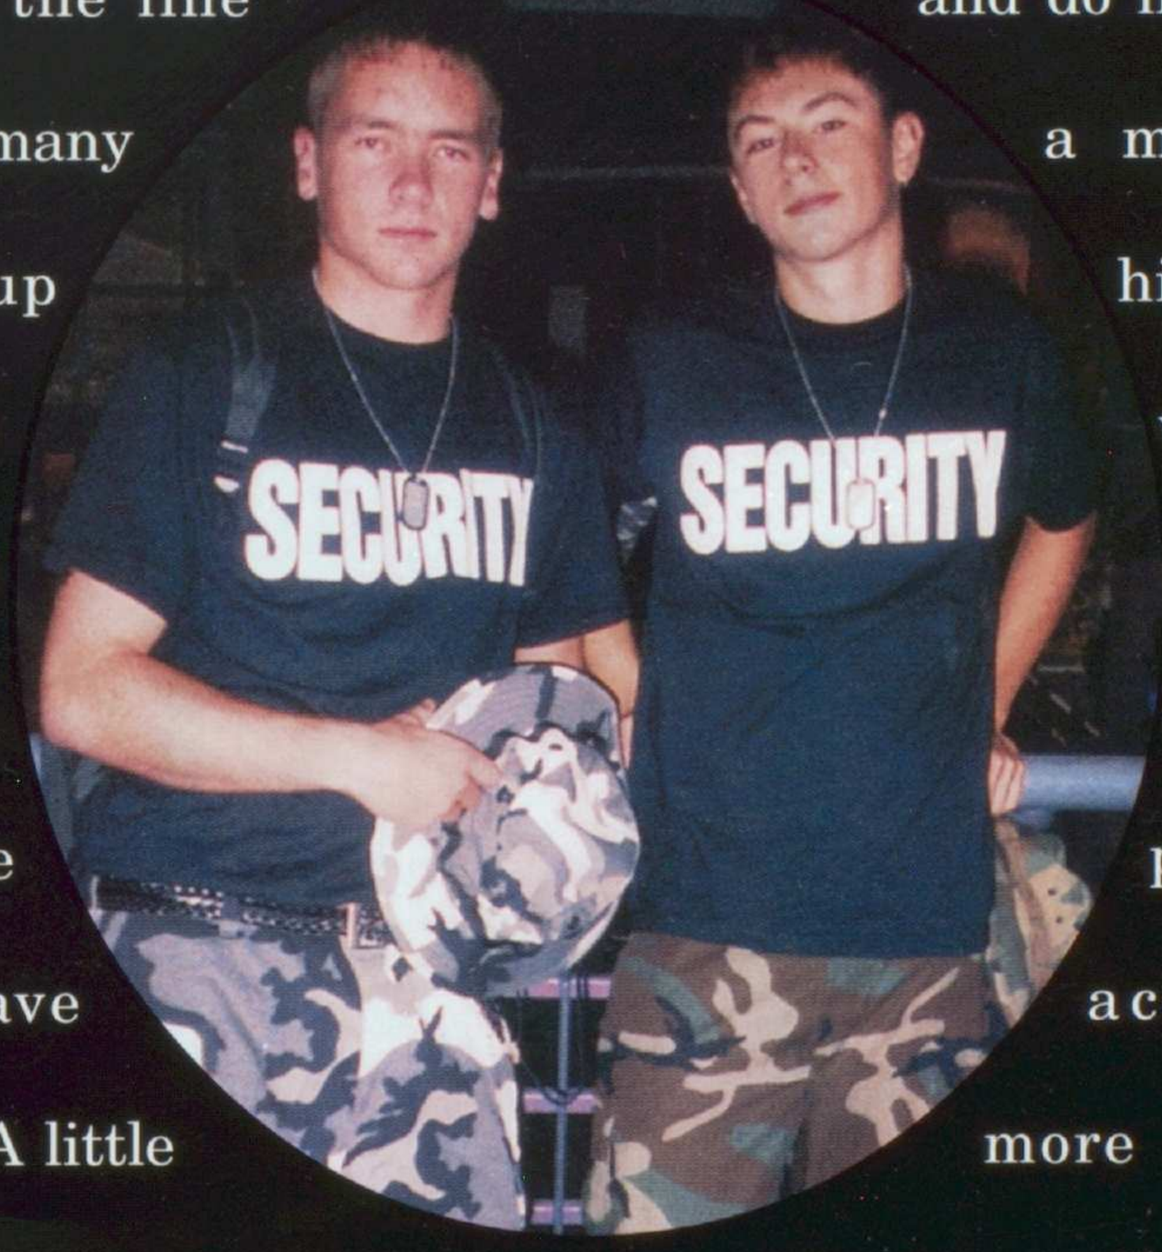
The line between failure and success is so fine that we...are often on the line and do not know it. How many a man has thrown up his hands at a time when a little more effort, a little more patience, would have achieved success. A little more persistence, a little more effort, and what seemed hopeless failure may turn to glorious success.

-Elbert Hubbard



Senior Recognition 262-263

Celebration of Excellence 264-265

Graduation 266-269

Who needs security when we have these guys? Seniors (left to right) John Mann and Andy Wagener show who's boss.

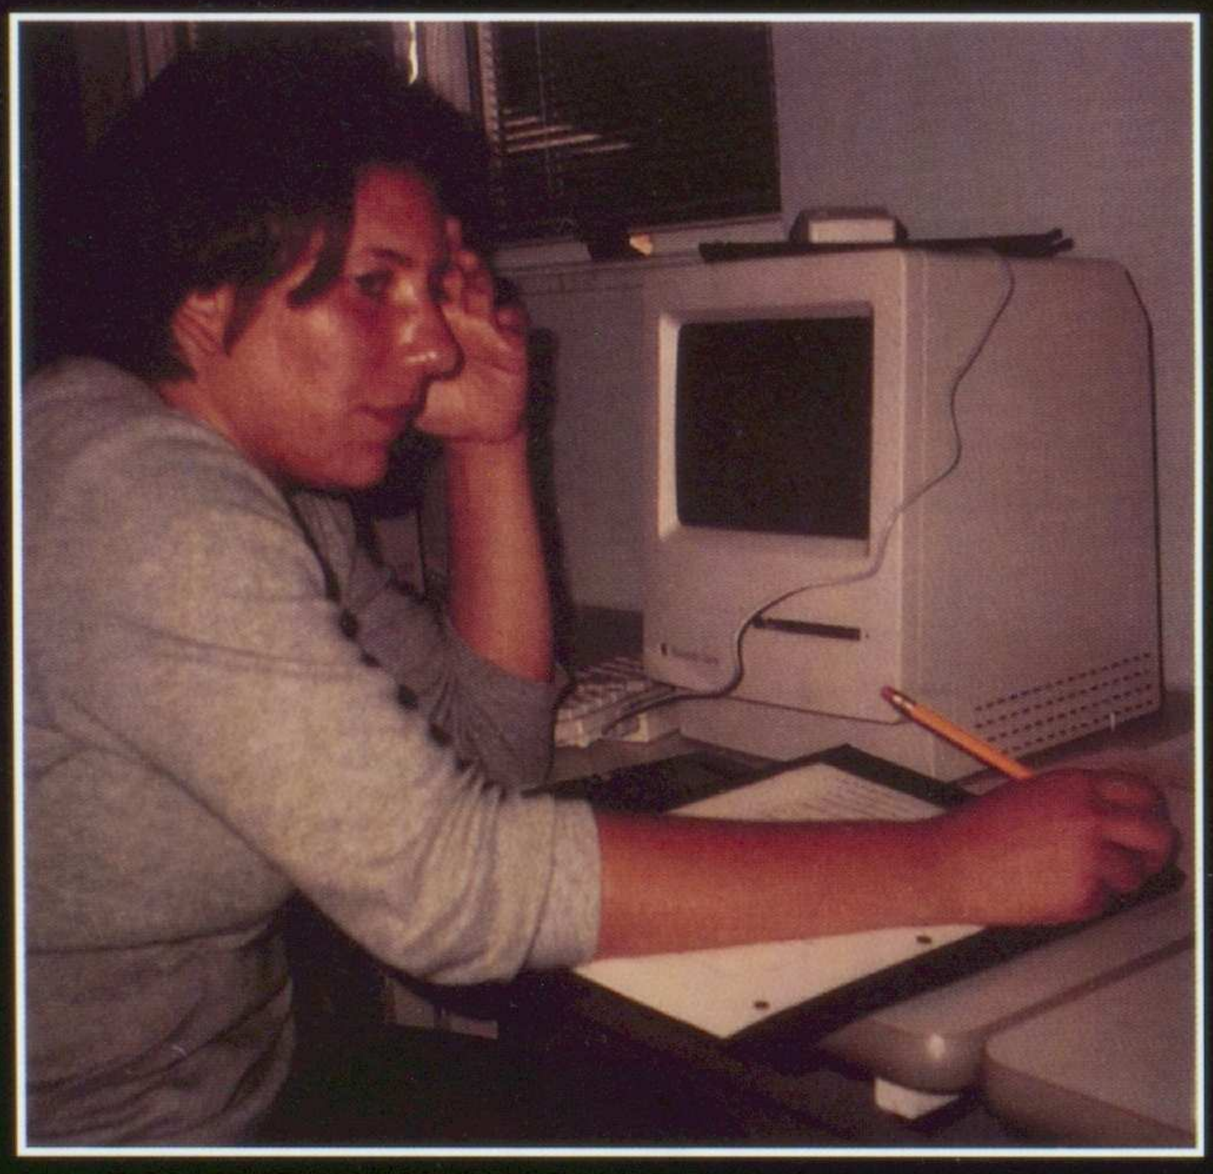
Obviously, Lisa Nagy has not caught the senioritis "Bug." She's working hard concentrating on school work



Lindsay Hall and Kelly Spiers are showing their artistic ability by painting the senior window for homecoming week.

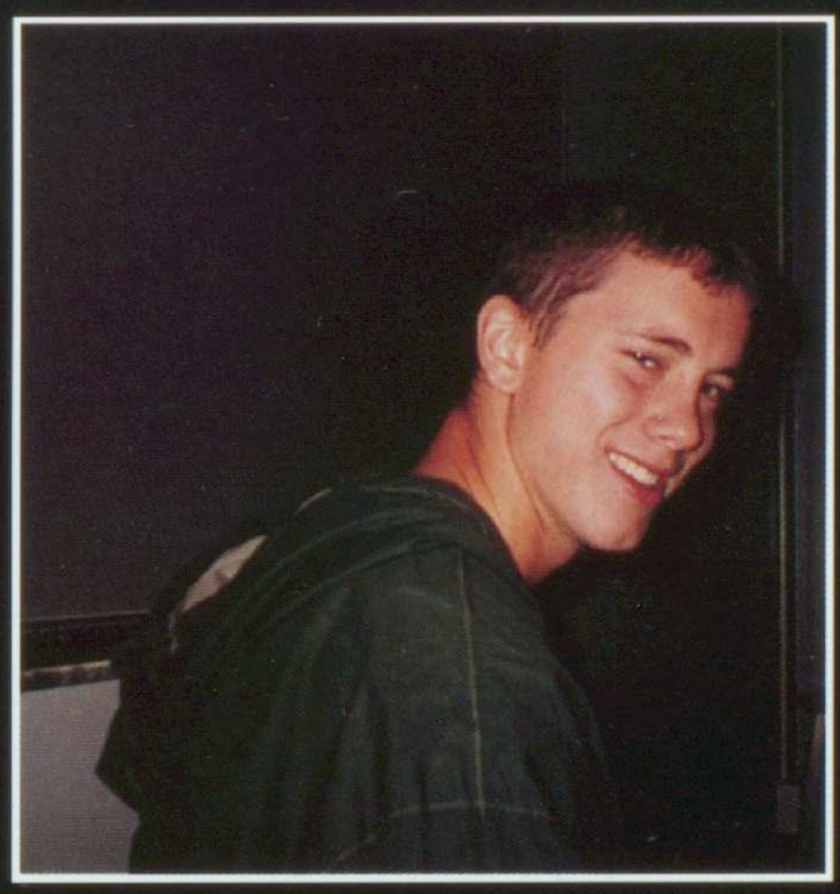
"Oops," Luke Rothermel says, realizing how bad his paper stinks.



Ryan Harris trying to lure the girls in by flashing them his devilish grin.

Michelle Jones looks happy to be sandwiched between (left) Van Daniel and Assegai Daniel. I'm sure all of the girls wish they were in her position right about now.

Working hard to fix her schedule in the counseling center is Sandy Gutman. Good luck finding your classes.

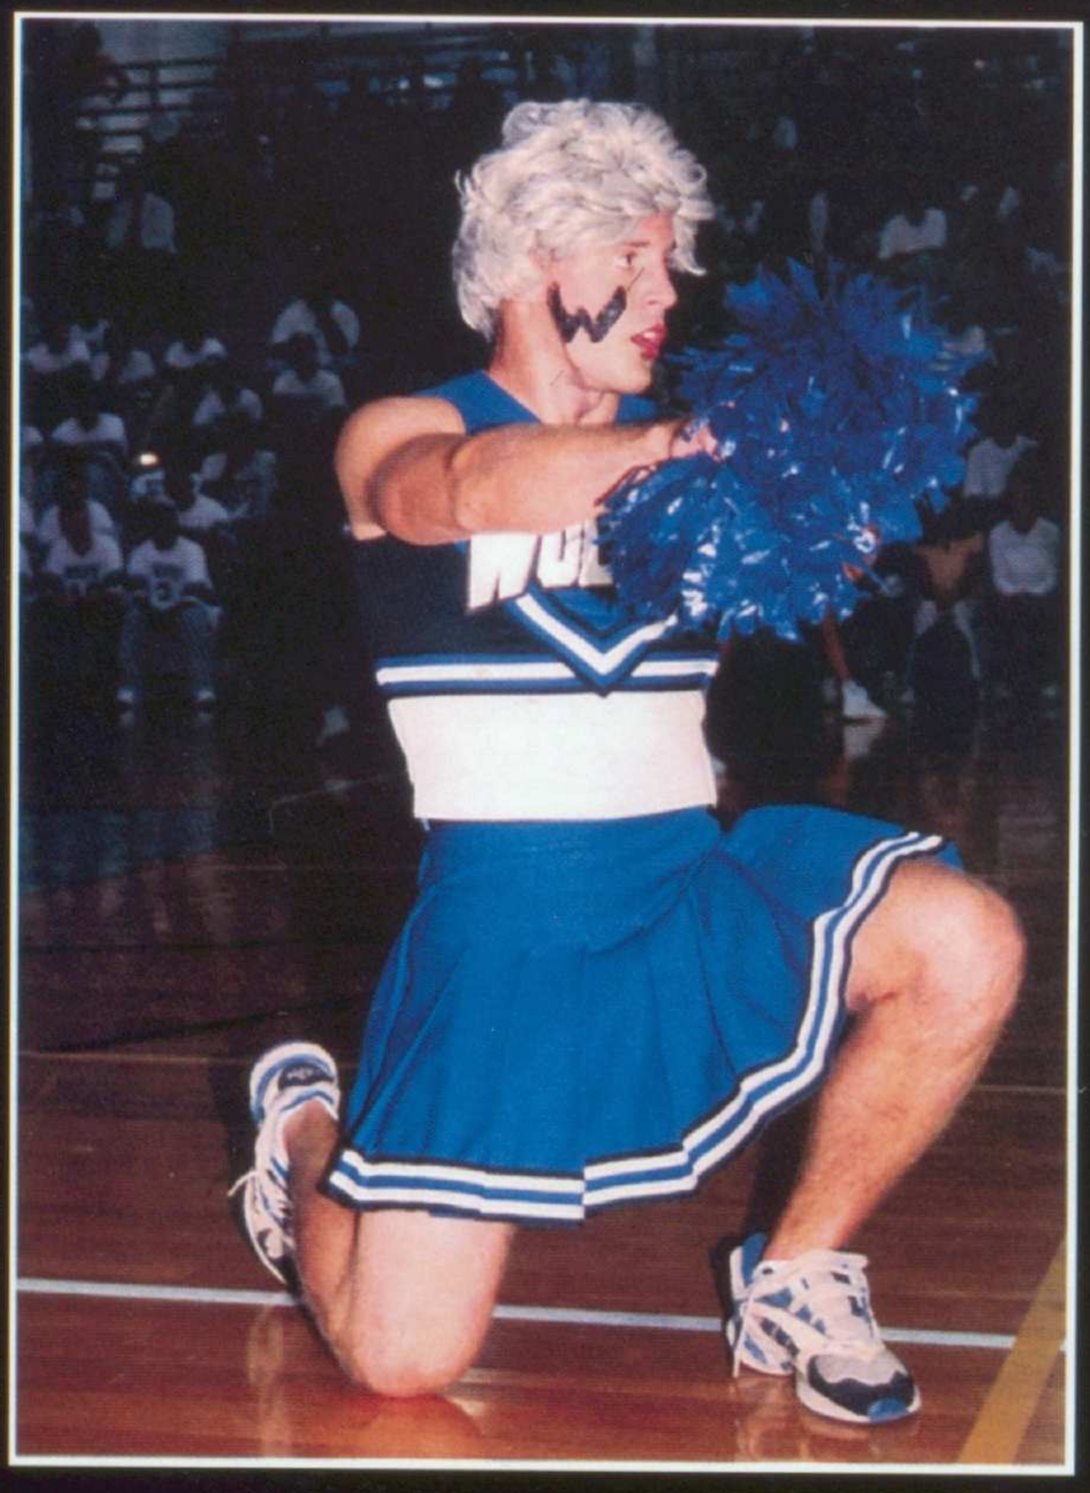
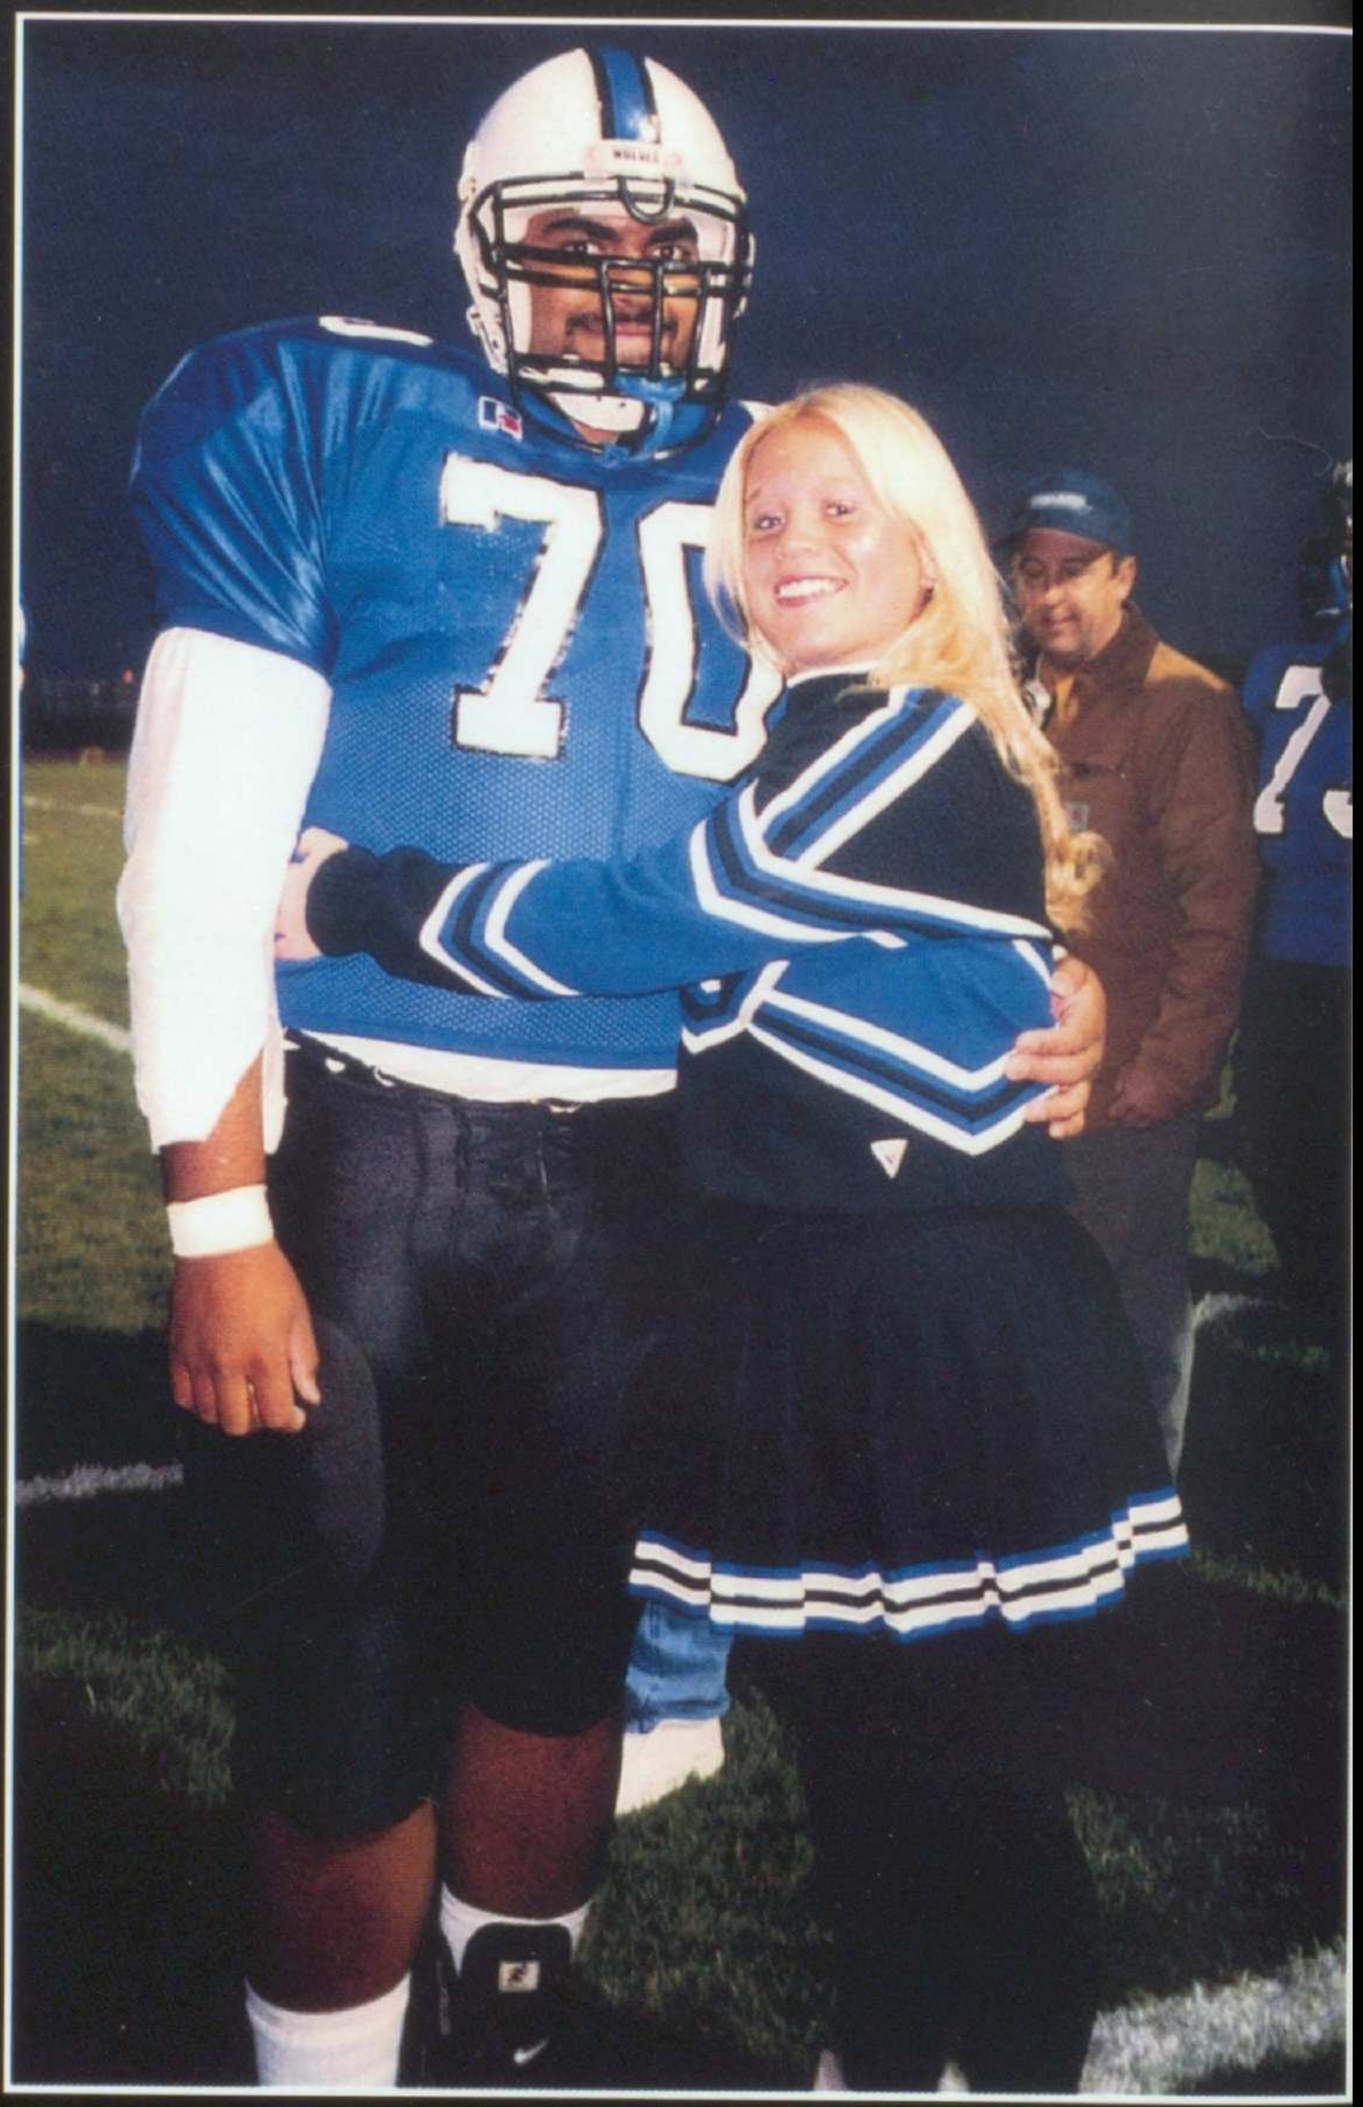
Titus Chang is hard at work studying on his option time. Who said senior year is a time to blow off classes?

Who said love is hard to find? Cyndi Savage expresses herself to Jordan Stockwell during the homecoming game. I wonder how Jordan can concentrate on his blocking with that fine girl cheering for him on the side lines.





Girlie man Kyle Riddle shows us a side of him we didn't know he had at the fall sports pep rally. Do you think he will be trading in his football pads for pom-poms any time soon. Only he can be the judge of that decision. My guess is NO!

"How you doing?" Jim Ballantyne says as he breaks from dancing during the homecoming dance.

Taking pictures before the dance has become a tradition for parents and prom-goers including Katie Kirkpatrick and Matt Baumbusch.

Is Brad Marquis cramming before one of his exams? Or is he just being a good student and studying?

Escorting his date, Theo Merrity, to the prom is Van Daniel. Obviously, they are enjoying their night together, especially dancing in each other's arms.

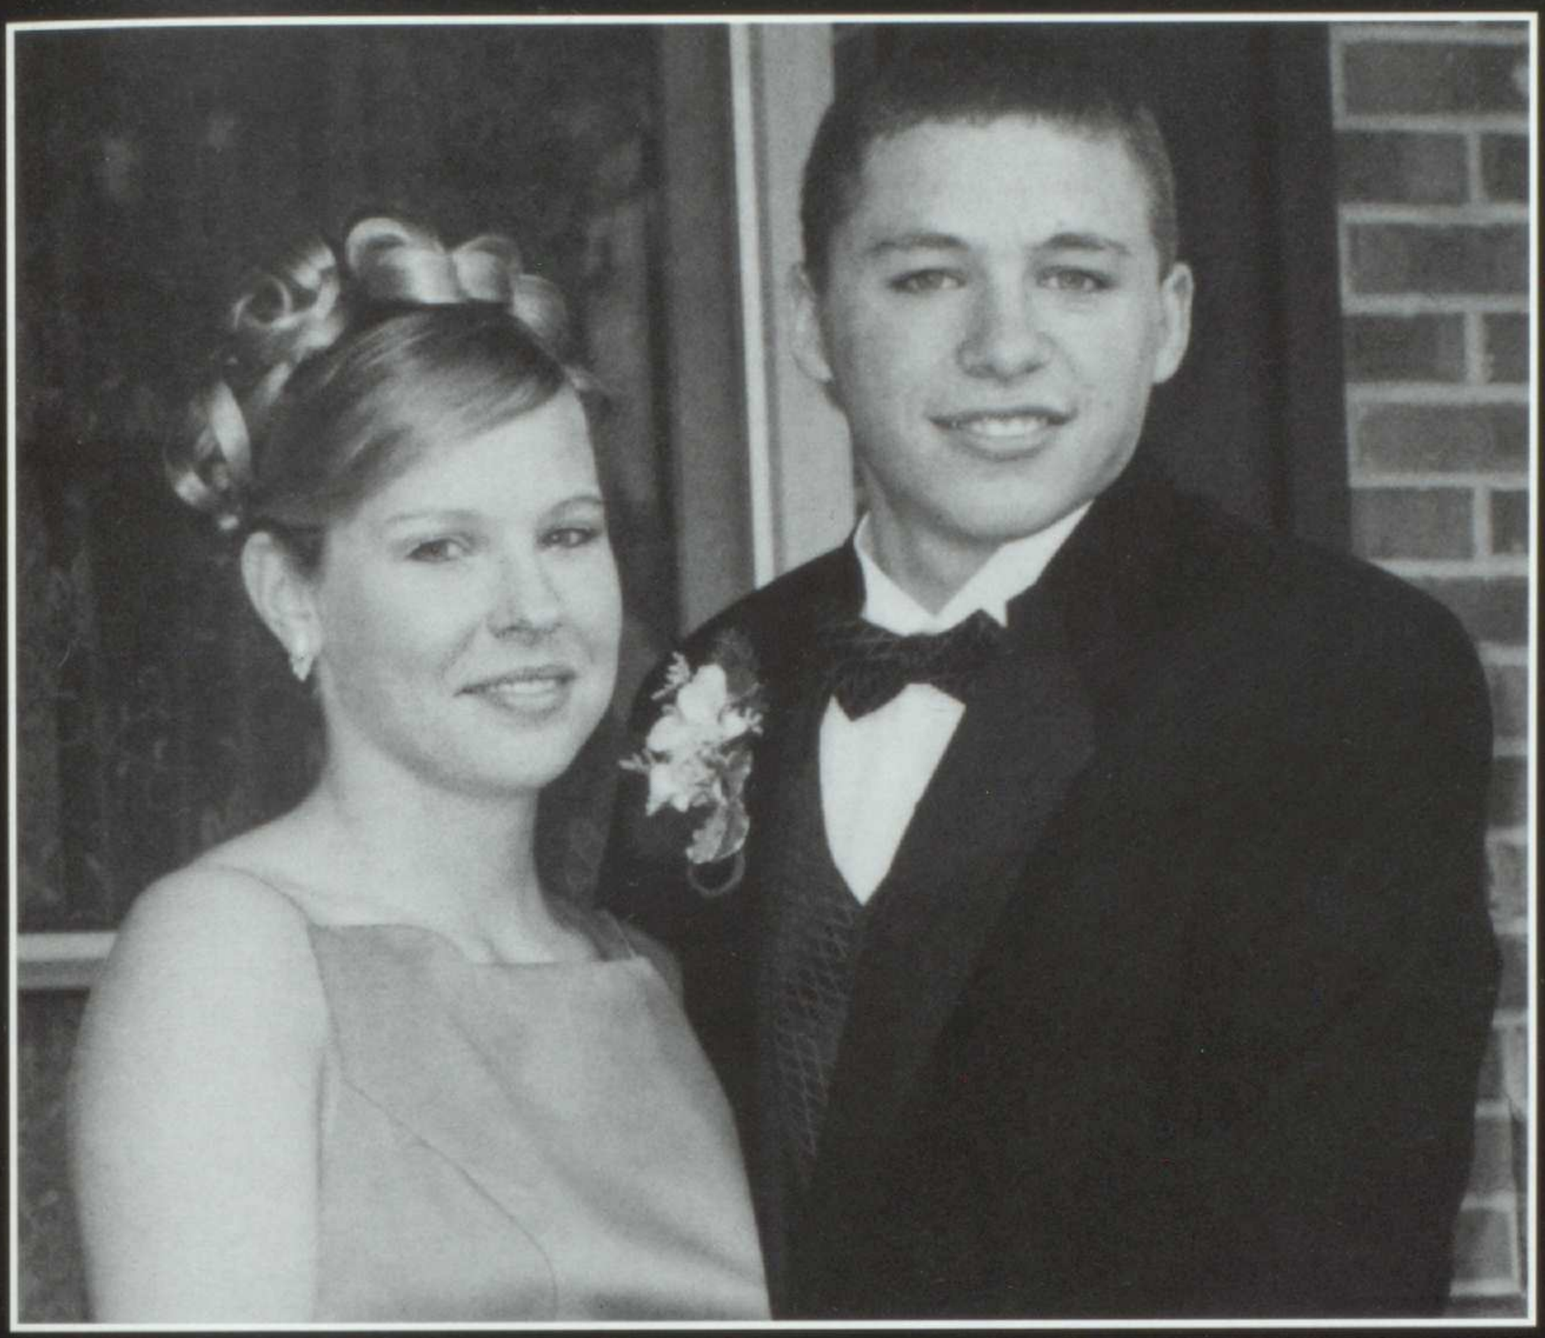
Doesn't Marie Dickson look excited about studying? She does not have much longer until graduation.

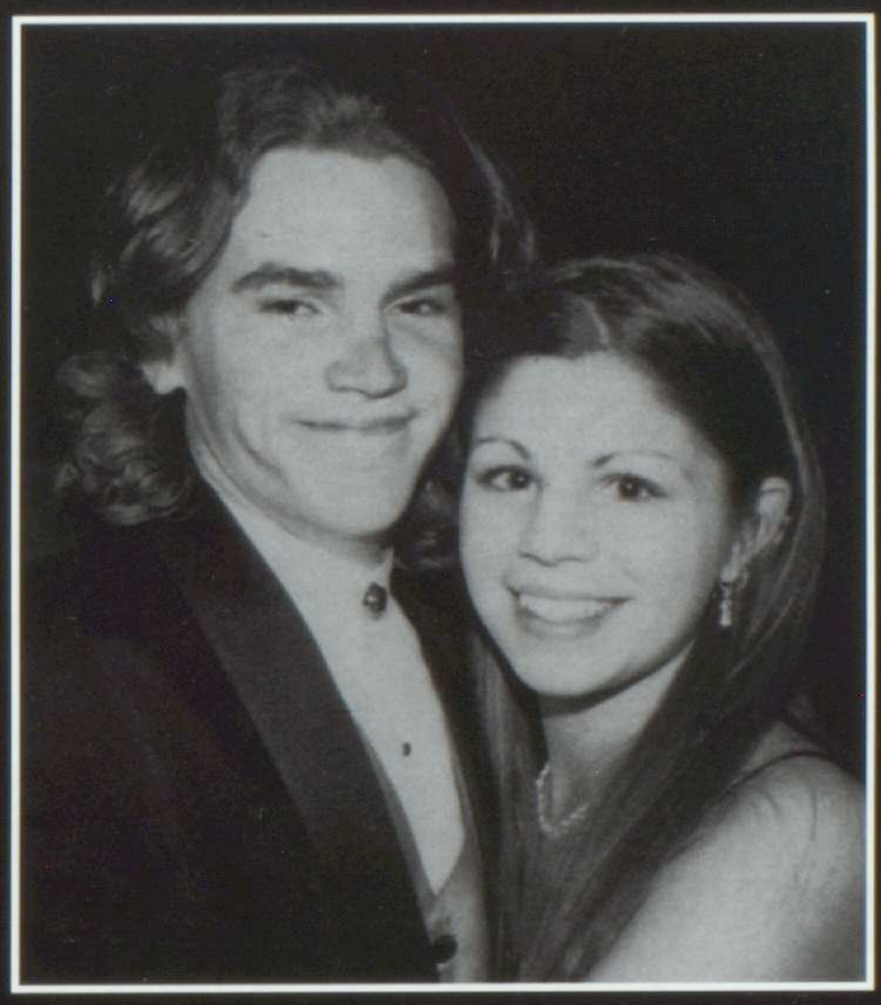
Since Levke Finger is a foreign exchange student, we will excuse her lateness in turning in her picture.

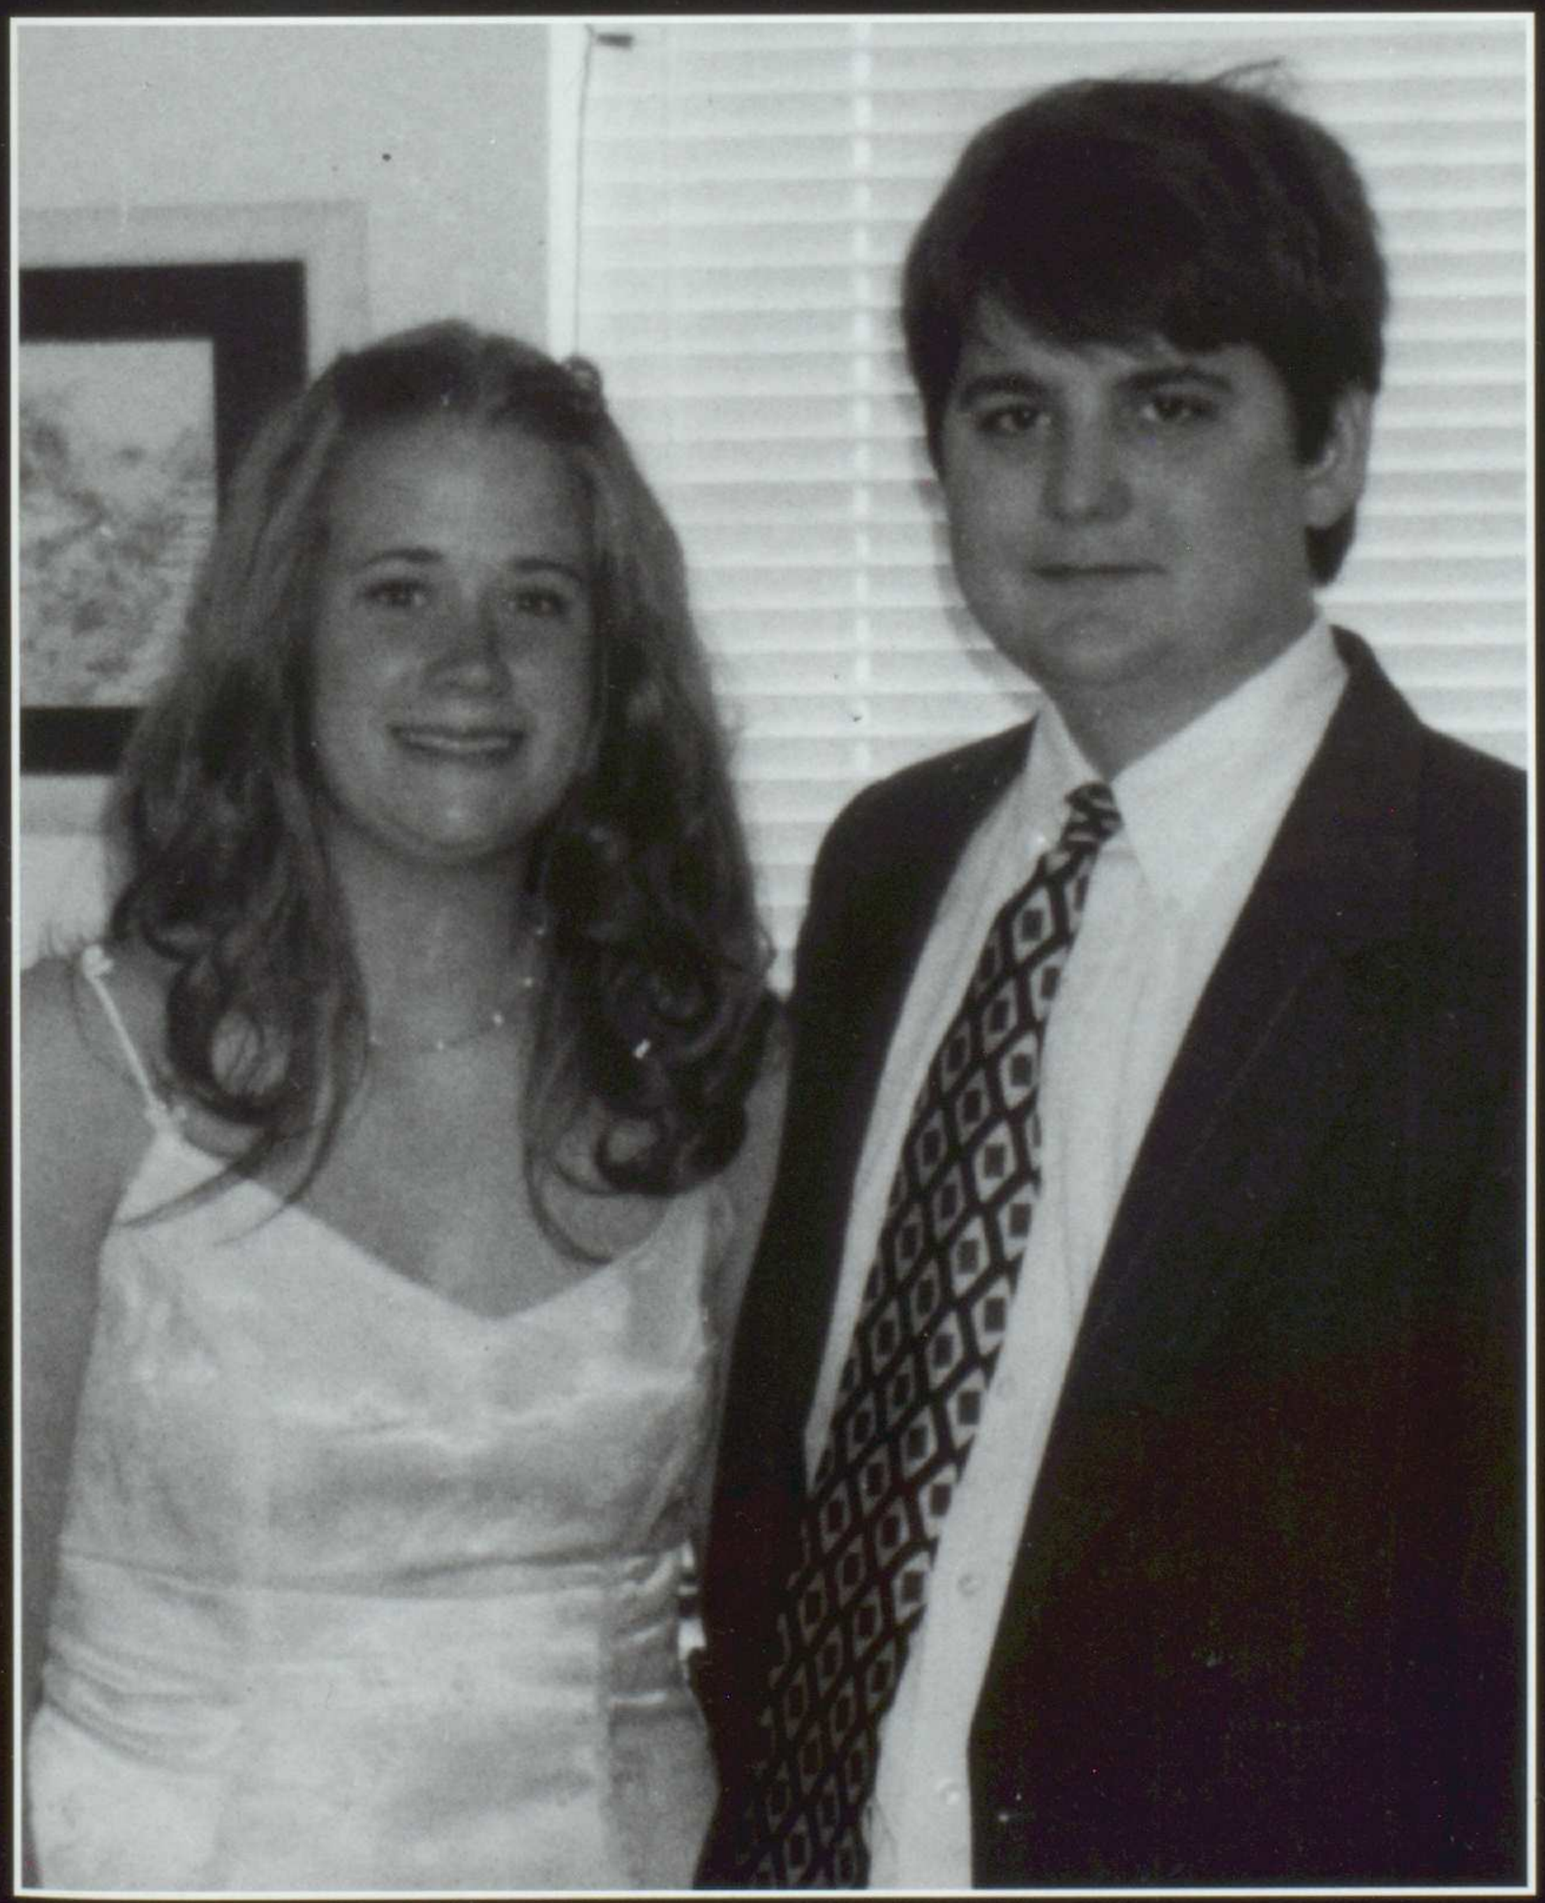
Ready to be graduating are (left to right) Megan Lewis and Kirstin Auestad. They will both start their college lives at the University of Dayton. Who knew they would leave Kilbourne only to share this experience?

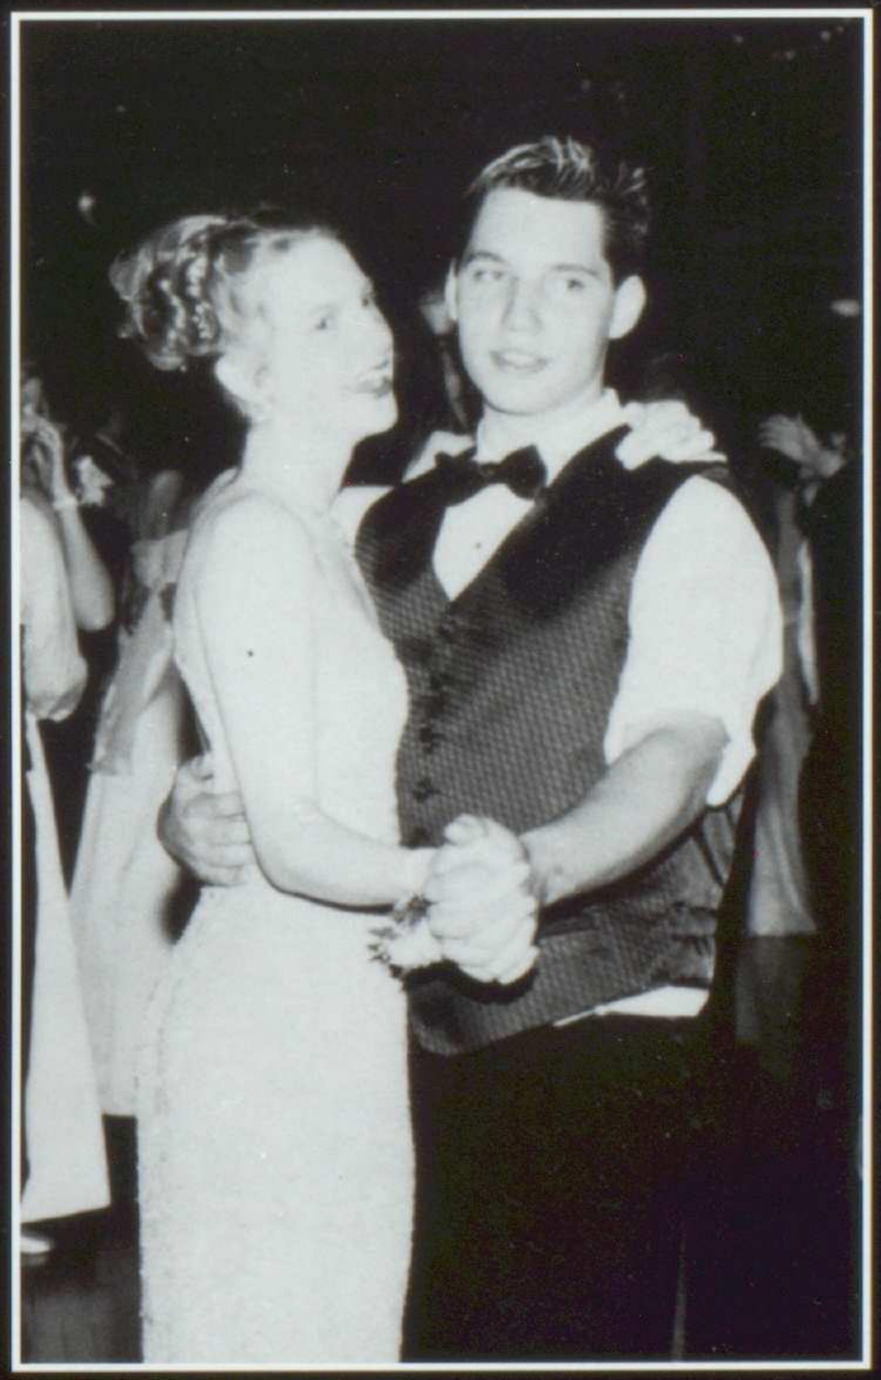


Styling and ready for prom are Tiffany Miller and Link Staffen. No words could express how good this couple looks together. I hope they had a good night.

How cute are they together? Kari Krantz and Matt Tipton danced the night away to their special song, More than Words. It had to have been a coincidence that it was also the prom theme song.





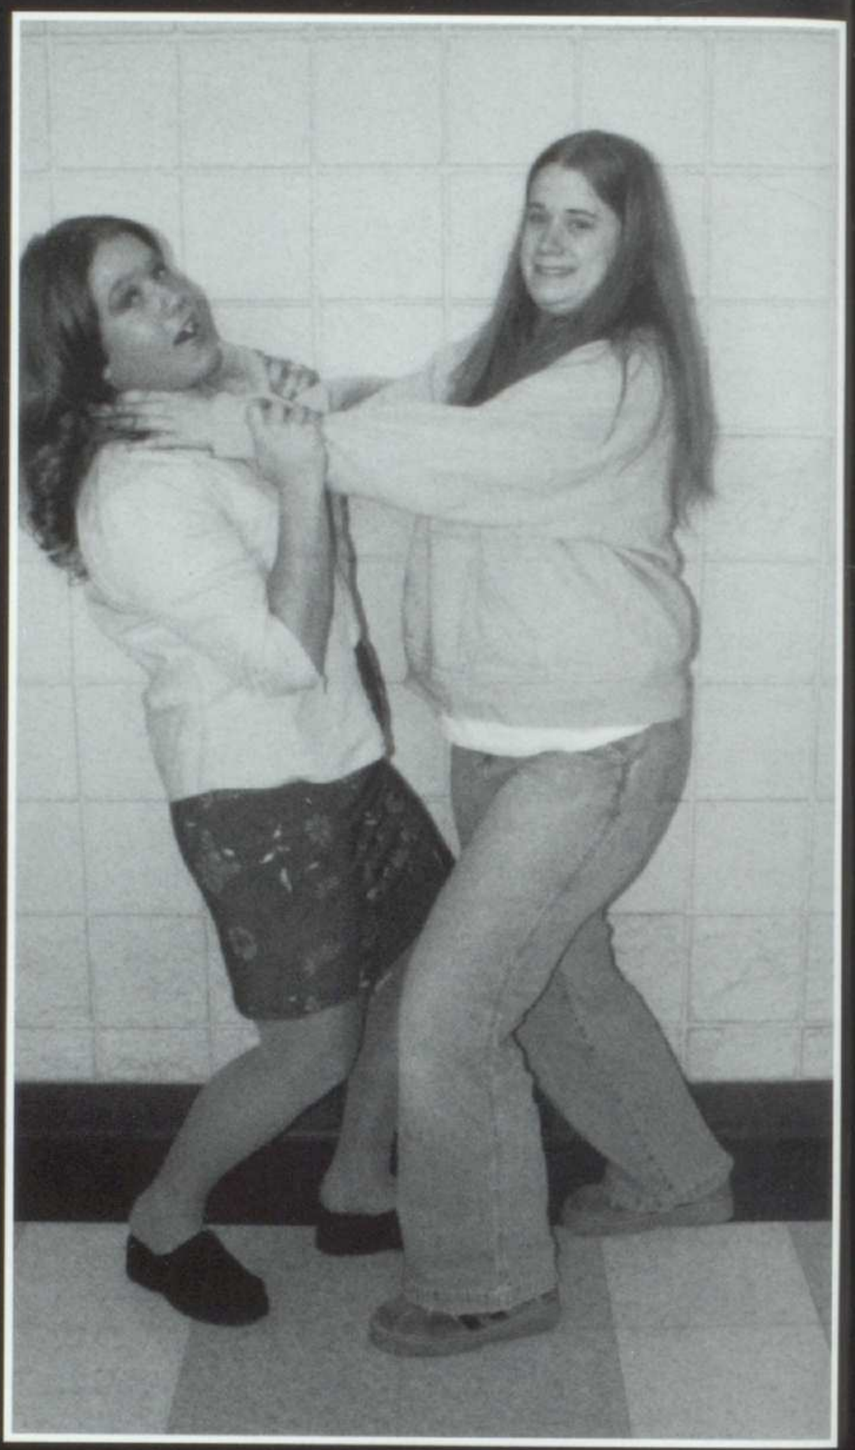


Having a wonderful time at the prom are Joe Pollard and his date Kelly Hoffman. Dancing in each other's arms looks like a lot of fun. This couple looks great together as they spend some of Joe's last days as a Kilbourne senior.

These two, senior Lindsey Groves and her boyfriend Darren Berg, are ready for an evening of dancing together.

Senior Favorites

The two seniors voted most likely to be kicked off The Real World are Cyndi Savage (left) and Lindsey Groves. You may want to watch out for these two. They look like they are out of control.



The seniors most likely to be models on an Aberombie & Fitch bag are (left to right) Nena Pogany, John Schroeder, Ashley Shoemaker, Kyle Daniel, and Katie Jones. Don't you think they look stylin'?

With the school year finally coming to an end, seniors are excited to be recognized for their achievements. Dr. Young congratulates Alex Earle (Top), Ben Davidson (Middle), and Amanda Corbett (Bottom) at Senior Recognition Night.

On June 1, 2000, the faculty and students gathered in the gymnasium to congratulate the seniors on their co-curricular achievements and to say their final good-byes. 268 seniors earned certificates for their involvement, 128 of which also earned medals of achievement for their excellence in sports and music. Individuals who received district or state honors also earned medals.

To spice up the ceremony, the 28 valedictorians put together two videos. One focused on the first day of the freshman year for the class of 2000. The second video was a humorous look at a day in the life of a senior. Then Mr. Nathan led the Jazz Band in a few songs; they were an absolute delight. This event to say farewell to the seniors was a great success.

By Becky Roeder and Kirstin Auestad

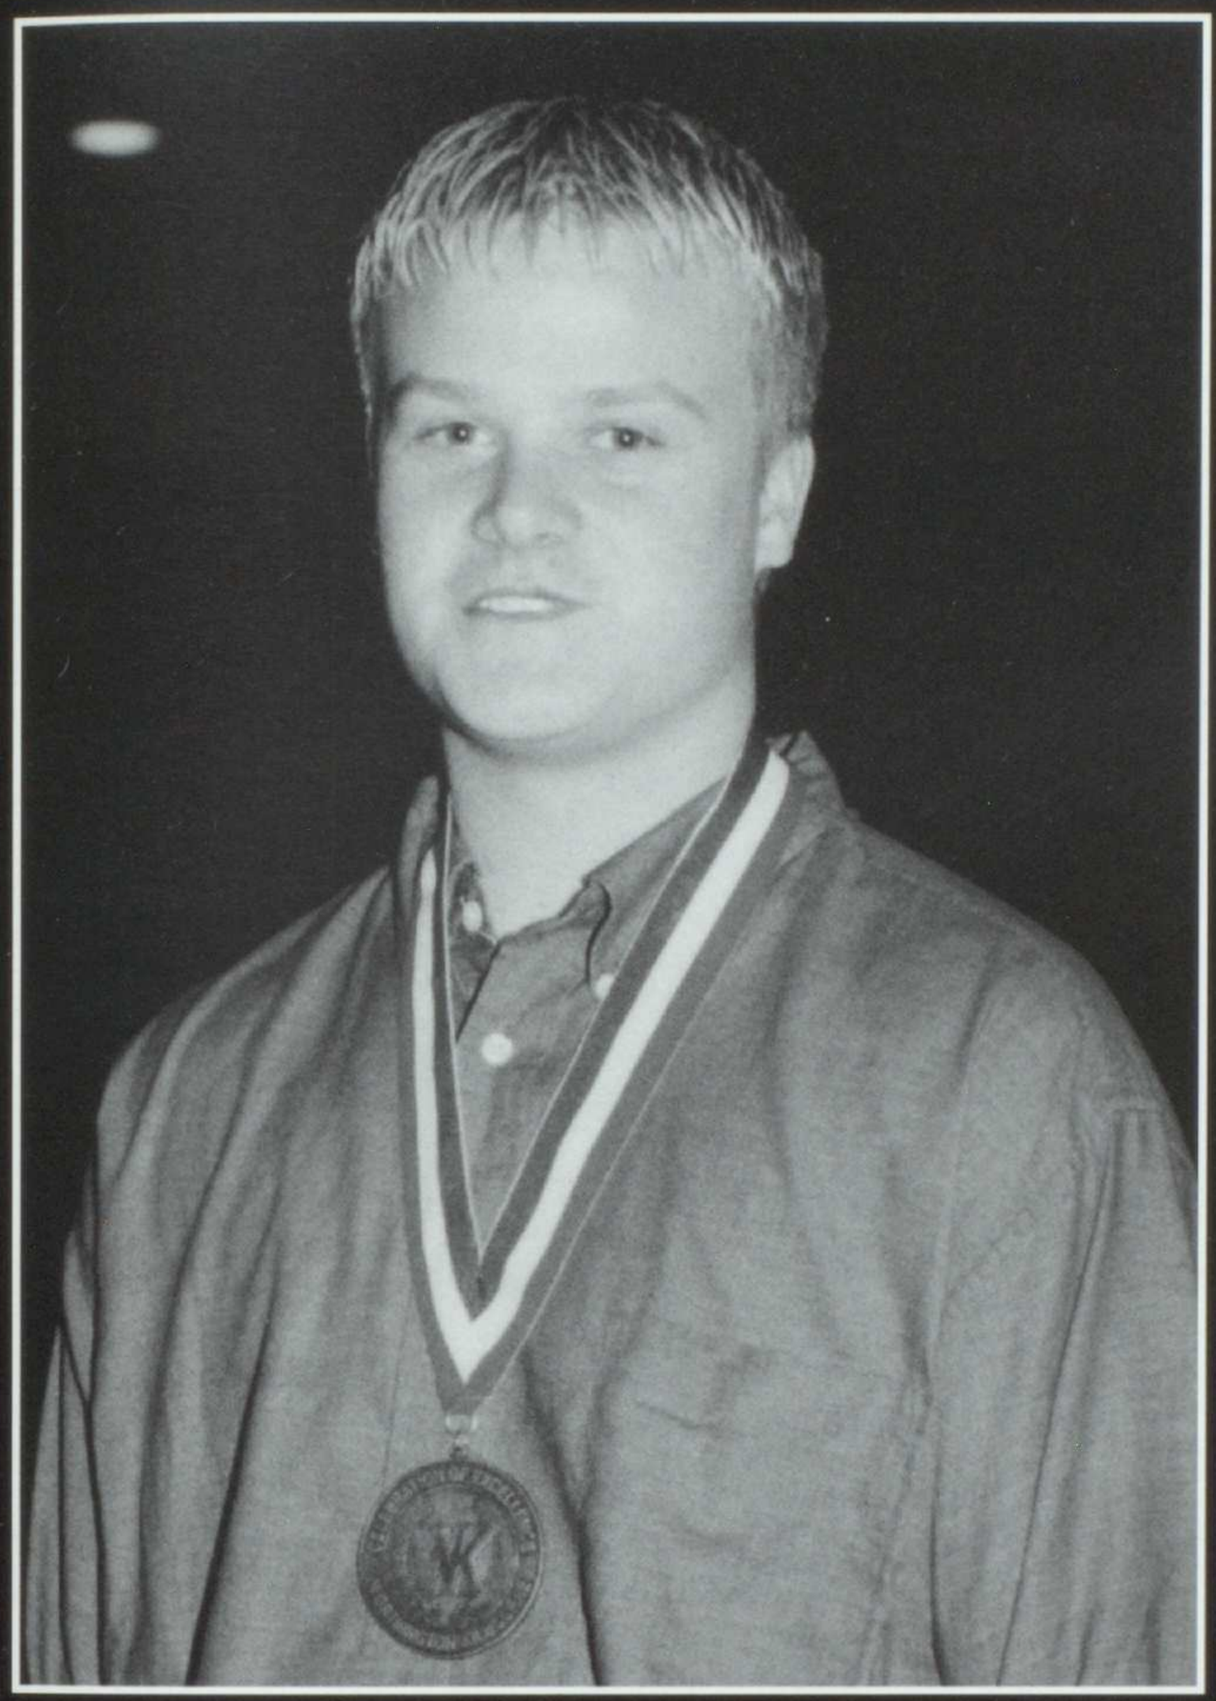
Receiving a medal of honor for being part of the regional championship football team is Brad Schonauer.



Receiving a medal for his accomplishments in hockey, Landon Ramirez looks happy to be honored for his hard work.

Giving words of wisdom to Michael Um is Dr. Lindsay. Hopefully, they will help him to succeed in the future.

Flashing her award to the crowd is Stacia Yocum.

Class of 2000

Sunday, June 4, 2000, 359 seniors graduated during the ninth annual commencement ceremony. Led by honorary class marshals and advisors Ann McElligot and Lilly Yap the senior class paraded into Batelle Hall in the Greater Columbus Convention Center while the Kilbourne orchestra played Pomp and Circumstance.

This year's senior class definitely made its mark on Kilbourne with a total of 28 valedictorians wearing the white sashes. 76 students wore gold cords symbolizing their membership in the National Honor Society. 124 seniors received the Honors Diploma and 65 seniors earned the Award of Merit. The class members gained nearly four million dollars in scholarships to help fund their post-high school education.

The Symphonic Choir sang the National Anthem and the Alma Mater to kick off the ceremony. Following this, Dr. Lindsay spoke to the class about spending their lives in worthwhile endeavors. Theresa Blackwell addressed her classmates in a heartfelt speech entitled "Road Trip: The Journey of Life." Next Mr. Trombetti, Lindsay Broadfoot, and Theresa Blackwell became the newest inductees into the WKHS Hall of Fame.

The class of 2000 will now move on, but they will never forget the friendships or lessons learned at WKHS.

By Shannon Mallory

Happily accepting her diploma from Mr. Warinner is Arisha Hamid.

Honoring Mrs. O'Rourke as her diploma presentor is ecstatic graduate Mary Voigt. Mary was definitely lucky to have a teacher like Mrs. O'Rourke!

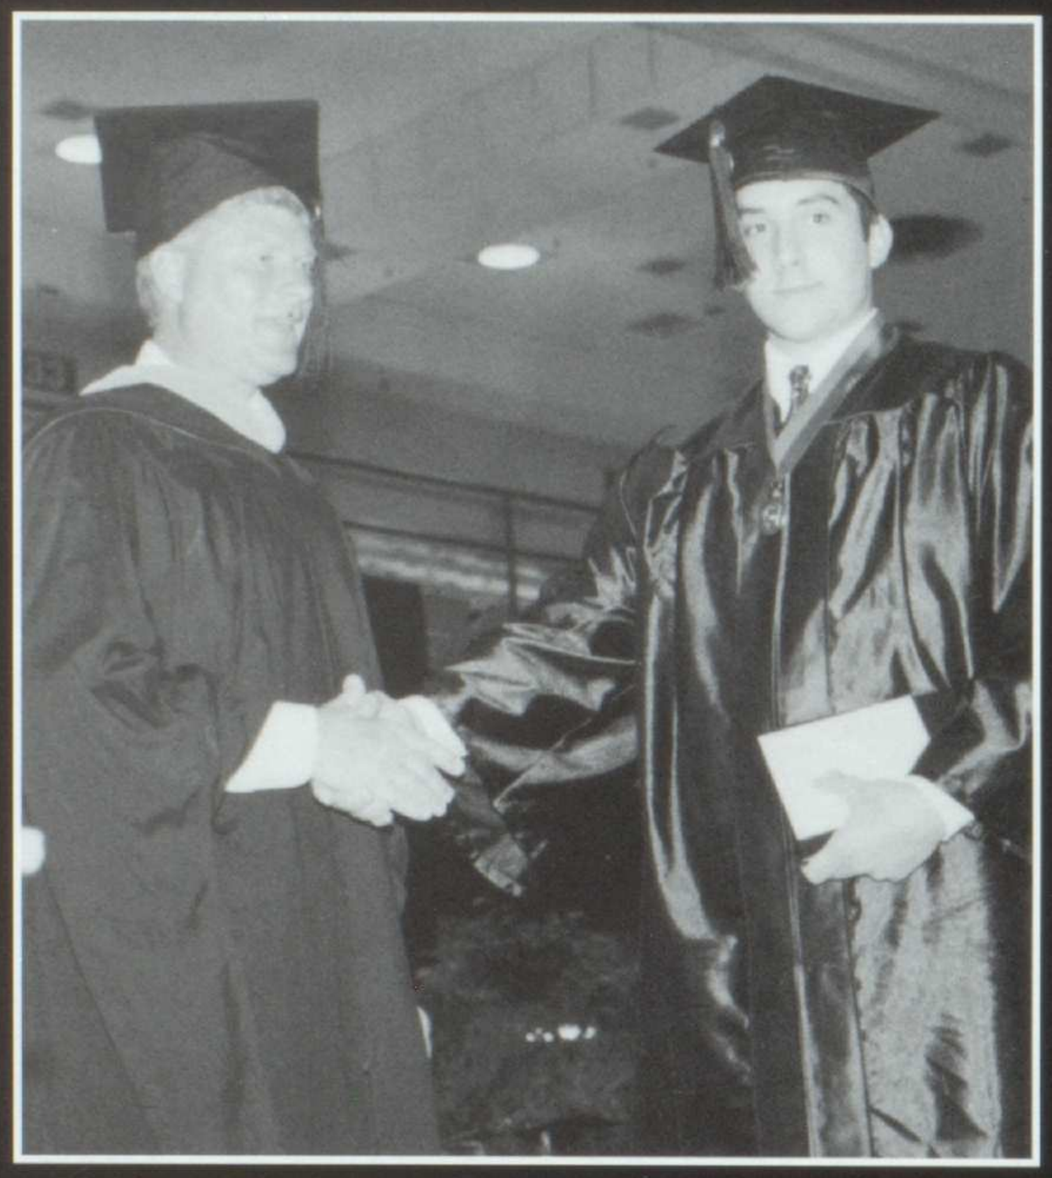
"Congratulations on a job well done!" Mr. Deisher says as he shakes Jeff Hollback's hand.



Proudly accepting her diploma is Courtney Carlson. "Best wishes next year at Columbus College of Art and Design," congratulates Mrs. Clark.

Mr. Trombetti enthusiastically receives a hug after being accepted into the WKHS Hall of Fame from Mr. Porta and Mrs. Snyder.

Obviously Mr. Jordan has had a lot of practice handing out diplomas. He knows just when to pause, yet it's Beau Blanchard's first time.

Processing into the hall are valedictorians (front to back) Mike Diamond, Jason Huang, Kevin Mitchell, and Jess Moore.

Closing

One of our most precious gifts in life has been our beautiful daughter. Your smile could brighten the darkest days. We are so proud of the woman you have become. Congratulations on your success thus far. Please remember we will always be here for you.

We love you,
Dad, Mom and Britt

PSALM 121

The Lord is your guardian; the Lord is your shade;
he is beside you at your right hand.
The sun shall not harm you by day,
nor the moon by night.

The Lord will guard you from all evil;
he will guard your life.
The Lord will guard your coming and going;
both now and forever.

Sarah King
wishes the Worthington Kilbourne
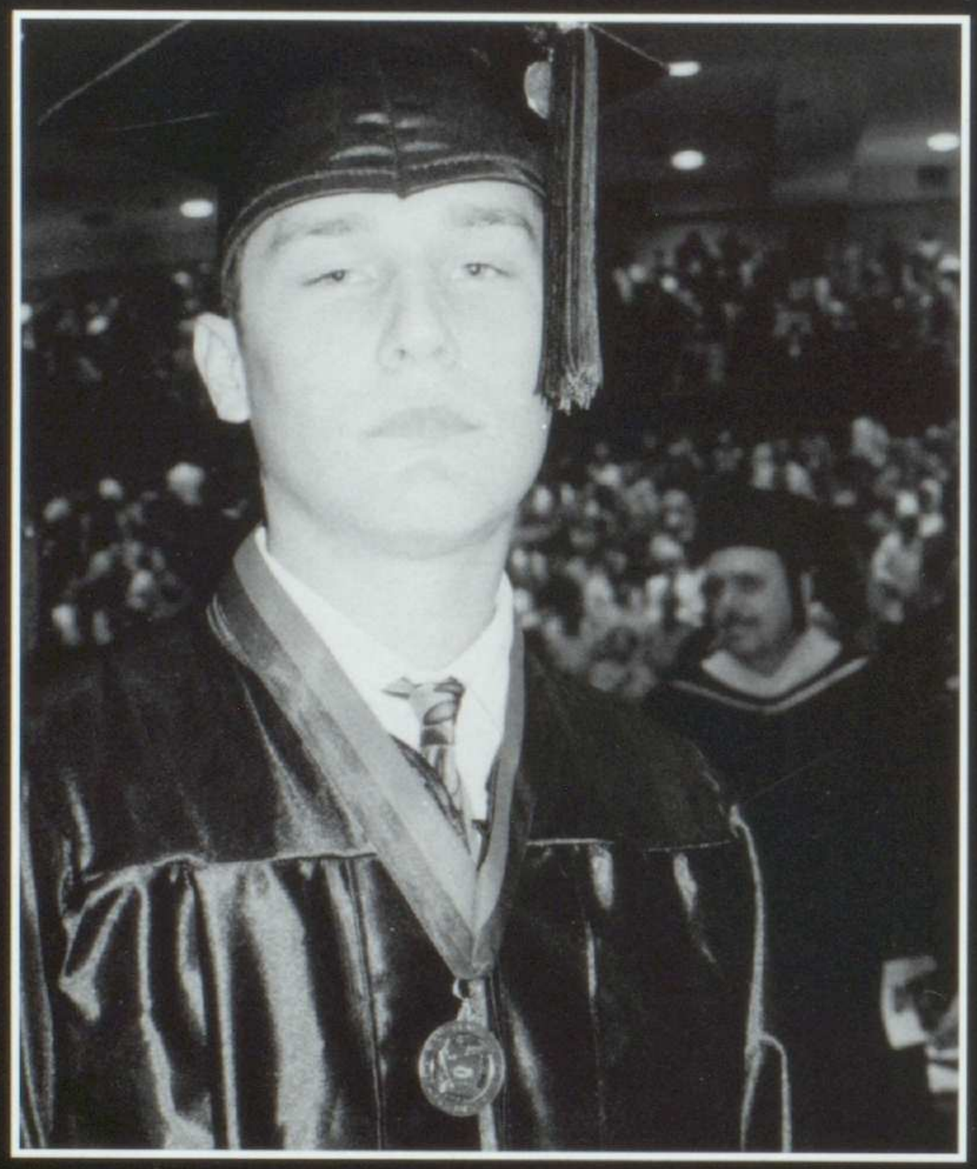
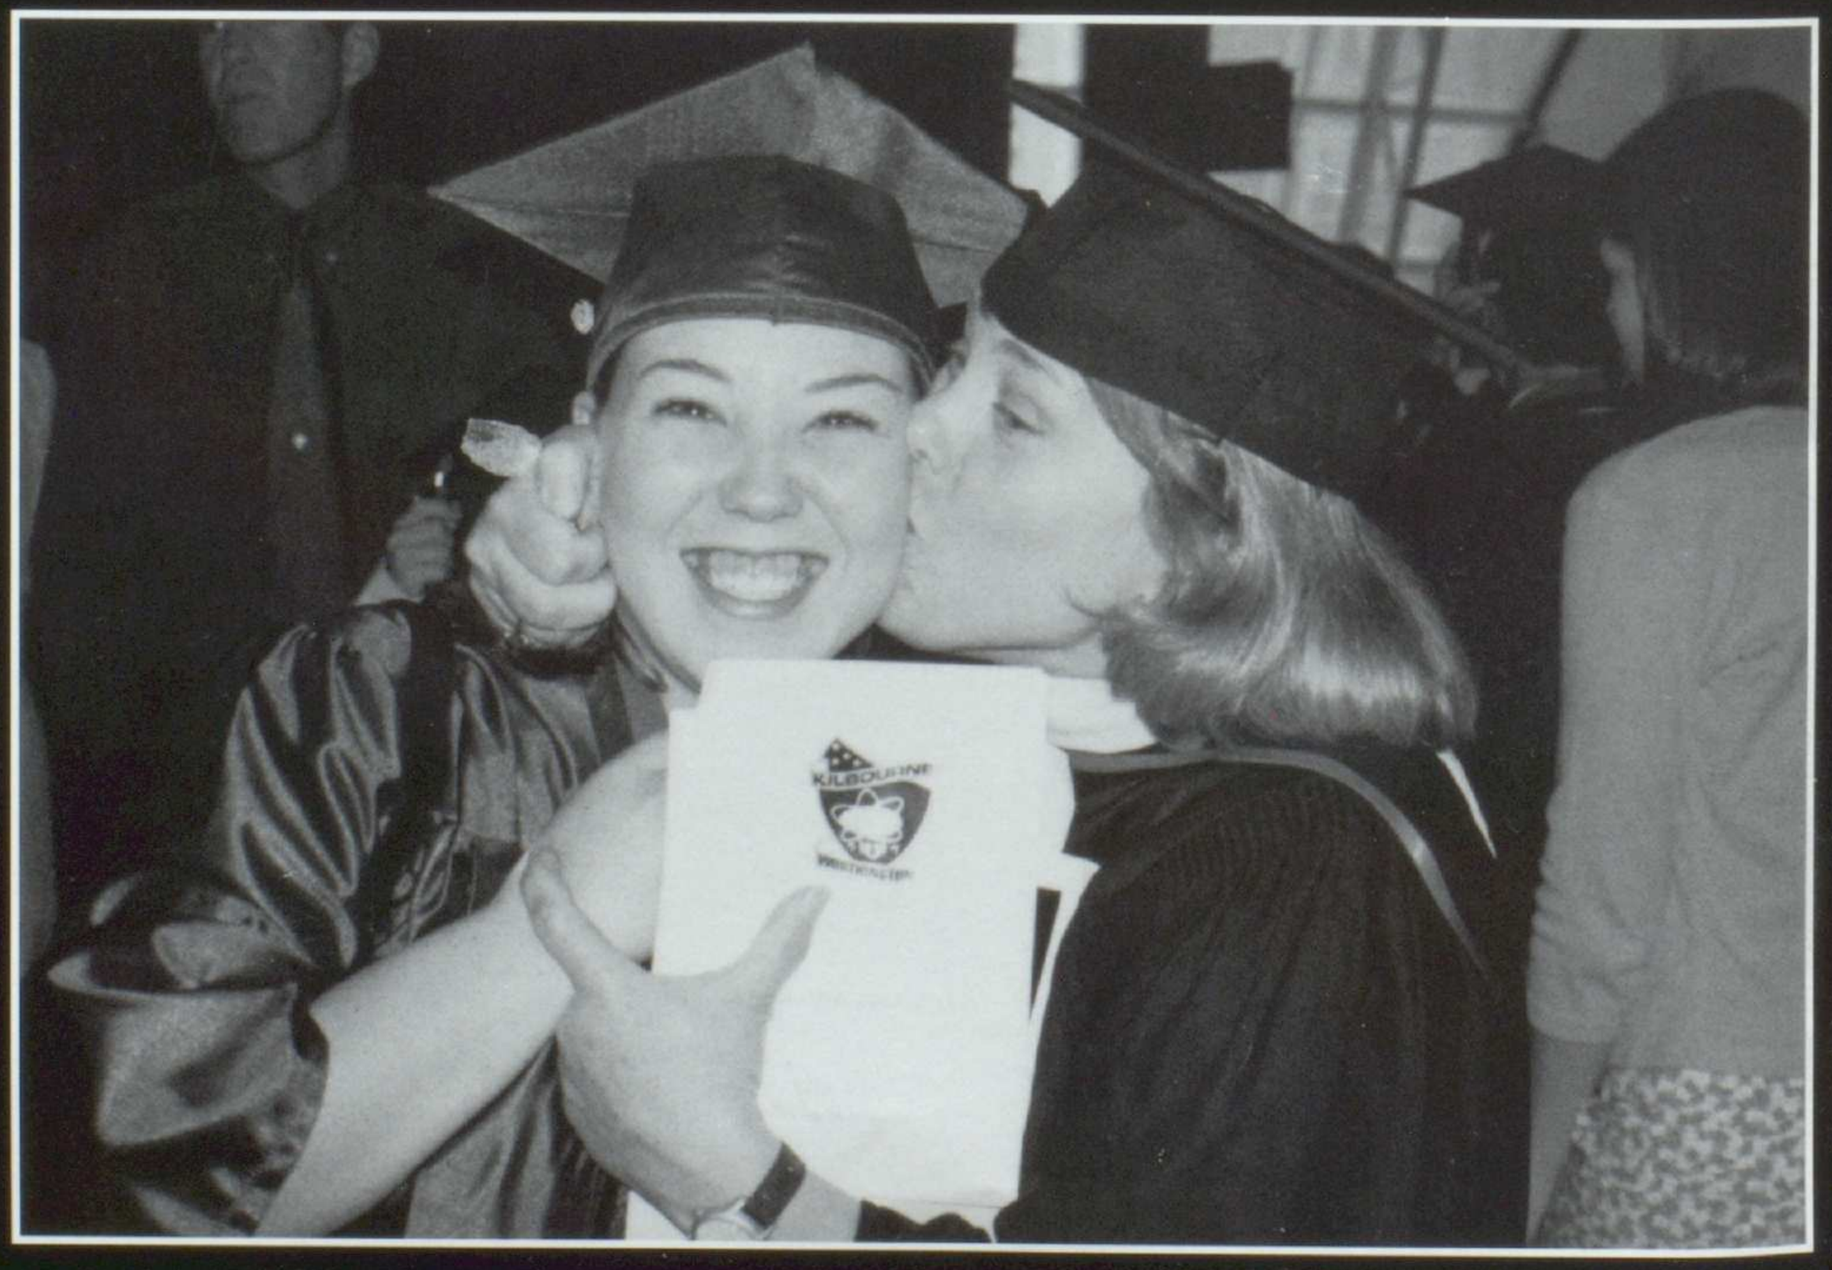
graduates of 2000
the best of luck
in the future.

Cheer up, Teddy Schlering! This is supposed to be a great day for you. You're graduating!

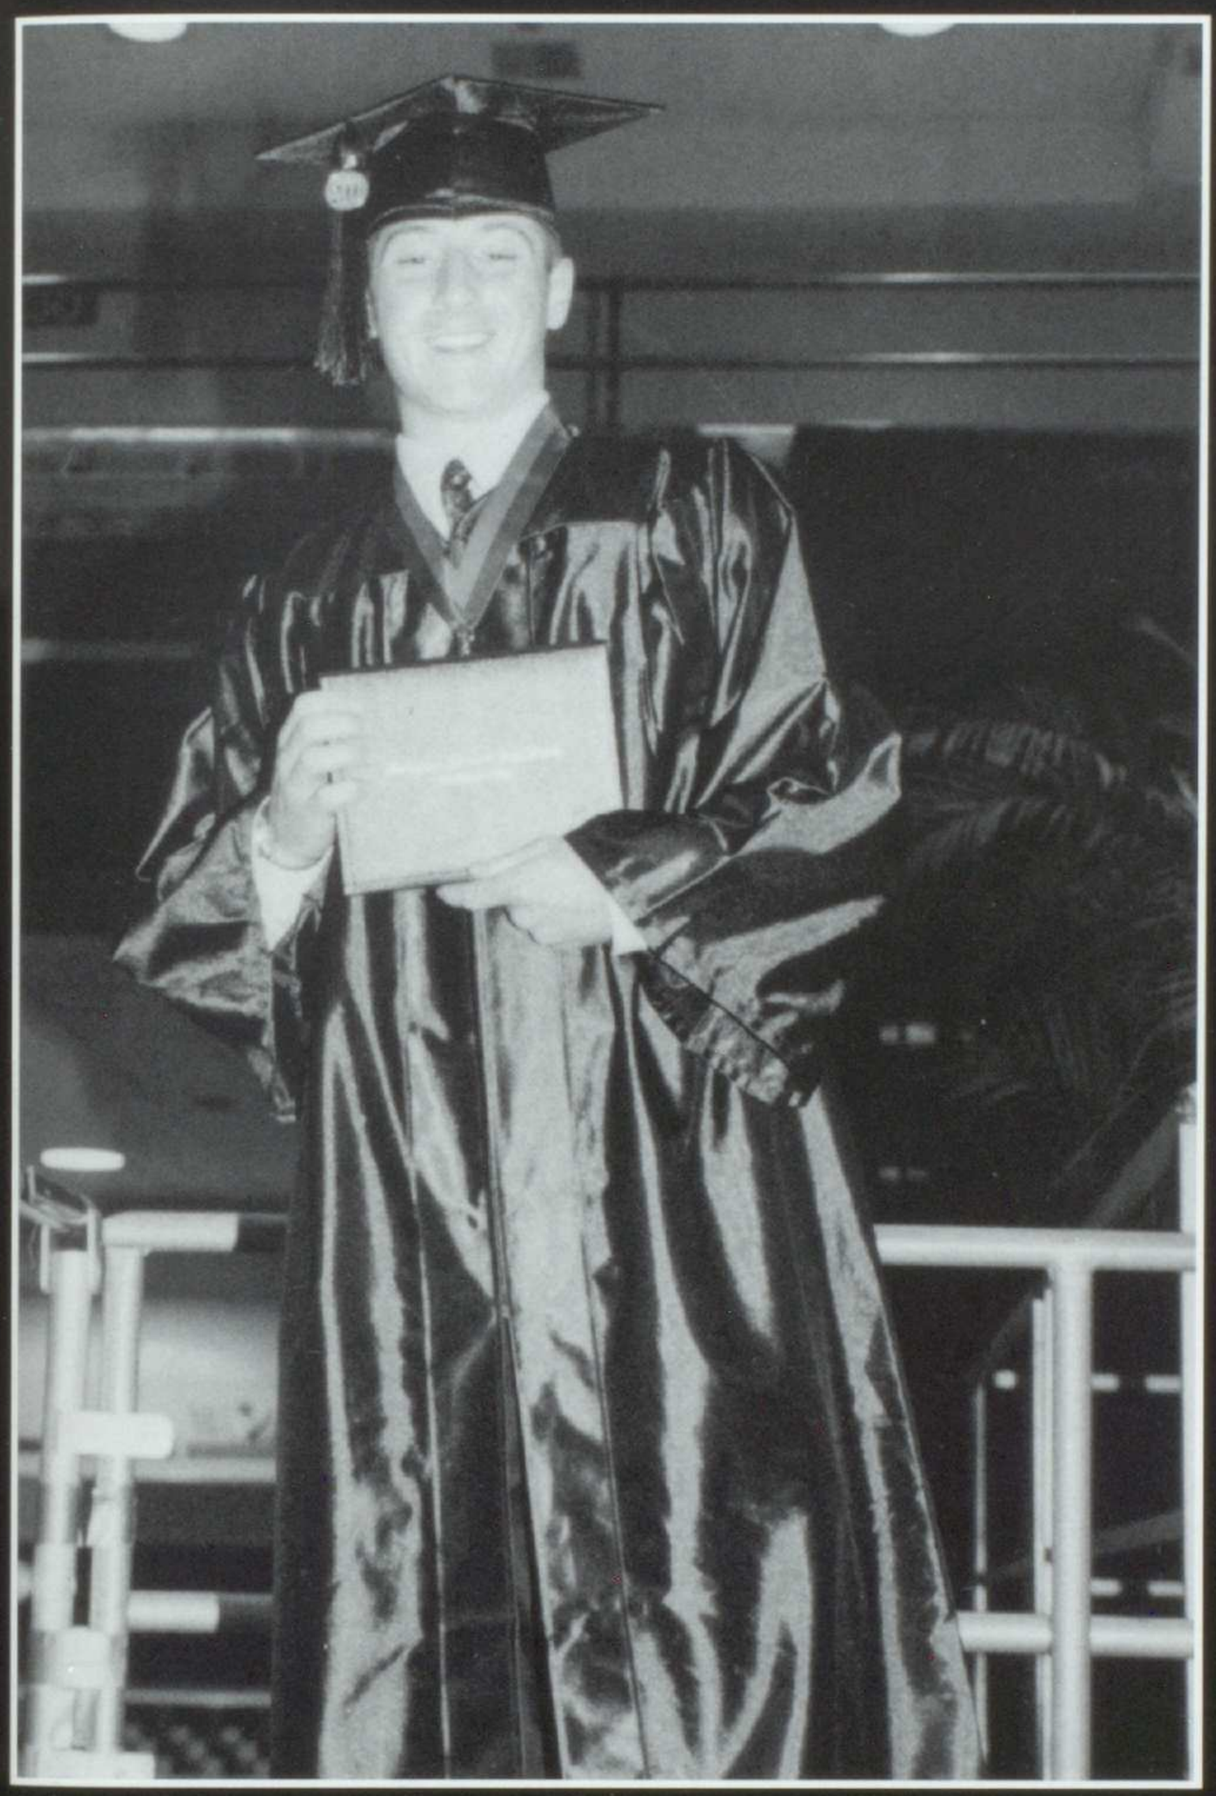
It looks like senior Andre Henry is very pleased to be accepting his certificate from Mr. Johnson.



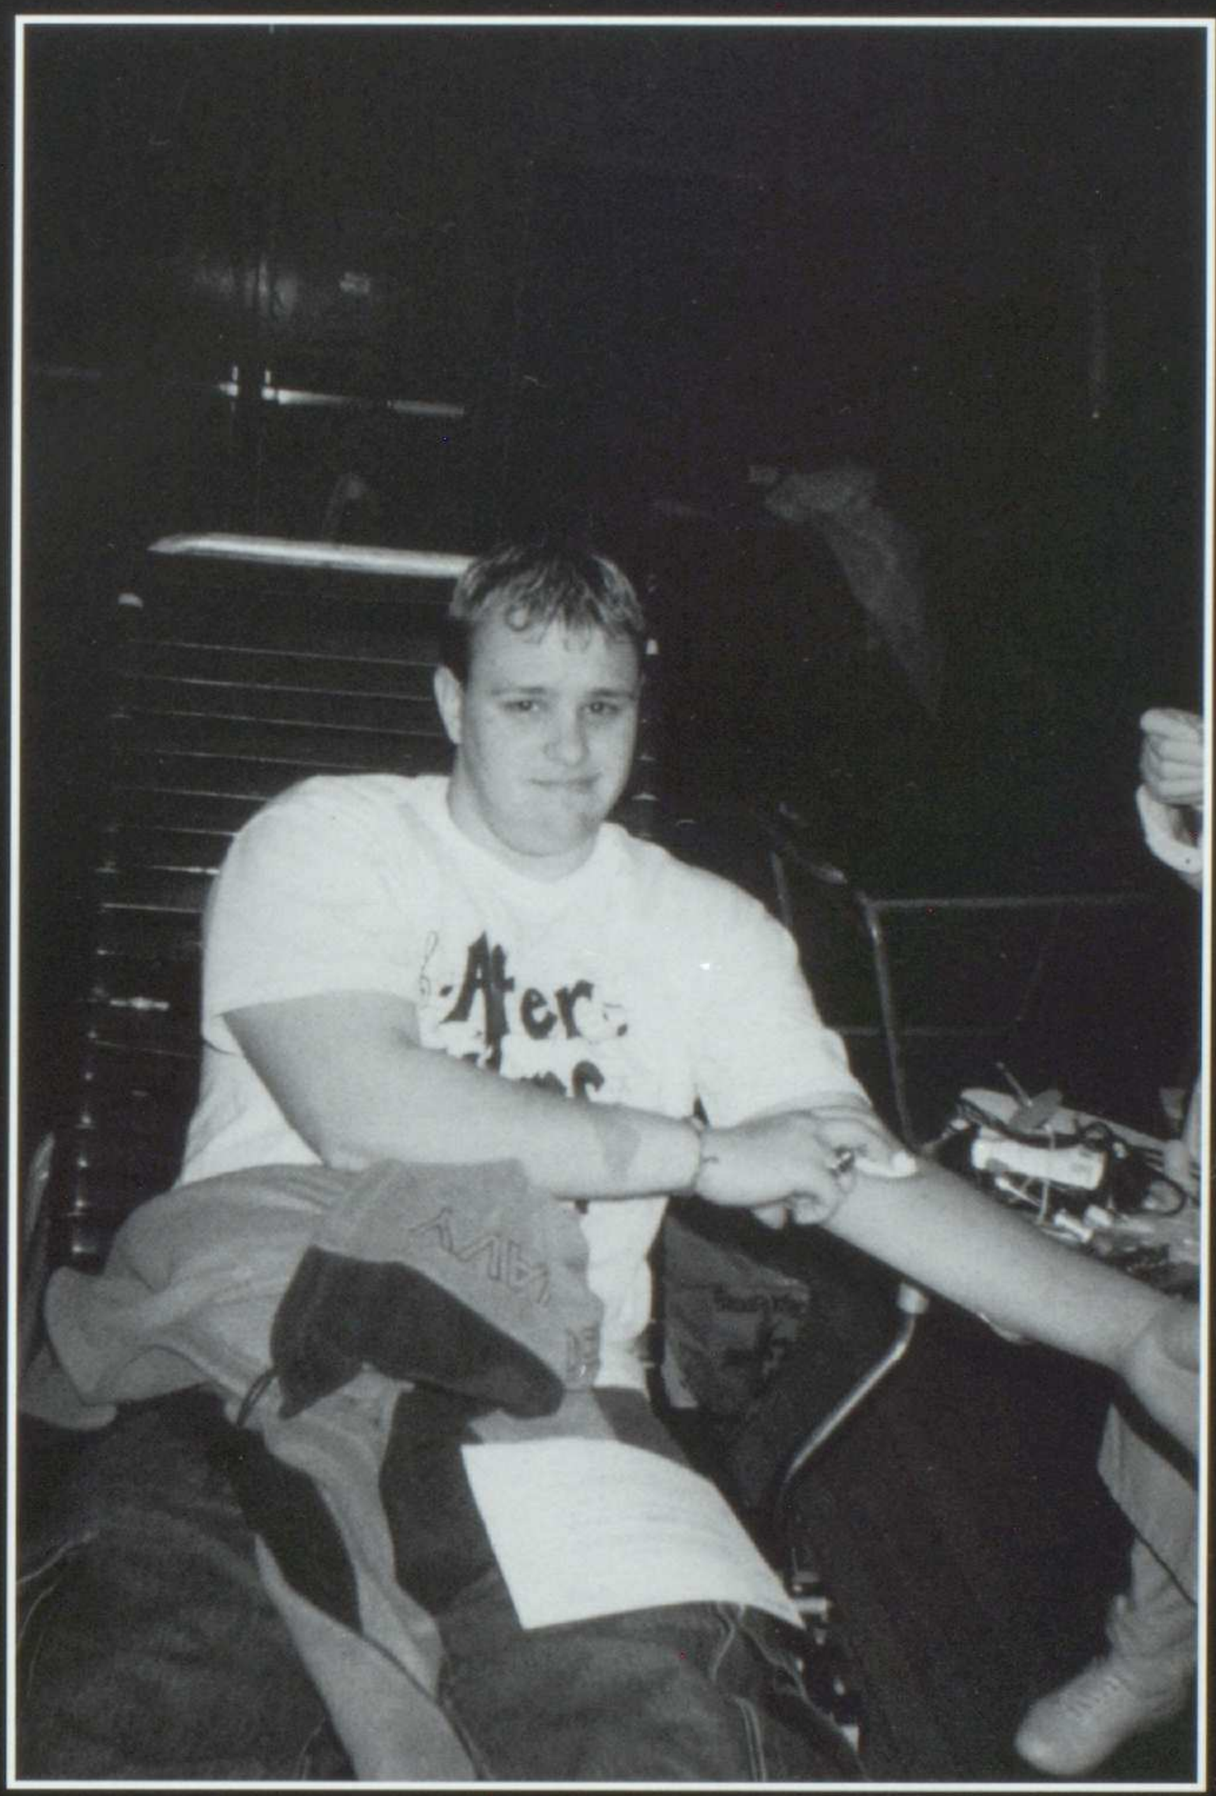
Mrs. Graves congratulates her graduating daughter Amanda by giving her a wet, sloppy kiss on the cheek. "Mom!" says Amanda, "You're going to embarrass me!" Some students who have a "teaching" parent at the same school they attend may find it both troublesome and beneficial. Despite this, graduating from high school must be a lot harder for those students who will be leaving not only the building but also a family member.



Happy to be receiving his diploma is Mark Dipiero. Don't be in too much of a hurry to get off of the stage, though! This day will be one to remember forever.



Beginning to look a little bit queasy after donating blood is senior Brian Bowers. Are you sure they took only one unit?



Gratefully accepting a certificate from Dr. Lindsay at the Celebration of Excellence is senior Holly Brown. The ceremony honored the graduates' academic, performing, and athletic accomplishments.

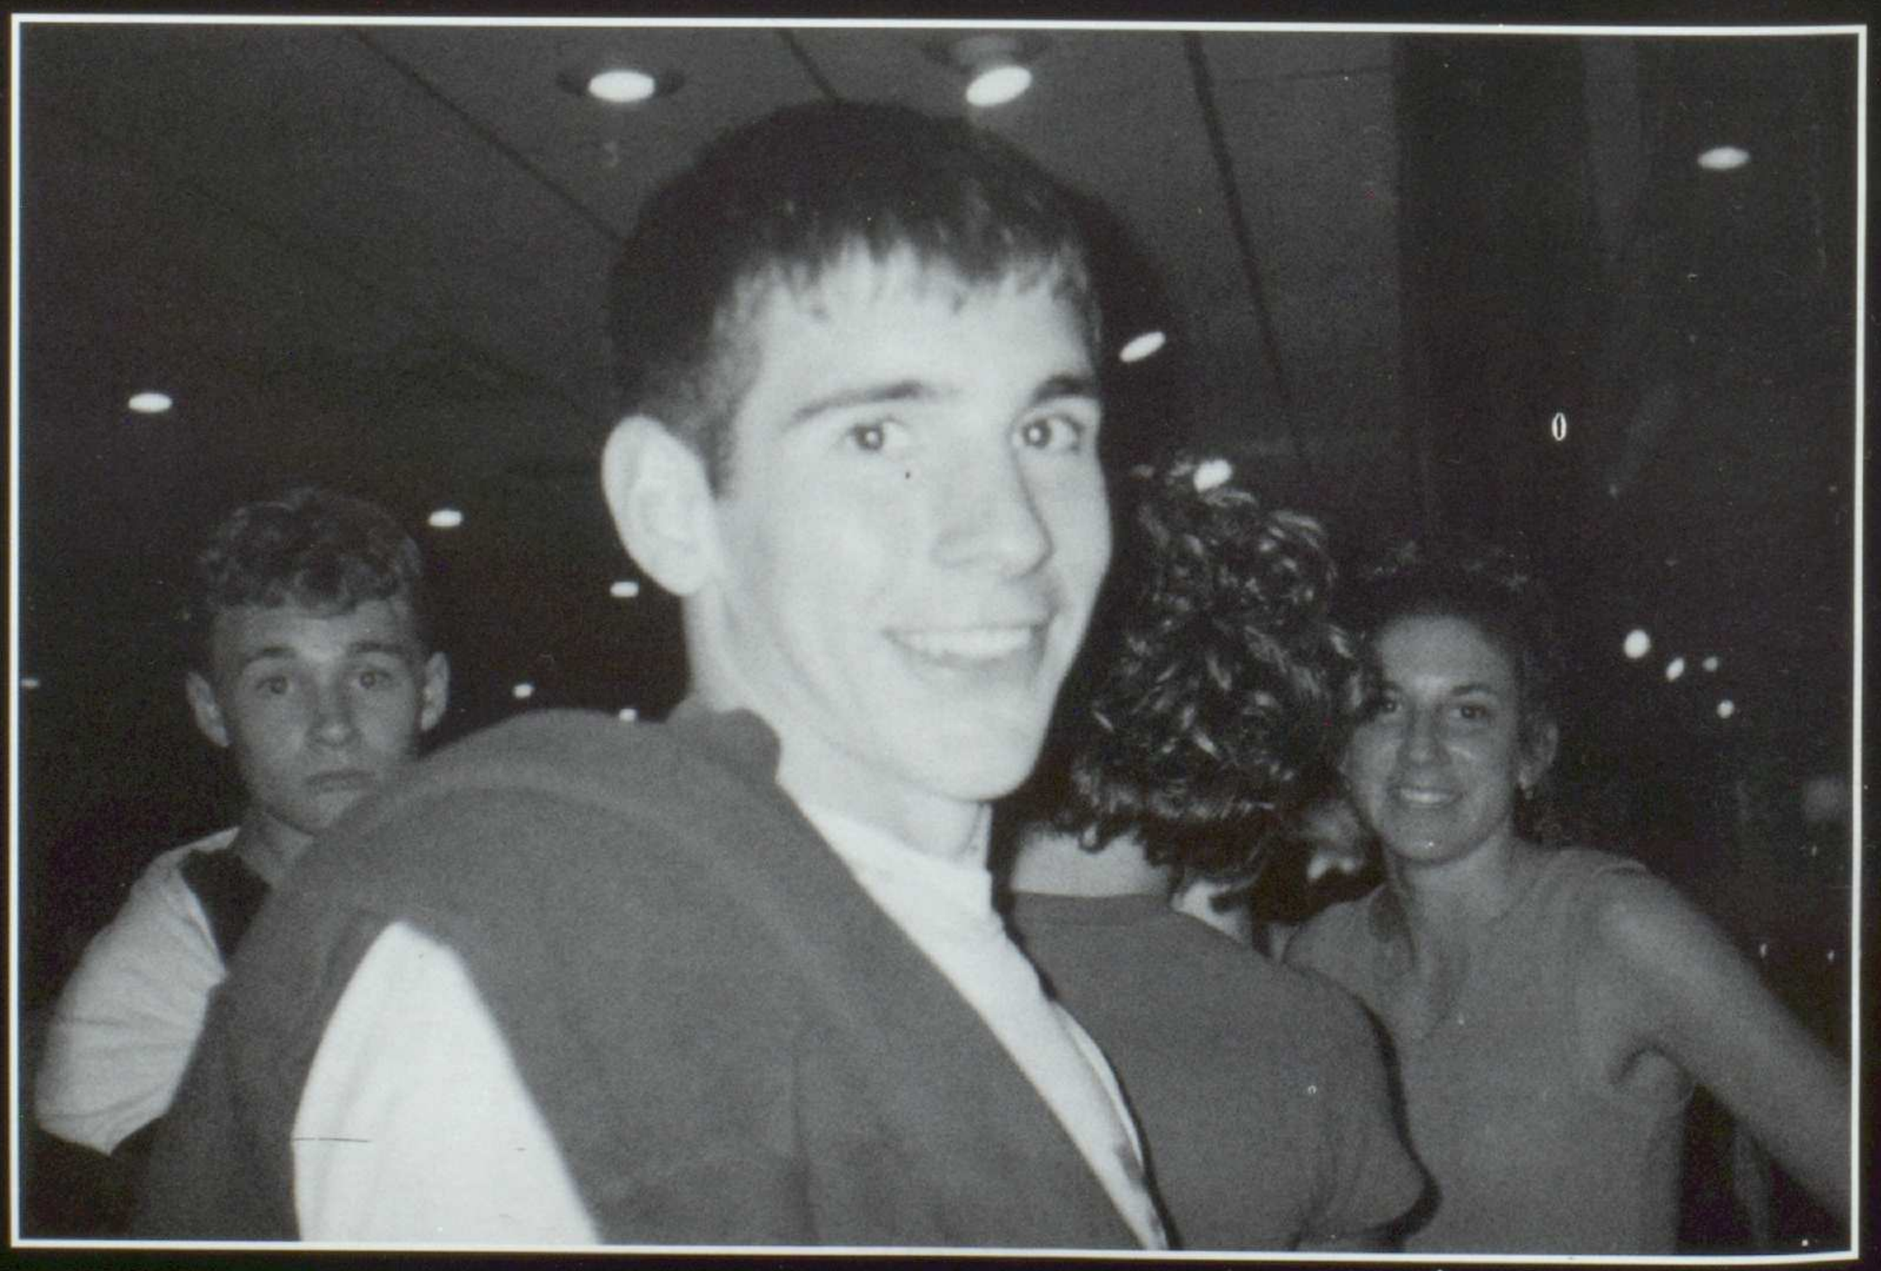
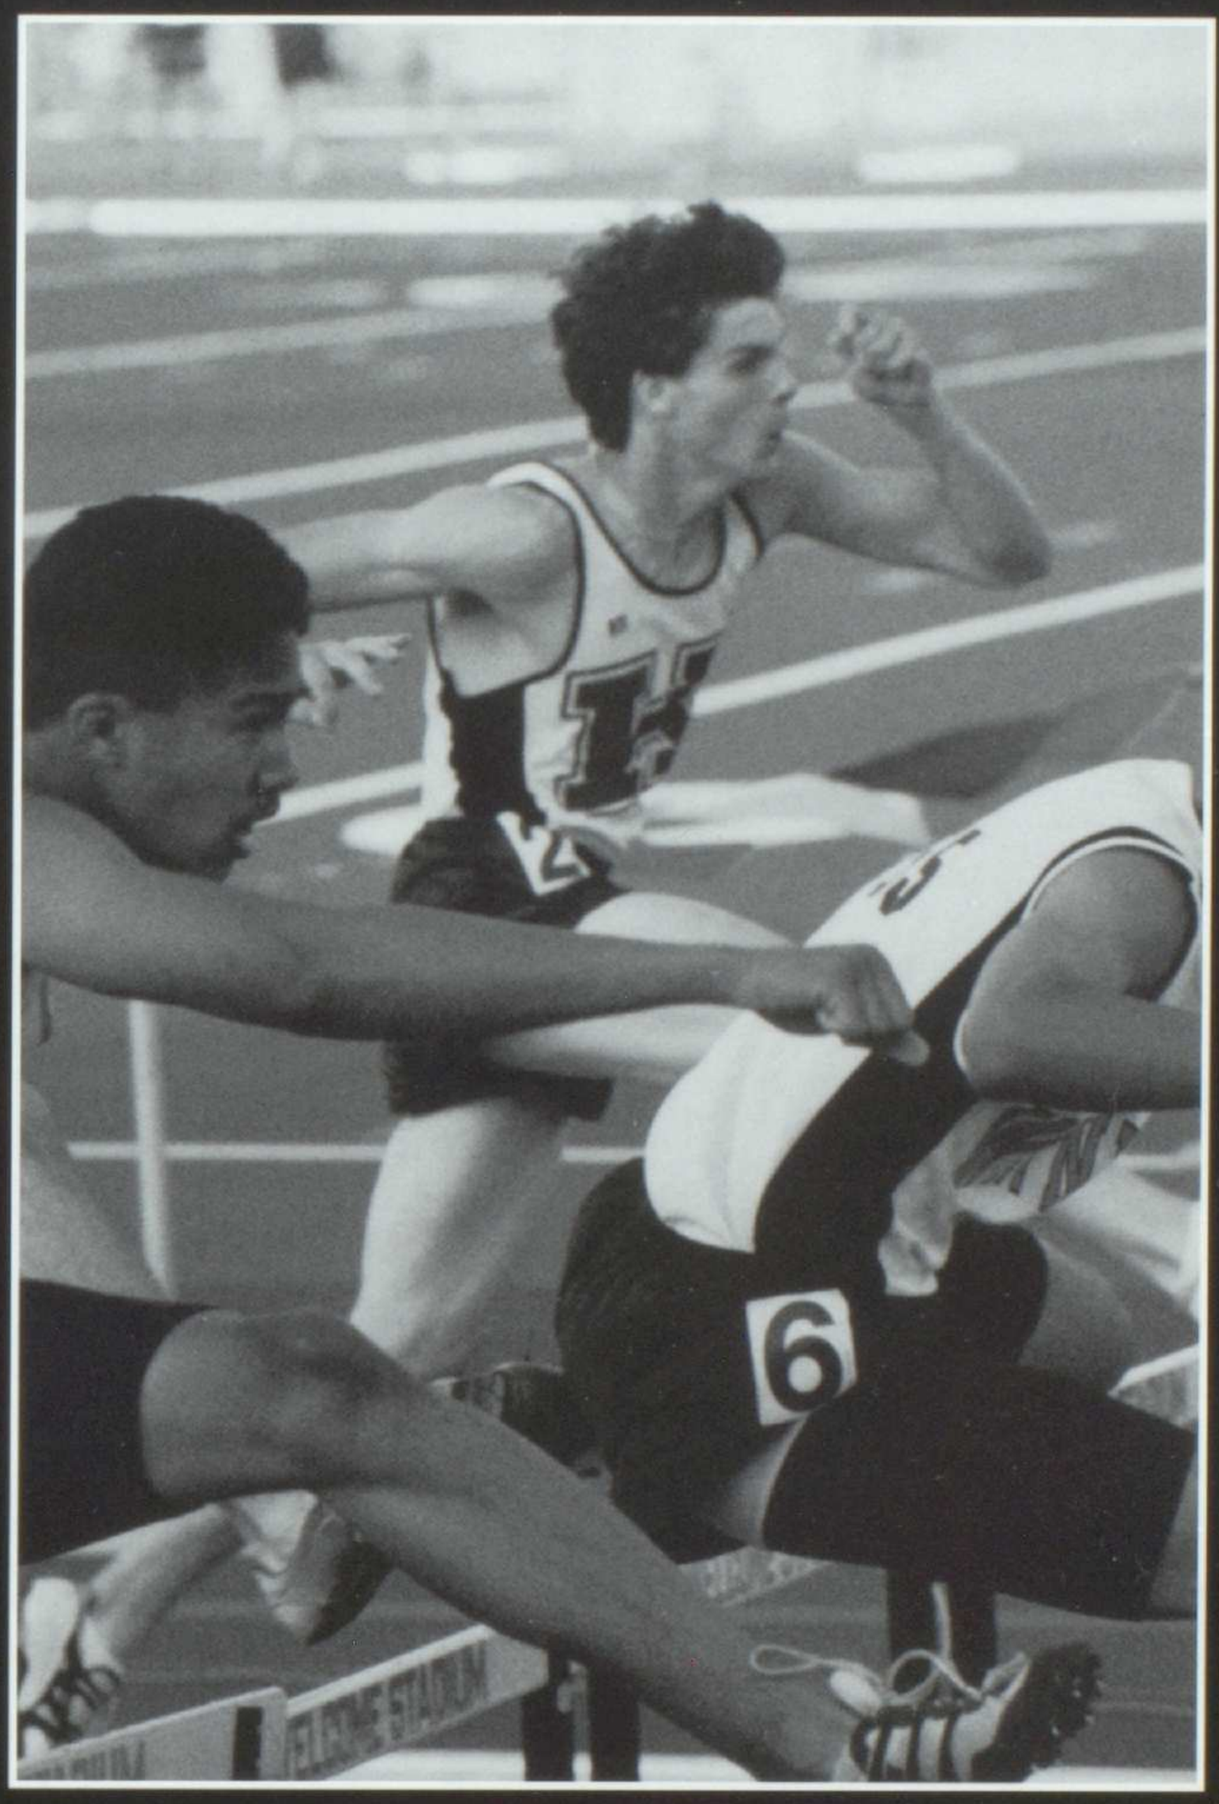
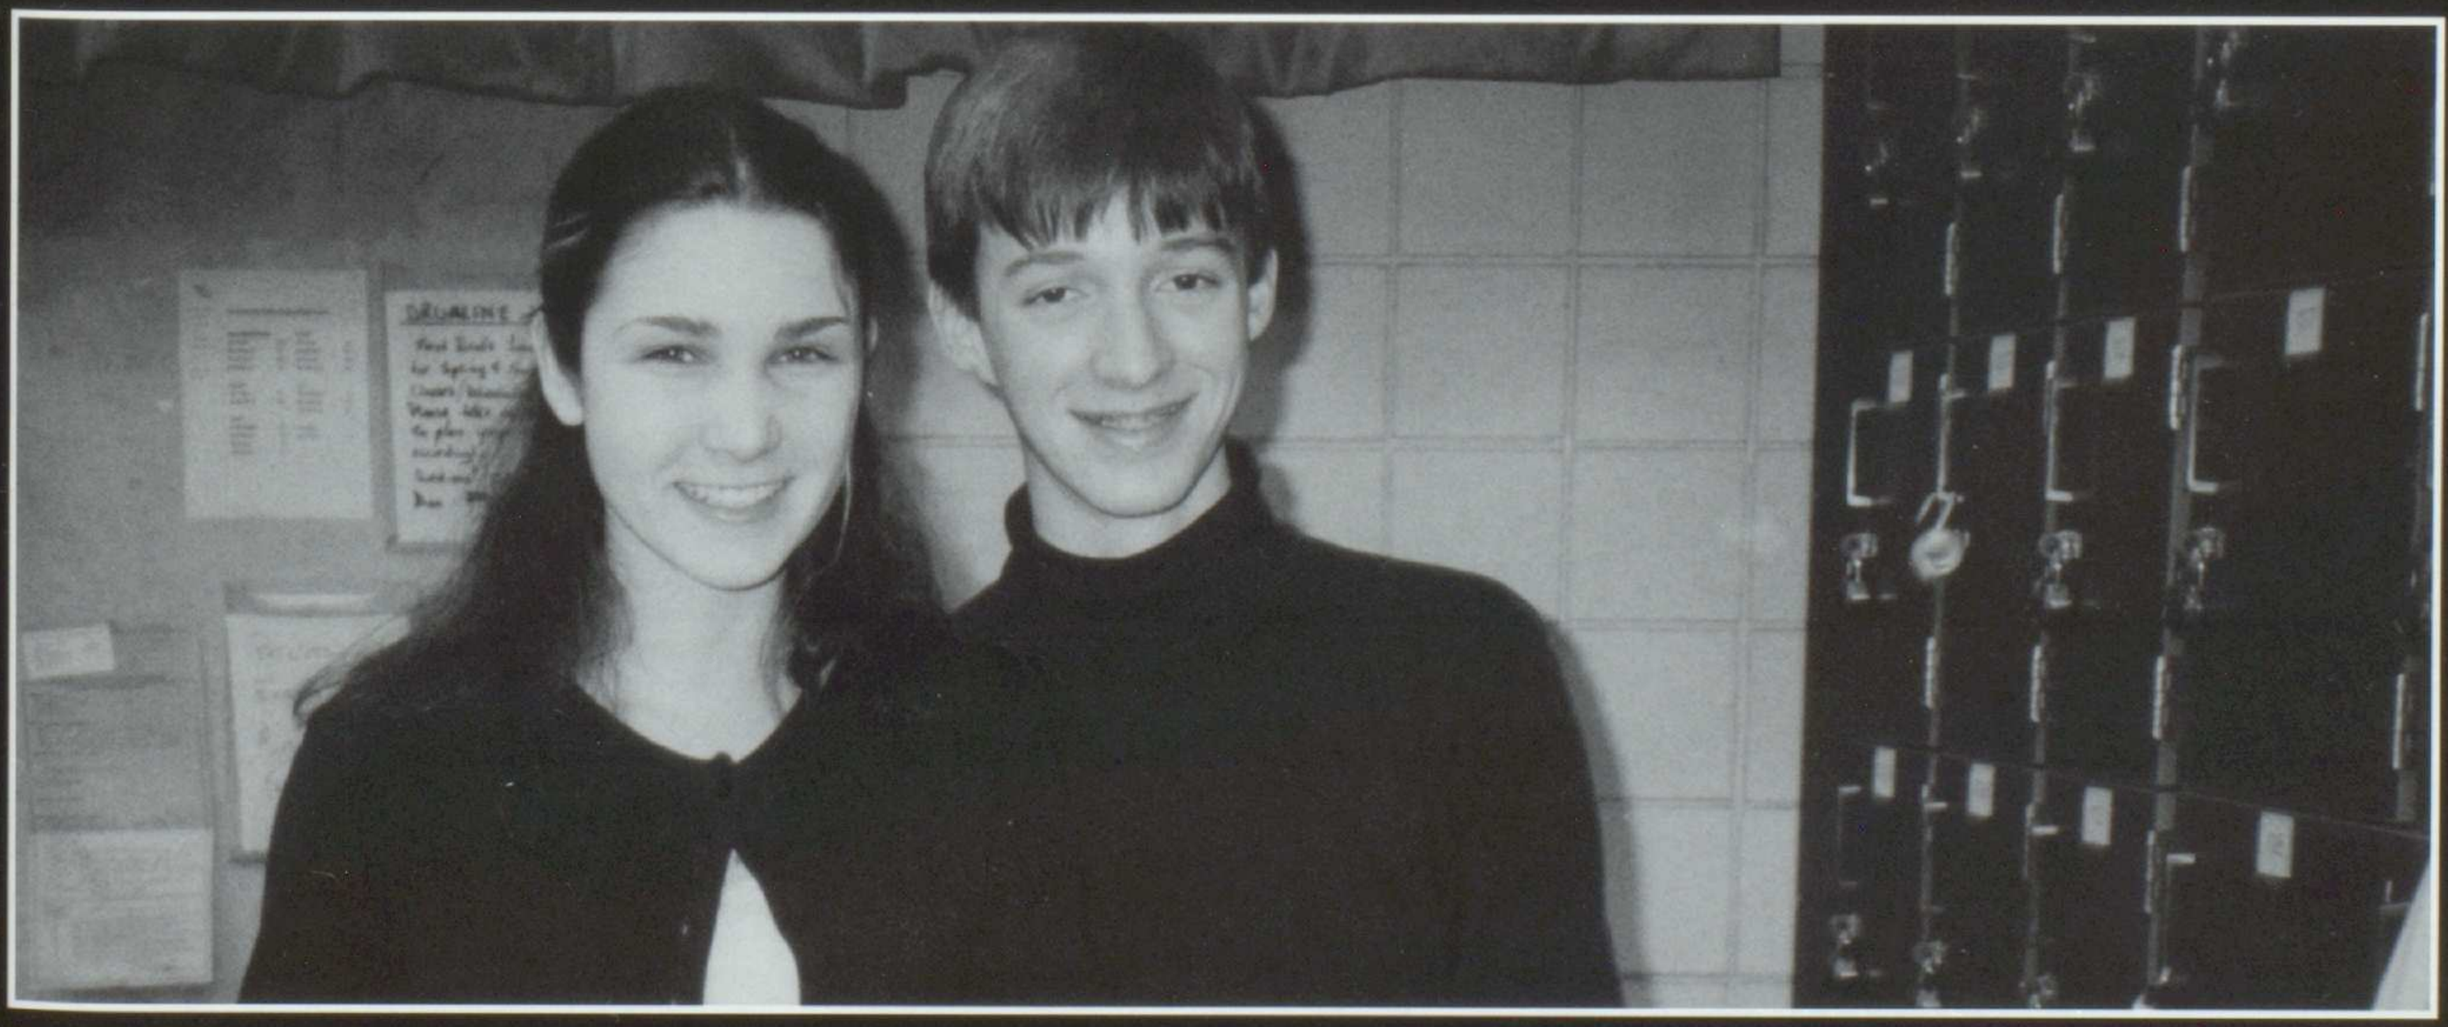
Attending After Hours 2000, junior Ben Potter receives some confused looks from classmates Colin Armstrong and Amy Zink. The after-prom party was held at Sawmill Athletic Club this year where juniors, seniors, and a few lucky underclassmen could spend the rest of their night having a blast! "I never got bored. There was always something to do!" declared Ben Potter, obviously excited about the eventful night.



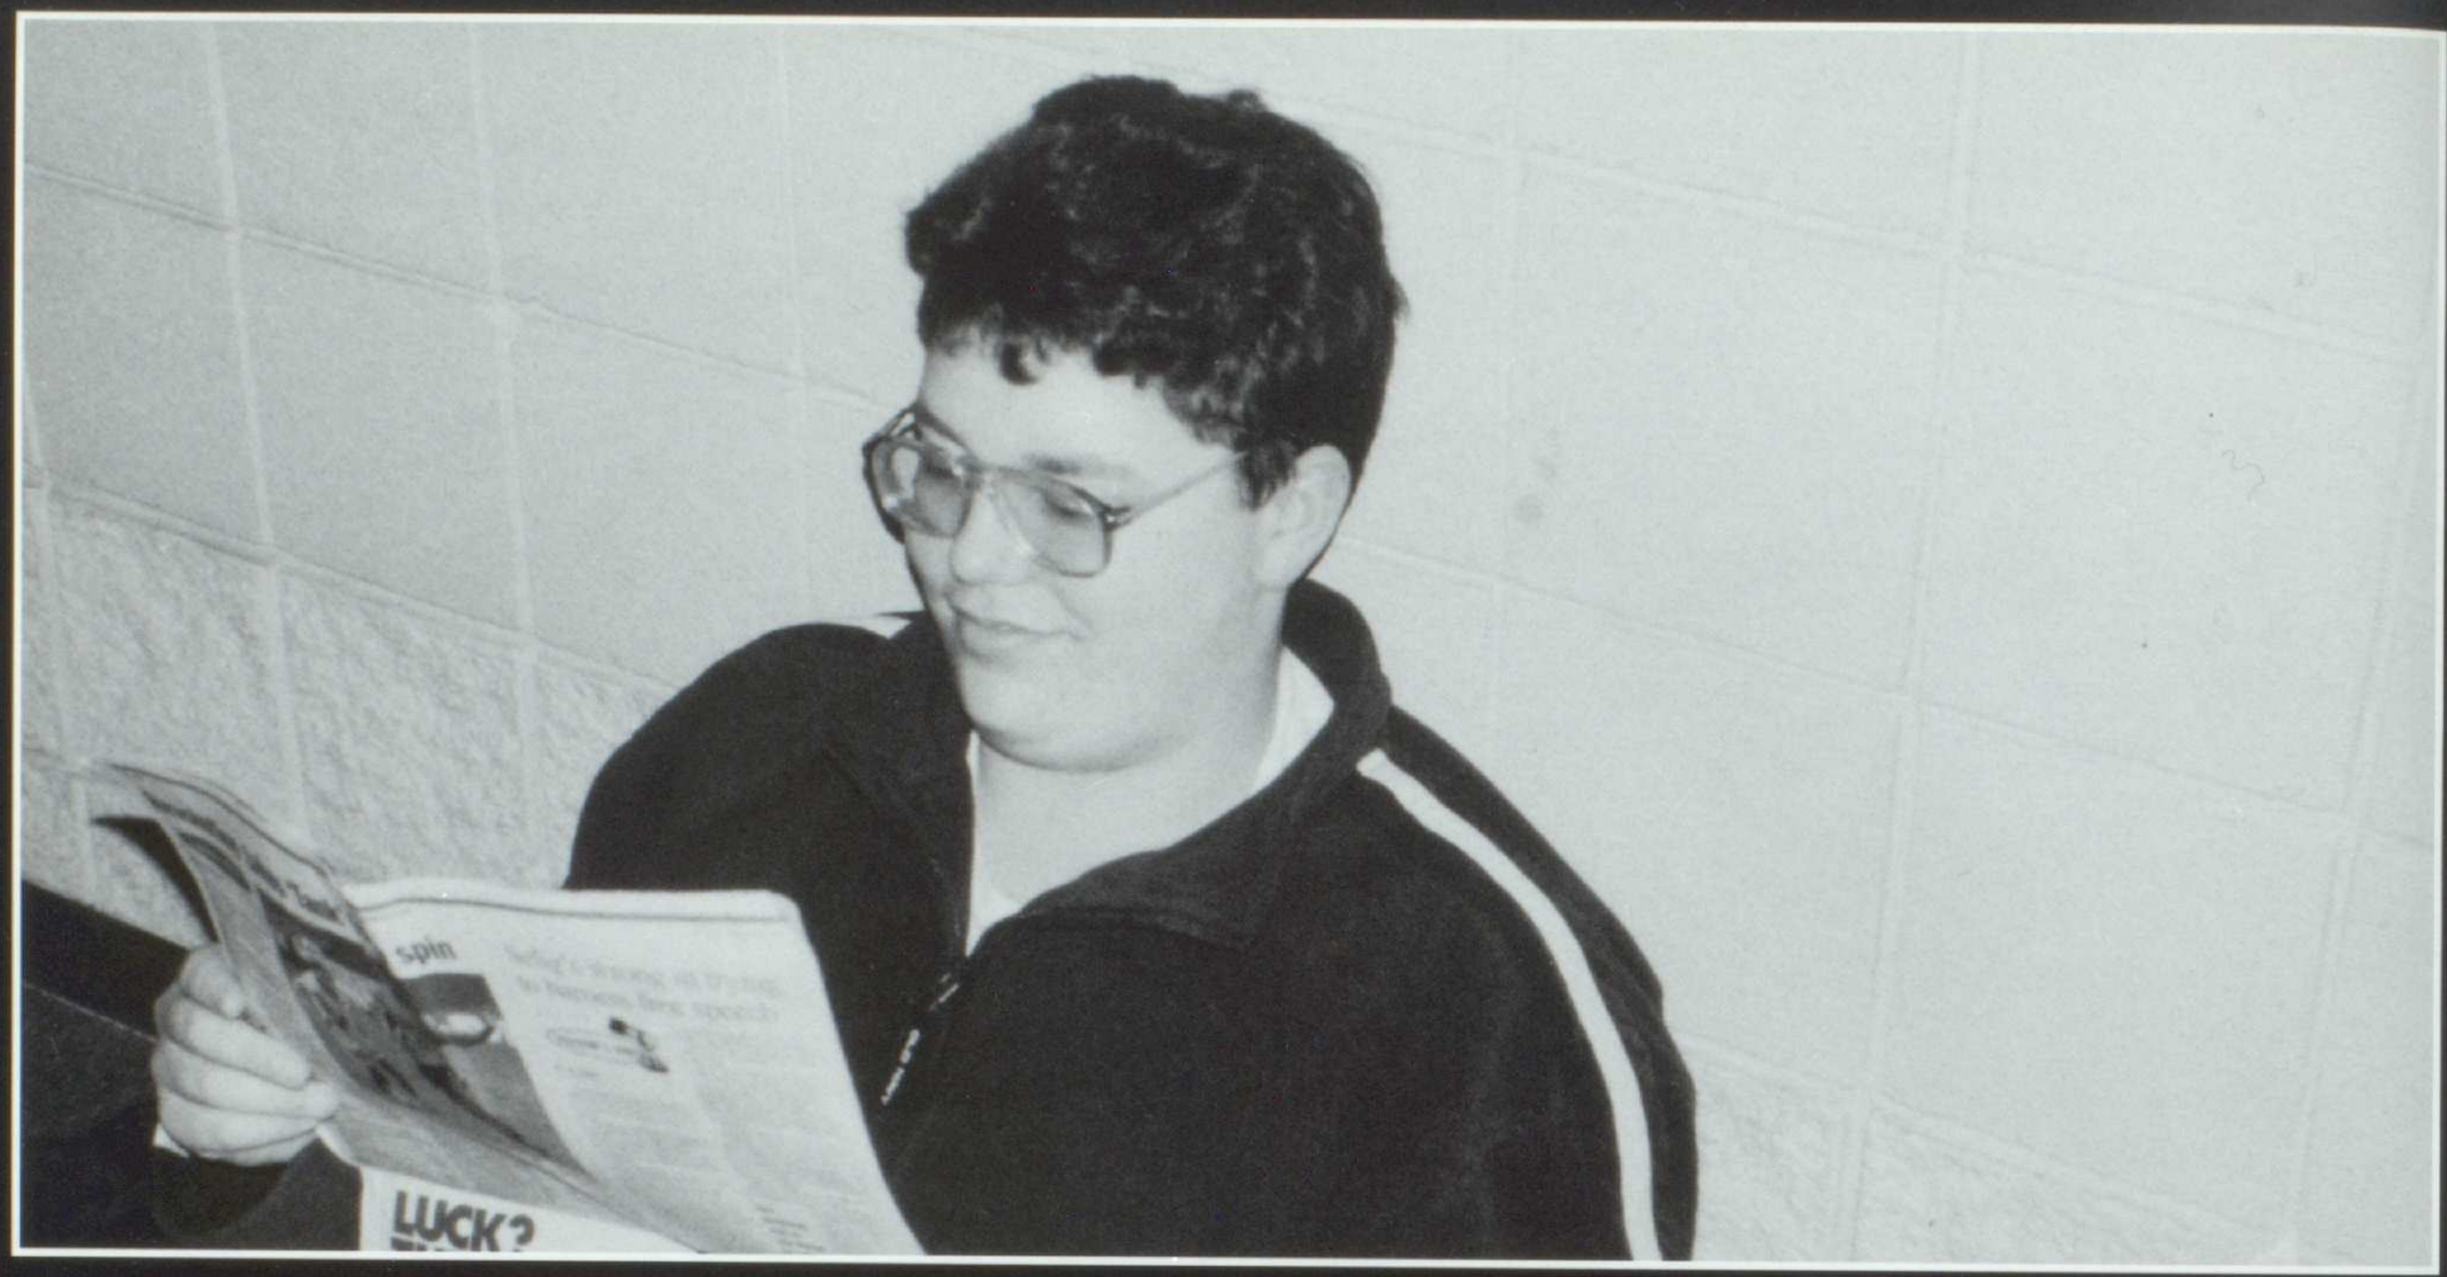
For sophomore Lindsey Dowler, it's never too cold outside to sport her stylish shades!

Flawlessly leaping over the hurdles at the state track meet is junior Robby Roualt. Look at him soar!

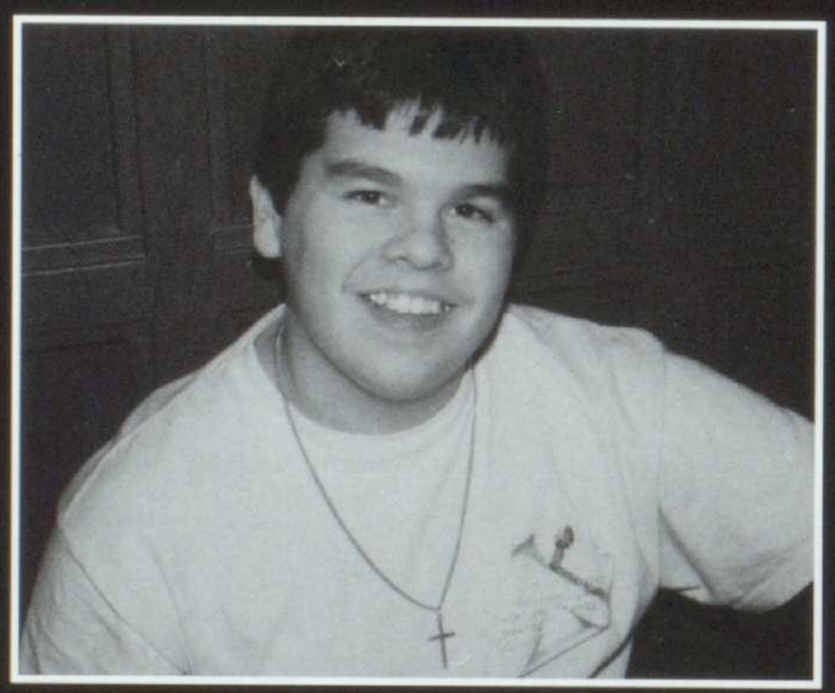




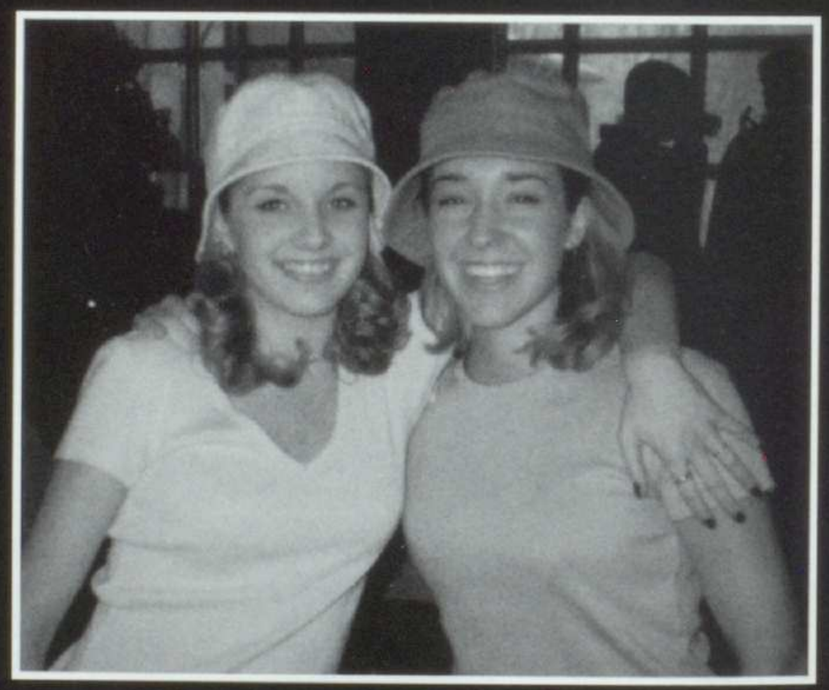
Working backstage in theater productions enriches relationships between students, such as that of sophomores Hillary Nelson and Tyler Seiple.



Looking highly intellectual, senior Michael Golovin browses over the daily paper, or is that the comic section?



Eric Robertson sure is all smiles about summer! Obviously, this sophomore has some good plans to look forward to.



It's amazing how happy these two girls look. It's probably because they aren't in class. Jackie Garrett (left) and Alyssa Franks are enjoying their free time, but aren't those hats against the rules?

Hand in hand, (left to right) Meghan Maynard, Ronald Carter, Joey Blake, and Megan Hill listen attentively to the powerful message of peace at the peace ceremony. Two men playing bagpipes walked the hallways in the school gathering "peaceful" students and leading them outside to the front lawn. Many students participated in the event and showed their support for peace.

Dr. Lindsay holds the mircophone as Colleen Leahy gives an emotional speech that reflects her thoughts on peace.

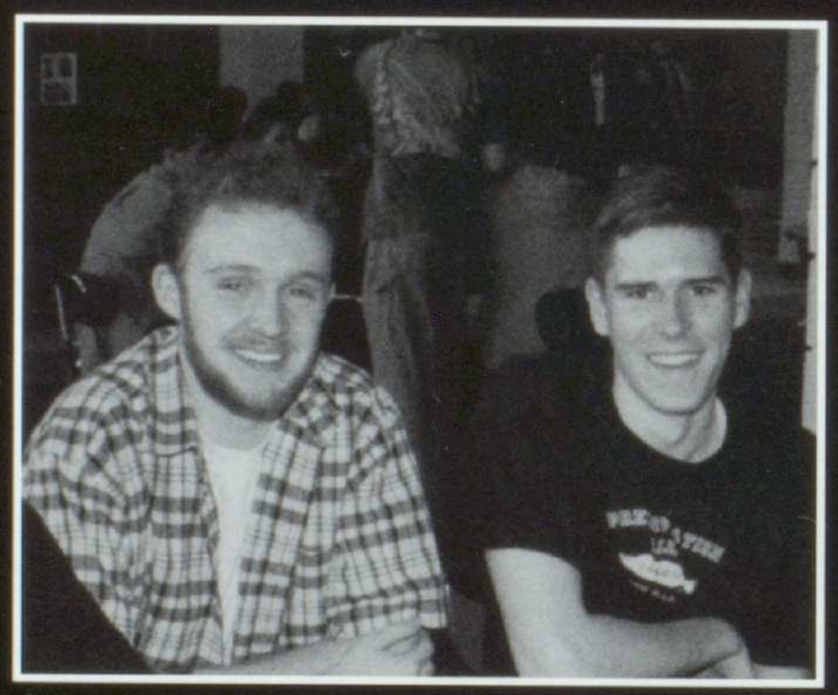
Demonstrating her good heart and bravery, junior Natalie Blake prepares to donate blood.



"We stuck together and finally made it through high school," say friends Scott Robinson and Michael Trinity.

"I love our school," says sophomore Stephanie Barton. "Just being here makes me want to smile!"

Can you figure out who these messy girls are? You can tell that they had as much fun as ever at the seniors' annual shaving cream fight.
